Negro Rebellion May Be Realized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission said Saturday that many Negroes may "come to support not only riots, but . . rebellion" unless multibillion-dollar measures are taken quickly to heal racial bitterness and riot ravages in city slums.

The National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, named to investigate last year's street riots, issued its full 200,000-word report to President Johnson. In harsh, vivid detail it etched the horrors of 1967's long hot summer. And it prescribed immediate homefront remedial programs costing perhaps as much as the Vietnam war.

Like the 12,000-word summary released on Thursday, the report offered little advice to openly dubious members of Congress on how to meet the costs—except to suggest higher taxes.

Besides the enormously increased outlays proposed for welfare, education, housing and job training it had already disclosed, the 11pmember bipartisan commission submitted plans for:

1. A new boost in the federal minimum wage, which rose to $1.60 an hour only last month.

2. Broadening the seven per cent investment credit to give firms a tax inducement to locate new plants in slums and train slum workers.

3. Starting a system of government income supplements—to provide a "minimum standard of decent living" for any employed or jobless person existing on substandard income.

"A broad system of supplementation would involve substantially greater federal expenditures than anything now contemplated in this country," said the body headed by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois.

The financing problems are grave, the commission conceded, "but we do not consider them insoluble." And the grim consequences of doing nothing more than at present cannot be accepted, it said.

Existing measures have been proved largely inadequate, the report said, and a national decision to stand pat on them will bring "a seriously greater probability of major disorders, worse, possibly, than those already experienced."

"If the Negro population as a whole developed even stronger feelings of being wrongly penned in and discriminated against," it said, "many of its members might come to support not only riots but the rebellion now being preached by only a handful.

"If large-scale violence resulted, white retaliation would follow.

"This spiral could quite conceivably lead to a kind of urban apartheid with semimartial law in many major cities, enforced residence of Negroes in segregated areas, and a drastic reduction in personal freedom for all Americans, particularly Negroes."

Estimating the cost at hundreds of billions of dollars, Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations committee, called the proposals "wholly unrealistic."

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., called the report's findings "Propaganda and nauseam."

Some Congress members—especially Southerners—quarreled with the commission's finding that the nation is moving toward two hostile racial camps. A "huge reservoir of good will exists among the races," said Mahon.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said that the report "gives the demagogues a chance to take the state" at a time when civil rights legislation is pending and a civil rights march on Washington is planned.

A Vermonter, Republican Sen. George D. Aiken, was sympathetic with report but pessimistic about its prospects. "If we can't get a civil rights bill through, the chances of anything stronger are slim," he siad.

Negro leaders generally acclaimed the findings, as disclosed in the summary report. But even the commission's members conceded there was no chance at all that the proposals could be enacted.

Need To Prepare ARVN

SAIGON (AP) — A high American military source says it is now urgently necessary to begin preparing the South Vietnamese army to fight its own war.

This idea has been put forward in the past, with little visible results, but this time it is proposed against the background of the shock produced here by the Communist Tet—lunar new year —offensive.

The United States, the informant said in an interview, will never be able to walk out of this country unless and until the ARVN—Army of the Republic of Vietnam—is strong enough to defend it.

"Let's get them into a battle and tell them to run it, that it's their battle and that they'll have strong support from us," he said.

For much of the time since the U.S. buildup started in the crisis of 1965, Americans have been doing the bulk of the fighting. Battalions of Vietnamese troops have been assigned the job of pacification and protection of areas in which the Americans were trying to start the job of nation-building. The ARVN record in this has been spotty.

As for fighting, the South Viet-

To 'Go For Broke' On A Rights Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — All senators were urged Saturday to be on hand Monday for a "go-for-broke" showdown on a compromise civil rights protection and open housing bill.

The Senate will vote then for a fourth time on whether to close out a debate that is in its seventh week.

A third attempt Friday to put the cloture rule into effect and force action on the bill fell four votes short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., was asked by newsmen if he would move to put the measure aside if the Senate again refuses to cut off the debate.

"I have an idea this is the go-for-broke vote on cloture," he replied.

He said he knows of no other legislation on which four cloture votes have been taken.

Mansfield said he would expect every senator, except for John O. Pastore, D-R.I., to be on hand for Monday's vote. Pastore is recovering from a heart attack.

The vote Friday for cutting off the debate was 59 to 35. Although six Democratic senators were not recorded, they made their positions known and the count would still have been four shot of a two-thirds majority if they had voted.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., D-N.C., a leader of the southern senators fighting the bill, told reporters, "I can't conceive how any senator who has voted against cloture three times can switch around now."

But leaders of a bipartisan civil rights bloc who worked out the compromise with Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois maintained they still hope to pick up four votes. Mansfield reported he knows of no switches in position.

As the compromise was introduced Wednesday, its open housing section would become fully effective on Jan. 1, 1970 and cover nearly 70 per cent of the nation's housing units.

The next day, however, Dirksen surprised liberals who had worked with him in hammering out the compromise by modifying its coverage and enforcement sections.

The principal modification would exempt single-family, owner-occupied homes financed with FHA and VA mortgage guarantees.

Dirksen's son-in-law, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., has offered an amendment that would exempt all individual home owners from the proposed ban on discrimination in the sale or rental of their property.

Enlistee Was Brave, Still Couldn't Join

The Air Force Recruiting Office at 507 South Ohio turned down an enlistee Saturday morning. And he probably could have passed the physical too. But it seems that Richard Paul Langley, age 9, 650 West Seventh, was a little too young.

He walked into the office and told Sgt. Billy Keele, local recruiting officer, that he was ready to join and wanted to be a B-52 pilot. His bravery was displayed when he told Sgt. Keele that if his plane was shot he would not turn back but continue on to the target.

Sgt. Keele told him to stay in school and return later. Perhaps in 10 or 15 years.

Auto Workers Threaten To Break With AFL-CIO

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Saturday threatened to pull out of the AFL-CIO unless a special convention is called to discuss "internal democratic reform, modernization and revitalization" of the 14-million-member labor federation.

In a telegram to George Meany, the 73-year-old chief of the AFL-CIO, the union asked for a special meeting this December.

"Should the UAW be denied this opportunity to present its program to a special convention," said the telegram signed by Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, and three other top union officers, "it will have no acceptable alternative but to disaffiliate."

With 1.5 million members, the UAW is the nation's second largest union and the largest in the AFL-CIO. Should Reuther lead his men out of the AFL-CIO, it would be the biggest schism in organized labor since the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the nation's largest union, with 1.8 million members, was expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957.

The Teamsters were thrown out for corrupt practices. A walkout by the UAW, however, would open again the often bitter split between industrial unionists (Reuther) and trade unionists (Meany) that dates back to the Thirties.

The gap between Reuther and Meany has been widening over the past year. The auto union president has described Meany's leadership of the AFL-CIO as "undemocratic," "complacent," "vegetating," and "stagnant."

A special UAW convention gave its executive board authority last April to withdraw the membership from the AFL-CIO unless Reuther's demands for reform and what he termed "revitalization" of the federation were met.

Reuther, whose union officers have been active in organizing migrant farm workers in the Southwest, has called specifically for a massive drive to bring more workers into the ranks of organized labor.

Saturday's telegram to Meany said the auto union asked for a convention in December rather than earlier because it will be engaged shortly in negotiations in the aerospace industry "plus the fact that th 1968 election is

Halfway House For Women Opens Soon

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The nation's first halfway house for women — an institution intended to help women make the transition from prison to society and normal lives — will open in St. Louis April 1.

Magdala House will be similar to Dismas House, a halfway house for men founded in St. Louis in 1959 by the late Father Charles Dismas Clark.

Dismas House is thought to have been the first institution of its type. Since its founding, about 65 others have sprung up across the nation.

Magdala House is the brainchild of a housewife, Mrs. Thohas C. Coughlin Jr. She has done volunteer work with the Magdala Foundation for the plast two years helping women released from prison to mend their lives.

But Mrs. Coughlin says that despite the aid given women prisoners, "I began to see that as they went back to the home in the community it was just a matter of time before they were back in prison again.

Mrs. Coughlin said getting out of prison is a far different experience for women than for men.

"They have no clothes, no money, no job; they have absolutely nothing."

Magdala House will serve as a sort of "airlock" between prison bars and the outside world, giving woman a chance to adjust to the change, Mrs. Couglin said.

They will be given housing, clothing and jobs and will have an opportunity to take rehabilitation and training courses.

Miss Alice McMillan, who spent 22 years as a prison matron in Illinois, will be the resident adviser.

Major Cities Could Be Half-Negro Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A continuation of recent trends would cause 13 major U.S. cities to become more than 50 per cent Negro by 1984, the President's Commission on Civil Disorders said Saturday.

Washington, D. C., and Newark, N. J., already are overhalf Negro, it said. The others and the dates of probable Negro majorities were listed as:

New Orleans and Richmond, Va., by 1971; Baltimore, Md., and Jacksonville, Fla., by 1972; Gary, Ind., by 1973; Cleveland, 1975; St. Louis, 1978; Detroit, 1979; Philadelphia, 1981; Oakland, Calif., 1983, and Chicago, 1984.

Jim Craig

Humorist To Speak At Banquet

Jim Craig, Springfield, Mo., the Midwest's newest, rapidly rising humorous speaker, has been secured for the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet which will be held at Smith-Cotton Cafeteria on Thursday, March 14. Matching humor and wit with warmth and inspiration Craig has established a reputation as a real entertainer as well as leaving with his listeners a desire for greater unity in the community for progress and responsibility.

A graduate of Southwest Missouri State College, and a past president of Southwest Missouri State College, and a past president of Southwest State College Alumni Association, Craig is a former executive secretary of the Retail Merchants Association of Springfield. He is on the executive board of directors of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America, chairman of the board of the Credit Bureau of Springfield, an adult education instructor at Drury College; president of the Ozark Council, Boy Scouts of America, Springfield's Man of the Year in 1954 and has twice declined the nomination to Congress.

Constitutional Amendment On Bond Voting Proposed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Generally, Missouri cities have to show a dollars and cents reason for bond issues to assure their passage.

Revenue bonds, which are no obligation of the city or its taxpayers, but are paid off with direct income, seldom have any trouble getting the two-thirds approval required.

But general obligation bonds are another thing. They are an obligation of the governmental subdivision issuing them. And if the voters agree their need has been proved beyond most doubt.

Later this year, either at the August primary or the November general election, Missouri's voters will decide whether the constitution should be changed to lower the necessary voter approval of bond issues.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has said he will not set the proposed constitutional amendment for a special election unless the need is great. And he has not yet decided which regular election to use for a voter test of the constitutional change.

Now either general obligation or revenue bond issues require an approval of at least two-thirds of the voters who go to the polls.

Under the proposed change general obligation bonds would require 60 per cent voter approval and revenue bonds only a simple majority of more than 50 per cent.

But whether it wins or loses the industrial development programs of Missouri communities will be affected hardly at all.

Raymond V. Jeffrey, director of industry affairs for the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, said there hasn't been a case in the last six years in which industrial development bonds, either revenue or general obligation, have been rejected by the voters.

In one case, Jeffrey recalled, the voters approved a bond issue but before the plant was occupied the company for which

Pound Enemy Near Khe Sanh

SAIGON (AP) — Fighter-bombers from the U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps joined massive B52 Stratofortresses Saturday in pounding North Vietnamese concentrations ringing the Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

The high-flying B52s after serving for the first time in upclose, direct support of embattled South Vietnamese Rangers at Khe Sanh, dumped 750 tons of explosives near the perimeter Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

One of the strikes, staged from altitudes of 20,000 to 30,000 feet, was close enough to jar the Marine sandbag bunkers. Normally the B52 drops, referred to as "arc lights," are a mile or more away and are felt in allied positions only as a faint rumble.

Added to some 30 B52 runs, fighter-bombers from all three services launched 187 missions Friday in support of the 5,000 Marines and 500 government rangers at Khe Sanh.

Some of the missions were run by Navy pilots from the carrier Enterprise, who were diverted to the critical sector in the northwest corner of South Vietnam from strikes over North Vietnam because of monsoon storms over the North.

Near the other end of the frontier sector below the demilitarized zone, Marines found the bodies of 45 more Communist troops Saturday during a sweep of Mai Xa Thai village, four miles northeast of Dong Ha. The Marines had reported killing 36 Communists during a day-long battle at the village Friday.

The Marines suffered sharp losses themselves in the savage fighting: 22 killed and 87 wounded.

The newly found bodies raised to 375 the number of Communist troops the Marines and South Vietnamese troops claimed killing in a series of fights near the DMZ.

U.S. Navy A6 Intruders from the Enterprise made three major strikes over North Vietnam Friday as missions were held to 69 by monsoon weather.

Radio Hanoi, mum on damage to Communist military targets, said American raids killed 29 persons and wounded 11 in Hanoi suburbs Wednesday.

Another broadcast declared the Viet Cong will take reprisals against American prisoners if "patriots" held by the South Vietnamese are executed.

A 230-truck convoy arrived in Hue Saturday with nearly 2 million pounds of food and relief supplies, including the first for civilians since the fighting erupted there. Marines and South Vietnamese troops cleared out the last of the Communist pockets last week.

The convoy, under armed guard, made the 51-mile trip up Highway 1 from Da Nang without incident.

The Saigon newspaper Tien Tuyen, known as the voice of the South Vietnamese army, called for increased bombing and an invasion of North Vietnam.

Tien Tuyen did not touch on two salient points—the probability that any land invasion would have to involve American troops and a belief of various diplomats that an invasion would mean direct intervention by Red China.

South Vietnam's Senate, scheduled to discuss Saturday President Nguyen Van Thieu's request for special economic and financial powers in the face of the Communist offensive, postponed the matter until at least Monday.

Teacher Crisis Continues

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida's school crisis moved into its third week Saturday, on a no-compromise track that could lead to a long and disastrous stalemate.

Efforts to settle the walkout of more than one-third of the state's 58,000 teachers had collapsed. No new negotiations were in progress. The Florida Education Association said teachers were prepared, if necessary, to stay out "until hell freezes over."

On the desk of Republican Gov. Claude Kirk, unsigned, lay a $329 million education-tax package the Legislature adopted Feb. 16 in a vain effort to stave off the walkout. Kirk has until next Thursday to sign, veto or let it become law without his signature.

At first, Kirk said he would let the bill become law. Then, when the State Cabinet tried to negotiate a settlement with the Florida Education Association, he repived his threat of a veto.

He called the Cabinet-FEA agreement, which blew up Friday when two Cabinet members shied away from it, a "complete sell-out" to the teachers and said he would now take another look at the education bill.

Escalation of War on Rural Poverty Urged in Report to Appalachia Group

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Dr. C. E. Bishop, vice president of the University of North Carolina, and the executive director of former Kentucky Governor Edward T. Breathitt's Presidential Commission on Rural Poverty, recently reported to the Regional Commission on Appalachia.

Dr. Bishop said we are simply "gilding the ghettoes" in this country, which are being increased by immigrants from rural areas, but there are still 14 million impoverished people in America, most of whom are white, and not all of them are in Eastern Kentucky. Rural poverty in the United States has no geographic boundaries although it is more acute in the South, he said.

The Commission has endeavored to chart a course to wipe out rural poverty with the following recommendations:

1. The United States should adopt and put into effect immediately a national policy designed to give the residents of rural America equality of opportunity with all other citizens. This must include equal access to jobs, medical care, housing, education, welfare, and all other public services, without regard to race, religion, or place of residence.

2. As a matter of urgency, the national policy of full employment inaugurated in 1946 should be made effective. To the extent that private enterprise does not provide sufficient employment for all those willing and able to work, the Commission believes it is the obligation of government to provide it.

3. The Commission believes that the United States has the resources and the technical means to assure every person in the United States adequate food, shelter, clothing, medical care, and education and, accordingly, recommends action toward this end. In some rural areas of the United States there is not only malnutrition but hunger. The Commission recommends that the food stamp program be expanded nationwide and that eligibility be based upon per capita income. Food stamps should be given to the poorest of the poor without cost.

4. There should be a thorough overhaul of our manpower policies and programs, particularly including public employment services, in order to deal effectively with rural unemployment and underemployment.

5. Extensive changes should be made in our rural education system, ranging from preschool programs to adult education. Rural schools must be brought up to par with urban schools. The educational system must reclaim youth and adults who drop out before obtaining sufficient education to cope with the complexities of today's world. An educational extension service is recommended to help teachers and schools meet the needs of all students.

6. The Commission recommends rapid expansion of health manpower — both professional and subprofessional — in rural areas, and the establishment of Community Health Centers which can focus on the health needs of rural people.

7. Family planning programs for the rural poor should be developed. Low income families are burdened with relatively numerous children to feed, clothe, and house. They are prepared psychologically to accept family planning. As a matter of principle, they are entitled to facilities and services to help them plan the number and spacing of their children.

8. Immediate action should be taken to provide housing in rural areas by public agencies with special emphasis on a program providing rent supplements for the rural poor. A single unified housing agency should be made responsible for housing programs in rural areas, and credit terms should be made more responsive to need.

9. The Commission believes that the overlapping patchwork of districts, organizations, plans, and programs for development impedes the economic development of lagging and poverty-stricken areas and regions. It, therefore, recommends the creation of multicounty districts, cutting across urban-rural boundaries, to cooperatively plan and coordinate programs for economic development. To finance development, the Commission recommends federal grants, loans, and industrial development subsidies, as well as state and local tax reform.

10. The Commission believes that without citizen responsibility, which includes the active involvement and participation of all, antipoverty and economic development programs will flounder. Therefore, the Commission recommends that increased attention be given to involving the poor in the affairs of the community, on both local and areawide levels. Specific suggestions are made for improving the effectiveness of the antipoverty programs of the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Department of Agriculture.

11. The Commission recommends that the federal government re-examine its commercial farm programs in order to make sure that adjustments in the supply of farm products are not made at the expense of the rural poor. Public programs are recommended to enlarge small farm operations and to retire submarginal land from commercial production, but with safeguards protecting the interest of low income families living on submarginal land. The Commission also recommends that the development of additional farmland with public funds cease until the nation's food and fiber needs require this development.

12. Without effective government at all levels, the recommendations in this report will not result in the eradication of rural poverty. The Commission recommends changes in program development and administration to facilitate and encourage the effective involvement of local, state, and federal governments.

World's largest known exposed granite is Stone Mountain, east of Atlanta, Ga., which is 800 feet high and seven miles in circumference.

Ex-Sedalian Will Sing With Opera

Donald Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Richardson, Estes Park, Colo., formerly of Sedalia, recently signed a contract with the American National Opera Company under the direction of Sarah Caldwell, for their Spring season.

A student at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, Mass., Richardson also recently appeared as a tenor soloist with the New England Conservatory Orchestra and Chorus in the world premier of "Jonah," a dramatic contata. The tenor role was written especially for him by the composer, Daniel Pinkham.

Richardson grew up in Sedalia, attended Smith-Cotton High School and appeared in concerts while in high school, doing solos under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Schrader. His vocal teacher here was Mrs. C. D. Demand.

Egyptians Steadily Tame Nile

By ALY MAHMOUD
Associated Press Writer

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — The River Nile, once a mighty untamed god to the pharaohs, is becoming a servant of Egypt's economy.

The massive High Dam at Aswan harnesses the river that in ancient times surged through the valley of the pharaohs, destroying villages with its flood.

The proud showpiece of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's Socialist revolution is shaky.

It has 17 times the bulk of the Cheops great pyramid. It will irrigate and give Egypt two million acres of badly needed farmland. Its power output will multiply Egypt's industry.

Normally sleepy Aswan, once a desert exile for undesirable army officers and civil servants, has been transfigured.

A 10-billion kilowatt power station has set off a flurry of industrial schemes to usher Aswan into the 20th Century.

A big fertilizer plant, and iron and steel complex, a pharmaceutical company and a sugar factory already have been established. Many more plants are planned.

Twenty-three tourist hotels are going up, three of them plush. Modern housing units are being built in the nearby mountains and on the plains. A university is planned.

Incessant operations to build the dam have continued around the clock since 1959. Even during the Arab-Israeli war last June the builders carried on, blasting mountains and shifting granite.

At Aswan, the Nile has wandered 3,000 miles from its sources deep in Africa's highland. It pours into a huge body of water behind the dam named Lake Nasser.

When Nasser launched the idea of building a great dam to tame the Nile he chose Aswan as the most suitable place.

Mountains were blasted and shifted to block the flow of the Nile with a dam 436 feet high and 2.6 miles long. A diversion channel was dug and the course of the river was changed into 12 tunnels hewn in solid granite.

The power station, now 40 per cent complete, was built over the tunnels. Of the 12 turbines, four are operating, generating electricity for Cairo and small industry in upper Egypt.

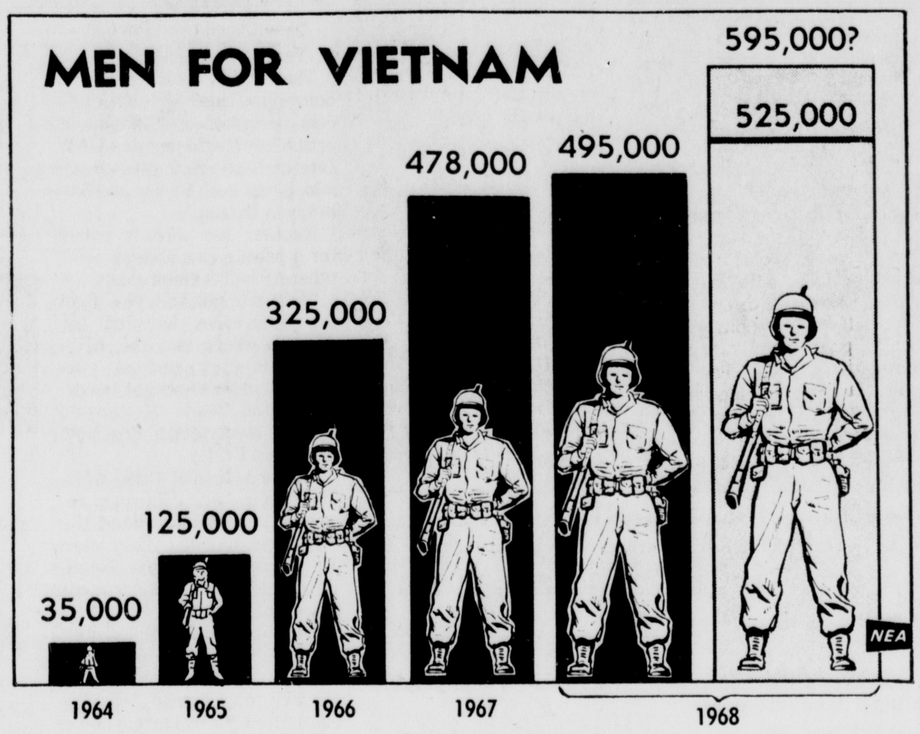
When completed, by the end of 1969, the power station will give Egypt more than five times the existing power output in the whole country.

Scores of rigs operate at the center of the structure, pumping mixtures of clay, cement and chemicals under great pressure into the body of the dam to consolidate it and prevent leakage.

About 24,000 Egyptian workers and 1,000 Russians work in varied operations ranging from transporting granite blocks to installing the power station and other affiliated constructions. The Russians contributed $400 million in aid and Egypt still hopes for more help from the West.

Lake Nasser, called the largest man-made water reservoir in the world, now covers 315 miles in Egypt and stretches into the Sudan's desert of Wadi Halfa. The lake will dam up 164.3 billion cubic meters of water annually by 1970.

It now contains 40.7 billion.



The steady escalation of U.S. forces in Vietnam will take another massive leap upward if the administration agrees to reported military requests for an additional 50,000-100,000 men. U.S. troops now number some 495,000 with the current ceiling set at 525,000. Communist forces now in the field are estimated at about 330,000 with another 300,000 available in North Vietnam.

City Gets Ready For GOP Show

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Most cities, called upon to host a national presidential nominating convention for the first time, might find the prospect nerve-wracking. But this bustling resort couldn't be more blase about the big Republican show beginning the week of Aug. 4.

Work on the convention site is running well ahead of schedule. The 25,000 first-class hotel rooms promised the party are in the bag. No big protest demonstrations, like those threatening the Democrats at Chicago, are anticipated.

And the 30,000 political visitors, plus 5,000 from the news media, will scarcely be noticed among the millions who come and go annually in this subtropic tourist mecca.

"It will be a routine and normal situation," says City Manager Jack Duffield. "People here are experts in getting along with millions of visitors."

Because the oceanside hotel rooms that command $50 a day in the winter can be had for $10 in the summer, Miami Beach is pretty well filled up with tourists in August, anyway.

"In body count, that's actually our best month," says Hal Cohen, liaison man between the city and the GOP. "If the convention people weren't using the rooms, somebody else would be in them."

The walls are up and ceiling beams in place on a 131,000-square-foot addition to the present Miami Beach Convention Hall. The new section will seat 18,100 persons and will be the site of the convention itself.

The existing hall, which seated 15,000 will be turned over to television and radio crews.

Miami Beach is spending $4 million on the convention site but expects to get it back. It estimates that delegates and guests will bring $6 million in fresh money into the city and the news media and others will spend $4 million on goods, services and wages paid special employes.

More conventions are booked into Miami Beach than any other city in the world. When the Republican layout is completed, the beach will put one or two of these extra conventions into it for trial runs.

A chain link fence is being put up around the Convention Hall area, but Police Chief Rocky Pomerance says its only purpose is to keep outsiders out of the 5,000-space parking area reserved for the convention.

Immediately after the Republicans chose Miami Beach, Pomerance contacted federal and state agencies all over the nation, seeking clues to any possible disturbances. He said all replies were negative.

Fashion Memo

Recently, many of our customers have told us of their concern about changing skirt lengths, and have asked us what will be the appropriate length for Spring.

For the most part, skirts will remain short for some time to come—but there will be minis—and midis—and maxis for those who like to express their individuality in their mode of dress.

Our advice is, just choose your clothes with confidence and the skirt length you prefer for the occasion becomes the appropriate one for you. Now, as never before in history, individuality in dress is the keynote of fashion.

namese troops have had two strikes against them all along—a shortage of capable leadership and a dearth of equipment.

"We should give them more and better equipment, including some helicopters of their own," the informant said. "When the helicopters come, we grab them all."

The idea of giving the ARVN a more important battle role was broached as a means of bolstering its morale and pride in itself. At the same time, such a role would tend to ease complaints among both Americans and South Vietnamese about U.S. domination of the war effort, the source said.

In any case, the process would be slow.

However, the Communist offensive is looked upon as a sort of shock treatment. Americans say they detect a hardening process in the ranks of ARVN.

Two corps commanders have been fired.

Even before Tet, the government had been resorting to extraordinary measures to replenish the ranks: amnesties for deserters, extension of the draft to include ages from 18 to 33 and recall of some veterans.

Some of the troops are superb fighting men. The best are found among the airborne units, mostly volunteers who get premium pay, and among the marines and rangers. The worst are found among the low-paid infantry.

Many are tired and often physically sick. This country has been at war, to a greater or lesser degree, for more than a generation.

Accidents

A two-car accident occurred in the 1800 block of East Broadway at 7:51 p.m. Friday.

Involved were a 1967 Chevrolet, driven west on Broadway by William R. Vansell, 60, 1220 East 11th, and a 1952 Chevrolet, driven east on Broadway by Walter L. Loftin, 49, Route 2.

Damage was to the left front of both vehicles.

According to Sgt. C. R. Harrell, records clerk for the Sedalia Police Department, accidents in the month of February in Sedalia numbered less than those comparing with the month of February in 1967.

There were 38 accidents with 8 injuries in the past month compared to 43 accidents with 16 injuries in February of 1967.

For the year to date Harrell indicated that total accidents and injuries were up compared to the same time span in 1967. There were 122 accidents with 29 injuries for the first two months of 1968 compared with 116 accidents with 27 injuries in the first two months of 1967.

Extensive damage resulted to two vehicles in collision at Broadway and New York about 4:47 p.m. Friday. No injuries were reported.

Involved was a 1965 Dodge Dart convertible driven west by Michael B. Brooks, 16, Route 2, Sedalia, and a 1961 Chevrolet sedan driven south by Raymond R. Chapman, 61, of 1919 South Lamine.

Darnell's wrecker towed the convertible away while Bacon's wrecker towed the Chevrolet from the scene.

Three persons were taken to Bothwell Hospital as the result of a one-car accident in the 300 Block of West Ninth at 10:22 p.m. Thursday.

According to police, a 1951 Chevrolet, driven north on Kentucky by Lonnie E. Reaves, 16, 231½ South Harrison, struck the cement retaining wall behind the old Broadway School when he attempted to execute a left-hand turn onto Ninth at a high rate of speed. Reaves told police that he was being chased by another car when the accident occurred.

Reaves, and Billy Aldrich, 16, 1306 South Harrison, were taken to the hospital in Ewing's ambulance. James E. McNeal, 17, 234 South Harrison, another passenger in the car, was taken to the hospital in a police car.

A 1966 Buick, owned by Betty Louise Long, 1819 South Warren, was involved in a hit-and-run accident while it was parked at the above address Friday. Damage was to the right side of the Buick.

No injuries were reported in a two-car accident at the intersection of 16th and Limit at 5:32 p.m. Friday.

Involved were a 1966 Pontiac, driven north on Limit by Virgil Clarence Miller, 50, Napton, and a 1963 Chevrolet, driven north on Limit by Linda Sue Schupp, 18, 1839 South Warren.

Damage was to the rear of the Pontiac and the front of the Chevrolet.

Miss Schupp was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Three persons received injuries in an accident on County Highway M just north of the junction of Highway D south of Houstonia about 7:05 p.m. Saturday, when a Volkswagen ran into a parked 1962 Corvair.

Injured were Mary Edna Tyman, 26, 1810 South Marvin, a passenger in the Volkswagen, and Jack Smith 33, of LaMonte, the driver; Ellsworth Marton, 30, of Sweet Springs.

A passing motorist picked the woman and Smith up and took them to the Bothwell Hospital. The woman suffered bruises on her head and a fracture of the right wrist. Smith received a puncture wound on the right knee.

Martin received a severe bruise on the right leg but refused to go to the hospital and was taken to the home of a relative in Sedalia.

Dr. F. E. Manatt treated the Tyman woman and Smith.

According to Trooper Charles Pieper of the Highway Patrol, Martin's vehicle had run out of gasoline and stopped on the road with no lights on. According to Pieper, Martin said the battery was dead. The Volkswagen headed north came upon the stalled car and before the driver saw the parked car it was too late to avoid the accident.

Martin, according to Trooper Pieper, was standing behind his car, and jumped when he saw the Volkswagen was going to hit it, but was clipped on the leg and thrown into a ditch, losing a shoe on impact.

The front end of the Volkswagen and the rear end of the Corvair were damaged. Parks wrecker towed the Volkswagen to Sedalia, while the owner of the other car made arrangements to have the Corvair moved.

Police Report

Gale Hieronymus, 2204 West First, reported to police that she lost her billfold containing $22 and some important papers Friday.

Bedford House, 900 East 13th, reported to police that someone took a tire and wheel, valued at $41, from a car parked at the above address sometime Thursday night.

Jack C. Miller, 501 North Prospect, reported to police that someone took $111.75 in change and currency from the above address sometime Friday.

Dave Brown, 609 West Third, reported to police that someone took a rear-view mirror, valued at $5, from his motorcycle while it was parked in the city parking lot at Second and Osage Friday afternoon.

Robert Neighbors, 1416 South Ohio, reported to police that someone took a purple Sting-Ray bicycle, valued at $40, from the above address.

Leonard Bennett, 2220 West 20th, reported to police that someone threw a water-filled bag at the front door of his home, breaking a storm door glass valued at $10.

Samuel D. Gould, 19, Odessa, reported to police that he came to Sedalia with two assumed friends where they met a colored subject. The four of them then went to an apartment somewhere on North Moniteau where the other three subjects allegedly beat Gould and took $5 in cash from him.

City Fires

Firemen were called to 311 East Johnson at 10:04 a.m. Friday. It was a false alarm.

Firemen made a run to 11th and Grand at 12:18 p.m. Saturday where they extinguished burning trash and nearby grass.

Firemen were called to 720 North Grand at 8:05 p.m. Saturday. It was a false alarm.

Auto

of crucial importance.

The request for an AFL-CIO convention came after what officers described as "unanimous action" by the 26-member UAW International Executive Board which met both Friday and Saturday in Detroit.

Reuther has already called for a private caucus with some other AFL-CIO union chiefs.

"I want to talk with you about the differences between the Auto Workers and the AFL-CIO," Reuther said in telegrams sent Friday night to several union heads. He invited them to meet with him in New York next Friday.

The president of three AFL-CIO unions have confirmed receiving requests to attend the New York meeting. They were Max Greenberg of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, William Pollock of the Textile Workers Union, and Chrles Cogen of the American Federation of Teachers.

A call for a special AFL-CIO convention would have to come from the federation's Executive Council, where Reuther has repeatedly lost to Meany in recent battles.

Bond

it was built went out of business.

Concerned but not defeated, the community leaders scouted around and found an industry that would come in and employ more workers than the first had been expected to hire.

In the last six years more than $50 million in industrial development bonds have been issued. Approved but not yet sold are almost as many more as the speed of industrial development picks up in the state.

One of the first, back in 1963, was that of little Annapolis, Mo. The townspeople voted 227-0 to issue $5 million in revenue bonds to build a plant for the Ruberoild Co. of New York. The plant produces grante roofing granules for the company.

Since then more than 40 Missouri communities have sold bonds for industrial development programs. The plans of eight communities are almost at the issuing stage.

Among those are $20 million in revenue bonds for a plant at Nevada, $7 million for one at Springfield and $4.2 million for one at Palmyra.

It's easy when the voters can see a direct and almost immediate result in employment increase and new money in the community economy.

It is different when the result is more abstract and less directly understandable.

Like education.

Observers have said that more than half the bond issues for new or expanded public school plants fail to pass the voters the first time around.

In some school districts bond issues have been submitted doggedly by the school boards as many as a dozen times before they are approved. Many times the amount asked for has been pared down several times.

A spokesman for the State Department of Education said he thought the department should keep a record of school bond pograms and whether they win or lose.

He said the record would not be good.

He expressed the hope that a reduction in the necessary voter approval might help the schools. wthe Division of Commerce and Industrial Development said it would make little difference on the construction of manufacturing plants.

Miss Kathryn Kelly

Miss Kelly To Speak At BPWC

Miss Kathryn Kelly, Ellisville, state membership and expansion chairman of the Missouri Federation, will be the speaker at the 45th anniversary dinner meeting of the Sedalia Business and professional Women's Club Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Bothwell Hotel.

Miss Kelly has been a member of the Downtown St. Louis Club for 11 years, serving her local club as president, membership chairman, director and parliamentarian.

On the state level she served as District VIII director from 1963-1965; State Bowling chairman 1964-1966; co-chairman 1965 State Convention in St. Louis; Personal Development chairman 1965-1966, Fun Weekend chairman 1965-1968 and was Missouri Luncheon chairman in 1967.

Miss Kelly is office supervisor for the St. Louis Branch of the Johnson Wax Company. She is a member of the Church Of The Good Shepherd, YWCA, Old Trails Historical Society and Playgoers, St. Louis. She believes in involvement of individual members in Federation activities and the idea for the Bowling Tournament and Fun Weekend were presented by her to the State Board in 1964 becoming annual events. She enjoys records, books, theatre, yard work and entertaining.

The membership committee, of which Mrs. Florence Elliott is chairman, is in charge of the program, and new members will be recognized. Members of Mrs. Elliott's committee are Mrs. Barbara Arnold, Mrs. Madeline Burke, Miss Helen Giokaris, Mrs. Ruth Heiss, Mrs. Pauline Jones, Mrs. Dorothy McFatrich, Miss Freda Mueller, Mrs. Charlotte Smith, Mrs. Maria Walkup and Mrs. Ruth Woolery.

Wrong Reason

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Men like women—there's no doubt about that—but for the wrong reason, says Eunice Clarke, director of the Multi-Purpose Training Center at Temple University.

Mrs. Clarke, in an interview at a conference of the status of women, said Friday men just can't regard women as emancipated people who have as much right to go out in the world in search of their fortunes as men.

"There is still a higher value placed on a woman's sex appeal than on her brain," said Mrs. Clarke.

A SIMPLE TEST FOR EMPHYSEMA

Advanced Emphysema and chronic bronchitis have caused millions of respiratory cripples. These diseases start slowly and early symptoms are not too troublesome. Many people wrongly ignore them. The best chance for control is an early detection and prompt treatment. Watch out for morning coughing spells or shortness of breath during your daily activities.

Take this match test. Light an ordinary match and hold it lit about 12 inches from your mouth. Take a normal breath and then "huff" out the match without pursing your lips. If the match is not blown out you may have emphysema. See your physician for a positive diagnosis.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine and we will gladly deliver it without charge. If you prefer you may pick it up at our drive up window. We keep accurate records for tax and insurance purposes. We carefully fill welfare prescriptions and deliver or mail free of charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. Changpa-Ri Much Like A Viet Town, But Better

By BOB POOS
Associated Press Writer

CHANGPA-RI, Korea (AP) — 'Lights, lights, turn on the lights."

"Lights, hell, turn on the heat."

Such cries from U.S. soldiers off duty from the outposts and guardposts of Korea's western front start the action each night in this soldier town whose economic existence depends largely on the GI.

Changpa-ri bears more than a slight resemblance to numerous similar towns in Vietnam—An Khe, for example—and U.S. GIs who come to Korea after a hitch in Vietnam must have the feeling that it's all very familiar.

The main difference here is that the people, particularly the girls, like the GIs and don't want to see them go. Unofficial reports say there are about 4,000 girls in the area, which totals only about 6,000 people.

"Yep," grinned Spec. 4 Gary A. Sader of Milwaukee, Wis., "we're outnumbered about 4 to 1 and most nights when I'm off duty you'll find me one of the 1.

"A guy can go nuts just hanging around the compound and those nights get mighty cold on duty."

Sader is a former frontline rifleman who recently won a transfer to the preferred job of dog handler. He and a German shepherd spend their on-duty nights roaming barbed-wire perimeters looking for North Korean intruders.

Most troopers who visit Changpa-ri are from the 3rd Brigade of the 2nd Infantry Division and from a battalion of the U.S. 7th Division, the units that "serve north of the Imjin."

Changpa-ri is the first place that greets them as they cross Libby Bridge over the Imjin after leaving their forward positions.

Virtually the first thing they see is a burned-out neon sign advertising the First Chance bar. On the way out, the other side of the sign proclaims the Last Chance bar.

The narrow, gravel streets boast such emporiums as the Queen Tea Room, the 77 Store and Jang Ma Rod Coffee Shop.

And there is the Lucky Dance Hall, one of the favorite GI spots in town.

The troopers start gathering just before 5 p.m. The local generator doesn't come on until 5 or a little after and the thrifty mama-sans who run the joints don't favor wasting kerosene in the upright stoves until absolutely necessary.

Hence the cries for light and heat at 5.

Sader and a buddy, Sgt. Joel Watson of Carter County, Okla., volunteered to guide two AP newsmen on a tour of Changpa-ri and its attractions, in the interests of sociological research.

Watson observed: "You know, I hated this place the last time I was here, but this time I like it and I'm happy to be serving here. I'm learning Korean this trip and trying to get to know some of the people." He grinned. "And I don't mean just the girls, either."

That may be, but most of his comrades seemed to be more interested in Irene, the Angel, Trouble and Ma. Ungallant soldiers nicknamed Ma that because she's a little older than the rest of the girls, Sader said.

The girls, say the troopers, range from outright prostitutes to young ladies interested in marriage and eventual American citizenship.

Entertainment at the Blue Moon is furnished by perhaps the loudest rock 'n' roll band in the world. "Kind of hurts your ears, don't it?" yelled a soldier above the din.

Beer, that universal drink of enlisted soldiers the world over, is 80 won per bottle—about 30 cents. It is good beer but weak. There's little likelihood of anyone getting very drunk. "You get full first," observed a trooper.

When one can no longer stand the noise at the Blue Moon there is relief for the ears at Lucky, where entertainment runs more to the hillbilly and country ballad.

Soldiers dance or just stand around under the Christmas tree lights that furnish the illumination in the Lucky and the Blue Moon. There is a sprinkling of Vietnam veterans among these men.

Assembled for Vietnam

Armored vehicles for U.S. forces in Vietnam are rolling off the assembly line at the Cadillac Gage Co., in Warren, Mich. The Commando, wheeled, armored and amphibious, carries two .30-cal. machine guns. Production rate is classified information, but all of it is for shipment to Vietnam. (UPI)

Versailles Foodliner Hires New Manager

Jack Robinson is the new manager of Versailles IGA Foodliner and Mr. Marvin Ball is the new assistant manager.

Robinson previously was assistant manager of the IGA Foodliner in the west shopping center of Versailles and in January became the new manager. Jim Newman, who was owner and manager of the store since it opened in April 1967, has purchased the Cooper IGA Foodliner at Warsaw, and is supervising that store as well as the Versailles IGA store.

Gerald Wilcox has accepted a position in the grocery department.

Society AND Clubs

LaMonte Church Willing Workers Circle met Feb. 23 with 35 present to participate in the contributive supper.

Mrs. Charles Preuss, president, opened the business meeting by reading an article on the life of George Washington. A plan was discussed to help the Methodist Children's Home in St. Louis to buy a school bus. Mrs. Vernon McMullin gave the devotion.

Mrs. Earl Schroeder will give the devotion at the March meeting. Hostesses will be Mrs. Clarence DeHaven and Mrs. Eddie Wimer.

Ringen Neighbors Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. F. A. Schutte, Smithton, with Mrs. G. W. Meyer acting as co-hostess.

Eleven members answered roll call with "My First Heart Throb."

Mrs. Rance Hoehns gave the citizenship lesson. Mrs. Leo Hoehns and Mrs. Paul Culp, Jr., gave the creative arts lesson, and it was announced that the community talent show will be held 8 p. m. April 1 at the Community Center.

The next meeting will be held March 21 at the home of Mrs. Rance Hoehns, with Mrs. Leo Hoehns as co-hostess. Members are to bring articles to organize a kitchen band.

Graff Circle of the First Methodist Church met with Mrs. A. B. York, California, with 13 members present.

Mrs. A. R. Bratten gave the devotional, "What the Bible Gives to Us." Mrs. J. F. Graff presided at the business meeting.

Following the meeting a social hour was held and the hostess served refreshments of strawberry crunch, coffee, nuts and mints.

Mrs. Charles Baker will be the hostess in March.

South Abell 4-H Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Bohon, Jr., on Feb. 15 with 23 members, 10 leaders and six guests present.

Mrs. John Jones, from the Dresden 4-H Club, spoke of her trip to Washington, D. C. in 1966 to the 4-H Leaders Forum. She showed colored slides and encouraged anyone who had the opportunity to go to Washington, D. C.

The 4-H "Share the Fun" committee decided on a number for 4-H "Share the Fun."

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. March at Community Hall. The program will be a health talk and food I demonstration. Enrollment for 4-H will also be checked and plans will be started for 4-H Sunday.

The garden club will sponsor a "Yards of the Year" contest in California in which four yards will be recognized during the year, one for each season A committee made up of club members will pick the winning yard and a picture will appear in the California Paper. Club members' yards will not be considered.

The club beautification project for 1968 will be landscaping the north side of the Moniteau County courthouse. An application for a Sear's Grand for additional funds has been submitted by the club.

The ways and means committee suggested the club use the Re-Sell It Shop in Jefferson City, sponsored by the Episcoplian Church, as its way of making funds necessary for club projects during 1968.

Mrs. A. B. Van Sandt presented the afternoon program, "What's New in 1968."

Bunceton Baptist Church Women's Missionary Union met at the church for an all day meeting with a contributive dinner served at noon. Twelve members and one visitor, Mary Ann Nelson, were present.

Mrs. Jim Moore presented the morning program, "Money for Missions." Mrs. Richard Nelson gave a review on the book, "Trumpets in Dixie," for the afternoon session.

Mrs. Riley Edwards, president, presided during the business meeting. Various committees reported. Mrs. George Harned gave the secretary and treasurer's report and Mrs. Edwards read thank you notes.

The Bunceton Federated Church Women's Society met with hostess Mrs. Herman Howard. Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. Florence Felger, were present.

Mrs. Howard, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Leonard Gerhardt. Mrs. Betty Harriman gave the devotional, "Start Where You Are," and scripture. The meeting was then closed with the Lord's Prayer and prayer by Mrs. Harriman.

The following officers will lead the group during the new hear: Mrs. Howard, president; Mrs. George Dicus, vice president; Mrs. D. T. Layne, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Howard appointed the following committees: quilt, Mrs. Roy Blank, chairman, Mrs. J. B. Daniel, Mrs. Edgar George and Mrs. Betty Harriman; hospitality, Mrs. Porter Harned and Mrs. Porter Wilson, cards, Miss Emma Lee Kurtz.

Following the meeting the group worked on tea towls and rugs. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home at Mrs. Benton Smith.

Miss Gladys Stephens and Mrs. George Harned were hostesses.

Mrs. Porter Hurt gave the devotional, "Make Us Able," by Eleanor D. Stanley. Roll call was answered with "A Household chore I dislike." Mrs. Edgar George, president, announced that the County Homemakers meeting is scheduled for March 18 at New Lebanon Center, and it was voted to have a float in the centennial parade.

Mrs. Dick presented the lesson, "Two Cups of Flour and the Law," and "Let's Talk About Wheat Flour."

Mrs. Earl Scott and Mrs. Herman Dick will be cohostesses on March 12, with the lesson, "What You Can Do For Clothes."

The meeting closed by reading the club collect.

Monday Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. Herman Garnett, California.

Roll call was answered by giving good manners. Mrs. Porter Donley presided over the business of the meeting and names were drawn for secret pals.

Mrs. Richard Foster and Miss Manie Vaughan presented the program, "Be a Winner-Be a Good Loser."

During the social hour games were led by Mrs. Richard Foster. The hostess served Tea Time Tassies, cake, punch, and candies.

Students Tapped For Honor Society

Thirteen Knob Noster Senior High School students were tapped for National Honor Society initiates at the second annual National Honor Society Tapping Assembly held Feb. 20.

The assembly was opened by the president, Eva McMullin. Emily Rhodes, secretary of the organization, gave a brief talk pertaining to the importance of scholarship and leadership. Character and service were the main topics discussed by Ellis Bond, another National Honor Society member.

The initiates tapped were: seniors, Gary Droege, Joy Epperly, Trish Gray, Ella Perello, and Steve Young; juniors, Laura Burgess, Dennis Ellis, Nancy Kearney, Carol Gatschet, Steve Mitchell, Gary Turner, Bonnie Vogler, and Vicki Vogt.

Formal initiation of new National Honor Society members were held at 7:30 P.M. Thursday. The program consisted of the present members presenting and explaining the various aspects and purposes of the National Honor Society. A reception was held following the initiation.

Other members of the National Honor Society are Ellis Bond, Patty Lee, Viola Norman, Emily Rhodes, and Sue Schaffer. Mrs. Clayton Craig is sponsor of the organization.

Mid-States Safety Control
Sedalia, Missouri

Last year in Pettis County we experienced 354 reported accidents and 18 deaths attributable to automobile accidents. Needless to say we were one of the top fatality counties in the state.

During the past few days it has been my pleasure to test in my patrol car what may be the most revolutionary safety device to be offered to the public to date—THE GYRO MATIC SAFETY CONTROL.

It is not the policy of this department to endorse any commercial product, and this letter is not an endorsement of Safety Control but is written in the same vein that we recommend any proven safety device.

Safety Control not only controls skidding, which causes 80% plus of all accidents, it also stabilizes your car constantly even when making left and right turns. Your car handles better and is more maneuverable, no matter what the condition of the street surface might be.

It is the sincere desire of this office that the service clubs and organizations as well as individuals will take the opportunity to see this device demonstrated and explained.

Vietnamese Dolls Aren't Just Toys

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Detectives are checking oriental dolls mailed from Vietnam to see if a new wrinkle is being used to smuggle narcotics into the United States.

The investigation was started after two of the dolls sent to a soldier's girl friend turned out to have been stuffed with marijuana.

The soldier came home a few days after the dolls arrived and picked them up, Allegheny County Detective William Jennings said Friday. The veteran was arrested and charged with possession of narcotics, Jennings said. His name was not disclosed.

Jennings said officers had checked six more of the one-foot-tall dolls but had found no traces of drugs. The hollow plastic dolls hold about $500 worth of marijuana each, Jennings said.

Canadian Flag Flies

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP) — A Canadian red ensign is flying over a U.S. Marine bunker at Khe Sanh, Vietnam, due to a confusion of flags here, says Mrs. Eleanor Zinkowich, mother of Marine Sgt. David Sinkowich, 21, a U.S. citizen. He asked for an Ontario Province flag but—as he told her later in a letter—she mistakenly sent him the red ensign, which is similar and which has been replaced by the maple leaf flag as Canada's national banner.

Editors Suspended

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — South High School officials suspended seven students after they refused to quit distributing a privately produced newspaper without first obtaining school permission. The officials said the content, which included articles on the right of dissent, was not at issue.

Life Insurance—I

Different Requirements Apply to Every Family

"Families want to know more about life insurance today than ever before," says Mary L. Johnson, family economics specialist of the University of Missouri Extension Division.

What is it really? Protection? Savings? Is one kind better than another? How can we know? What guides are there for buying?

Following are frequently asked questions and then answers:

Q. What does life insurance provide?

A. Life insurance's basic purpose is protection by a risk sharing plan. Life insurance protects in case of emergency for financial needs they cannot supply in other ways. Social Security and basic group life insurance plans are only planned to provide a minimum of protection for most families. These give a basis or start for adequate family insurance plans.

Q. What should a family use as a basis for the amount of insurance carried?

A. The family's financial need should be the basis. No two families have exactly the same needs.

Q. What is meant by financial need with reference to the life insurance?

A. The financial need is the amount of money the dependents would need in the absence of the income earner:

1. An important need is for basic day-to-day living costs of the dependents (food, clothing, etc.).
2. Payments on existing debts (a mortgaged home or farm debt).
3. Special needs (securing a loan, assuring children's educational expenses, gifts to family, friends, or organizations).
4. Expenses that occur in connection with a death (funeral expenses, those expenses that may have occurred in an illness preceding death, expenses for estate settlement. There may be some readjustment expenses — relocation of the family, etc.).
5. Emergency expenses.
6. Retirement income.

Q. Who in the family should be insured?

A. Naturally, first consideration should be given to the income earner. However, many families underestimate the value of the mother's service in a home. In certain cases, insurance for her to the extent possible with the family budget is important.

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

prices start lower than any other full-size models. Look at it. Chevrolet's 4-door sedan is roomier than any other American car except one high-priced luxury sedan, according to Automotive News. Drive it. You can tell by its smooth and silent ride that Chevrolet quality runs even deeper than that elegant Body by Fisher. The standard V8's bigger this year; the standard Six is the most powerful in Chevy's field. Buy it! Get a Chevrolet instead of a medium-priced name and you can have, for instance, power steering, power brakes and a radio besides. Pay more? What for!

'68 CHEVELLE
prices start lower than any other mid-size models. Obviously nothing's newer in mid-size cars than the quick-size Chevelles. There's fresh styling, the long-hood, short-deck look. There are two nimblefooted wheelbases now: sportier for coupes and convertibles, roomier for sedans and wagons—both on a wider, steadier tread. You get big-car power, big-car ride in a quick-size package, starting at prices so low you can add comforts like air conditioning without straining your budget. No wonder Chevelle outsells everything in its field year after year!

'68 CHEVY II NOVA
prices start lower than any other economy car so generously sized. Nova is the not-too-small car. It's big enough for a family on vacation, yet it slips into parking spaces others pass by. With its new wide stance and computer-tuned chassis, Nova rides as silent and steady as cars costing a whole lot more to buy (and run). Its all-new Body by Fisher looks just as handsome inside as out. As for performance, Nova comes with the biggest standard V8 in its field. Here's one economy car that doesn't look or act the part.

Now—Impala V8 sale. Save on specially equipped Sport Coupe, 4-Door Sedan or Station Wagons! CHEVROLET

Chicago Braces For Democrats

CHICAGO (AP) — Change is in the air at the aged International Amphitheatre, which is more accustomed to horse shows and animal auctions than political conventions.

Now the Democrats are coming to town.

Hosting a national political convention has been Chicago's role 23 times this century. Nevertheless, it's been eight years since a presidential candidate was nominated in Chicago and that's a long time for a city that calls itself "Convention Capital of the World."

The Democratic National Committee's executive committee is in charge of arrangements for the convention, scheduled the week of Aug. 25, three weeks after Republicans meet in Miami Beach, Fla. Democrats have set up shop in a two-room suite at the Conrad Hilton, convention headquarters and the world's largest hotel with 2,600 rooms.

The Democrats announced Chicago as their convention site after receiving a guarantee of $900,000 and free use of the Amphitheatre complex, the city's main convention center.

Chicago also agreed to provide 15,000 first-class hote rooms. Approximately 12,500 of these rooms are in the downtown area and many of the others are near Midway and O'Hare International airports.

The political convention is worth $5 million to the city, the Chicago Convention Bureau estimates.

Democrats, not to mention local, state and federal law enforcement agencies, hope the greatest potential problem—disruptive demonstrations — never occurs. Threats of disruptive protests against the Democrats already have been voiced, and with some 4,000 press, radio and television representatives ready to record every move surrounding the convention, nobody is leaving the situation to hope.

Chicago's 12,000-man police department is preparing for the worst.

"The eyes of the nation will be on Chicago in August, when we expect thousands of visitors — including some pickets and demonstrators," said Police Supt. James B. Conlisk Jr. "While we're optimistic that Chicago will not have serious trouble, it is obviously necessary that we also be well-prepared for any unfortunate eventuality."

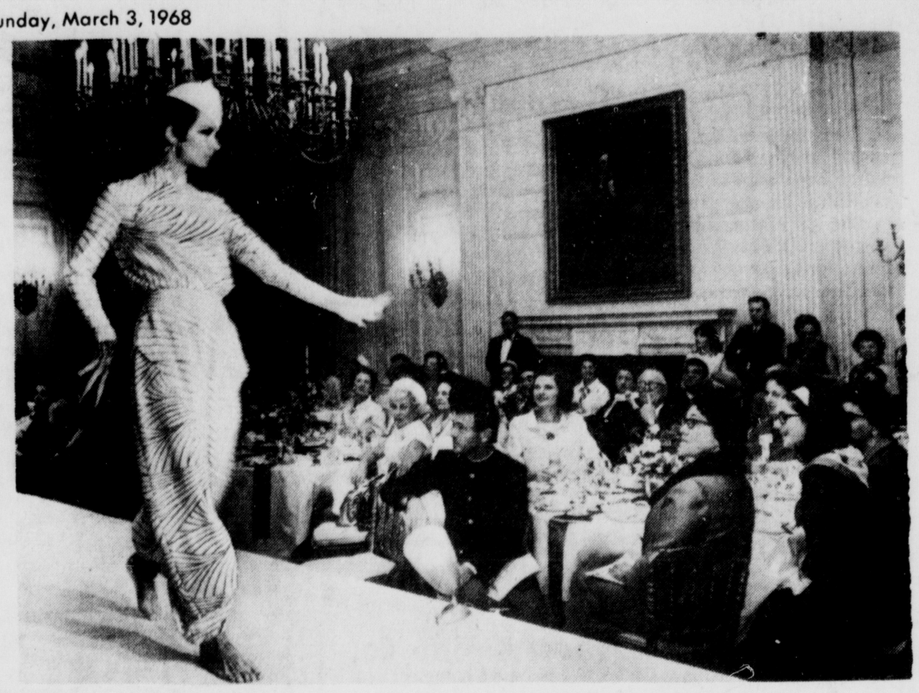
"We now are able to mobilize 6,000 uniformed policemen and detectives within several hours in any one location in the city," Conlisk said.

The department also has the support of Mayor Richard J. Daley, the city's all-powerful Democrat who set the tough tone in response to threats of disrupting demonstrations.

"We will permit people — we don't care who they are — to come to Chicago to carry their right as Americans to petition and to demonstrate," he said. "But no one will take over our streets, our city or our convention."

Dick Gregory, Negro entertainer and civil rights activist, has said he will try to disrupt the convention with "50 or 60 demonstrations in different directions at the same time to tie up the whole police department."

Sheriff Joseph I. Woods of Cook County announced that he will form a 1,000-man volunteer rjot-control unit to back up his 250-man riot squad this summer.



White House Show

The first fashion show in the White House took place Thursday when Mrs. Lyndon Johnson entertained the wives of 43 governors who were holding their annual conference in Washington. Designer Rudi Gernreich is shown seated at the head table as one of his creations is modeled. (UPI)

In Ranks

Seamen Apprentices Albert J. Gemes, son of Mrs. Lawrence L. Everts, and Terry W. Rittman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis G. Rittman, all of Knob Noster, have graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

Air Force Capt. Danny M. Reid, son of Mrs. Mary B. Reid of Warrensburg, was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal at Hickam AFB, Hawaii, for meritorious service while engaged in military operations against Viet Cong forces. He was cited for his performance as an aircraft maintenance officer at Udorn Royal Thai AFB, Thailand.

Second Lt. John L. Dameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan L. Dameron of Clarksburg, has been awarded U.S. Air Force silver pilot wings upon graduation at Vance AFB, Okla. Following specialized aircrew training at Castle AFB, Calif., he will be assigned to Barksdale AFB, La., for flying with the Strategic Air Command.

Hoover Says Pornography Is to Blame

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, saying pornographic material "plays a motivating role in sexual violence," has called for stiffer punishments for filth purveyors.

In an editorial in the FBI's monthly "Law Enforcement Bulletin," published Thursday, Hoover wrote, "In case after case, the sex criminal has on his person or in his possession pornographic literature or pictures."

"Under these conditions it is not surprising to note that forcible rape in 1966 increased 10 per cent over the 1965 total, a violation occurring every 21 minutes. Since 1960, forcible rape has increased 50 per cent."

Hoover said "degenerate sex pictures and pornographic literature, covertly peddled and sold in most cities and communities, net greedy smut merchants millions of dollars annually."

California Raises Teacher's Salaries

The Board of Education of California has raised the base of the teachers salary schedule from $5,200 to $5,400, and issued contracts to each member of the present faculty for the next school year. The teachers may hold the contracts for two weeks before returning them.

The Board decided that the school could operate on the same levy of $2.95 next year. The Board will levy $1.80 and the voters will be asked, during the April election, to approve $1.15 of the $2.95 total.

R-5 School District Elect Board Members

Pettis County R-5 School district will elect two board members at the April 2 regular school election. The filing date will close March 22.

Candidates should file with John Greer, secretary of the board, Route 1, Hughesville.

Speaking Out

Party Regulars Dismayed By Czechs' Irreverence

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — "This show is banned," rules the stolid Communist censor. "It smacks of Trotskyism, liberalism, and intellectualism."

The stage director outwits him by having the chorus switch from "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" to a Red revolutionary song. Curvaceous girl dancers suddenly wave little red flags.

This bit from a Russian production by N. Bulgakov, barred from Soviet stages since the roaring 20s, is the current rage of show-loving Prague. It is called "The Purple Island."

First opened in the downtown ABC Theater last December, it had an excitingly rebellious taste. It still draws packed houses, but it has turned into plain fun, for reality has outpaced fiction. What happened in Czechoslovakia during the past few weeks would have seemed utopian had it been presented on stage only six months.

Writers who barely escaped jail for fierce denunciation of the regime are back at their desks. A party critic who was kicked out of the Communist Central committee five years ago uses the official party mouthpiece for a devastatingly critical review of 20 years of Czechoslovak communism. And the public is more or less openly cautioned to distrust the words of their president.

The winds of change are blowing full blast in this country where people once did not dare deviate a fraction from the Kremlin party line. They have been picking up strength ever since reform-minded Alexander Dubcek took the place of old Stalinist Antonin Novotny as head of the party. Dubcek won in January after a showdown in the policy-making central committee.

At 46, he is the youngest Communist party chief in Eastern Europe and a top-honors graduate of the Moscow party academy. He is backed by a group of Communist technocrats and intellectuals who feel, as one put it: "We have reached the end of a journey into frustration."

The change-over at the top, which has yet be followed by a shake-up at all levels, was triggered by economic discontent.

A drastic reform had been tackled only half-heartedly by old-guard followers of Novotny who feared a "Socialist market economy" with its emphasis on competition and responsible management would cost them their cozy armchairs.

After a year of lukewarm experimentation, Czechoslovakia remained at a point which Dubcek later described as "a great many economic difficulties."

The old guard doubtless still has strong backing in the proletariat, where many older workers regard the new men as intellectual heretics out to thin pay envelopes. Some say openly that the form is going to hurt if it is to produce a change.

The reformers have launched a counterdrive to win a strong middle-of-the-road segment in top party echelons.

Western diplomatic analysts, admitting they are unable to make a precise assessment, feel the odds are in favor of Dubcek. "That is," added one expert, "if Dubcek is realistic enough not to let things get out of control."

TV Faces Problems With Dance

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The television screen, which can show with minute clarity the flying fingers of a flamenco guitarist or the detail of a Da Vinci painting, presents major and perhaps insoluble problems when the subject is moving and demands space.

Case in point is the dance—the cultural, aesthetic form as opposed to dancing, which as every viewer of variety shows knows, does very well with the June Taylor girls kicking in precision and the Red Skelton chorines looking cute and perky.

Edward Villella, one of the world's great male dancers and a principal of the New York City Ballet, explains that the difficulty is that classical dance requires space for its leaps and its turns and an opportunity for the spectator to watch the dancer almost in closeup.

Television cameras, unfortunately, reduce human figures to ant size when they show the dancers and the whole setting.

There seems to be no way out of the dilemma, but NBC's Telephone Hour, March 8, will try to circumvent it by exploring the fascinating world of ballet in terms of one dancer's experiences. The subject is, of course, Villella, and while there will be portions of the program showing him in action, the approach is documentary.

Villella, at 30, conforms little to the public's concept of the male ballet dancer. On stage, his gestures are the graceful movements associated with the classical form. Away from it, Villella's life makes disciplinary demands more rigid than those of a professional football player.

He is particularly interested in the program, because he wants the public to realize that dancing really is a man's game.

Referring to his art and its demands, the young, black-haired, dark-eyed dancer said: The important thing is muscle tone. And you must keep this constantly. I work out every day, at the barre limbering up for an hour and a half a day, with massage, whirlpool baths, and wearing sweat pants."

He is constantly on a Spartan diet. "Little starch, lots of protein," he said. "It is impossible to dance on a full stomach, so on working nights, I usually have a steak, a salad, or some cheese in the afternoon. Then I eat again after the performance."

'Mush! Mush!' Off Because of Mush

KENAI, Alaska (AP) — A dog sled race scheduled in this Gulf of Alaska community this weekend has been canceled because of a lack of snow and too much rain.

Officials said the annual two-day race from Kenai to Soldotna and back—a distance of about 100 miles—was called off after fresh rain turned the trail to mush.

Wives Are Cheaper In Bulk Quantity

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Benjamin Garcia Marin, convicted of bigamy, has filed suit to divorce his wife Jennie and annul marriages to six other women. The six occurred after he and Jennie were wed in 1947, Marin contends.

As part of his probation Marin, 49, a truck driver, was ordered to clear his marriage records. The suits were filed Friday.

By naming all his wives in one complaint Marin paid a single filing fee of $35.50. Seven separate suits would have cost seven times as much.

Seeks Third Term On School Board

William O. "Bill" Hiatt, 1609 East Ninth, Friday evening filed for re-election to the Sedalia District 200 School Board. Hiatt, who is now secretary of the Board, is seeking his third three-year term.

Hiatt is district engineer for the Missouri Public Service Co.

George Thompson, president of the Board, has also filed for re-election. Although superintendent of the Pettis County School District, Thompson is also eligible to serve on the District 200 Board.

The third candidate who has filed is Mrs. Edward L. Worley, 1103 East 17th, a past president of the Whittier School parent-Teacher Association.

Committee Post To J. E. Mitchell

J. E. Mitchell, First State Savings Association, has been appointed to the 1968 Committee on Branch Operations of the United States Savings and Loan League.

The appointment was announced by Hans Gehrke, Jr., Detroit, Mich., president of the League, which is the nationwide trade organization of the savings and loan business and represents more than 5,1000 savings associations and cooperative banks.

The Branch Operations Committee was organized primarily for the study of branch management problems and to provide a means for the exchange of ideas and operating experience on branch office operations.

Community Theater To Be Discussed

Little Theater enthusiasts are invited to a meeting March 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Industrial Development office in the chamber of Commerce Building, 113 East Fourth.

The purpose of the meeting is to consider the possibilities of developing a community theater and discovering persons who would be interested in participating.

Carpenters, painters, make-up artists, dressmakers, second-hand dealers, publicity writers, ticket sellers, and many others are needed as well as actors and directors.

Persons interested in theater are invited to attend the meeting. If unable to attend, but would like to express interest or ask questions, call Mrs. William Hall at TA 6-2979, or Mrs. Medford Speaker at TA 6-4967.

Local Club Tours Newspaper Plant

The Maplewood Homakers Club met recently with Mrs. Edward Laird. Mrs. Allen Cusik was the assistant.

After a contributive dinner and short business meeting the 12 members, one visitor, Mrs. Tom Knowles, and five children, were conducted on a tour of the new Sedalia Democrat-Capital building.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fern Oehrke. The project will be Decoupage, or "the poor man's art."

Soviet Stamps Are Designed By Cosmonaut

MOSCOW (AP) — A brightly-colored series of Soviet postage stamps shows space as it was seen by cosmonaut Alexei A. Lenov, the first man to walk in it.

The designer of the stamps? Leonov himself.

An accomplished artist, the stocky redhead created three designs especially for the series. The stamps have proven to be so popular with collectors that they are hard to come by.

The series comes in denominations of four, 10 and 16 kopecks. A kopeck is officially equivalent to 1.11 cents.

A bright orange haze over the earth suggests the view Leonov himself reported seeing after his historic space walk on March 18, 1965.

Siberian-born Leonov, 33, painted a soaring rocket with fiery flames in its wake for the 10-kopeck stamp.

For the 16-kopeck one he depicted a spacecraft near the moon with the earth behind it to the left. The spacecraft has a big red hammer and sickle on it.

Leonov's other sketches have appeared in Neptune, the private newspaper put out by Soviet cosmonauts for circulation among themselves. He exhibited some of his paintings of space here in Moscow eight months after his dramatic space walk.

Civic Council Unites With Betterment Club

The Houstonia Civic Council met at the school building with five members present.

The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer. Main items of business were to unite with the Missouri Betterment Club and the council members will then become the committee on beautification.

The council will serve the Grace fertilizer dinner on Tuesday night and money will be used, along with other money from the Civic Council, to continue the trash pickup, mowing of weeds, etc.

Suffering Young Widows

By JEAN HELLER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

She was 25 years old and the world didn't seem like such a bad place that day as she gently rocked her baby. The sound of a car pulling into the driveway meant nothing to her.

But the unfamiliar face and the Army uniform that appeared at her door meant death.

She felt a sudden, sharp chill of terror and she knew she had to run—anywhere—away from that face, away from that uniform.

"Oh dear God, No!" she screamed. "It's not my Bobby! You made a mistake. It's not my Bobby. Please, somebody help me!"

The only place to run was into the kitchen. She collapsed on the linoleum floor.

The man in the drab green uniform had come to tell her her husband was dead, killed in a nasty, persistent war in a strange, hostile corner of Asia, half a world away.

It happens somewhere in this nation every day:

A mother is told that her son has been captured; a man is told that his brother is missing; a woman is told that her husband is dead.

It is for the young widow however, that life seems most thoroughly mutilated. The salvage is not easy, but it comes.

"When something like this happens to you, you just pick up and go along," said Evelyn Marlowe, 39, of San Antonio Tex., mother of four. "It's hard—very hard—and looking back on it, it doesn't feel like I've accomplished very much, but I guess we've done okay."

Staff Sgt. Daniel P. Marlowe was the crew chief aboard an Air Force plane carrying supplies to troops and bringing out the wounded. The weather in South Vietnam was bad on Oct. 4, 1966. The plane crashed into a mountainside at An Khe. Marlowe and 12 other men died.

The Vietnam war has created thousands of personal crises like this for American wives. Almost without exception the crises have been met and resolved. These widows are a very special breed.

They understood, and accepted, the fact that they made a covenant with death the day they married into the military.

Among the widows of the Vietnam war, self pity passes quickly. Most are still young, with full lives yet to be lived, energies still to be channeled. They begin—or go back to finish—college; they take jobs they had always wanted but never had time for; or they find new, time-consuming hobbies, like painting, which one young widow said "is a much more constructive way to expend your emotions than sitting around the house crying."

Widows interviewed by The Associated Press agreed that the biggest factor in the return of stability to their lives was the help that came, officially and unofficially, from the military services.

Until two years ago, a war widow often had no one to lean on except a family as immobilized by grief as she.

The military's policy on the death of a serviceman was to notify his next of kin by telegram, sometimes shoved under the front door by a Western Union messenger or a taxicab driver who had no idea what he was delivering.

Then, in 1965, Army wives at Ft. Benning, Ga., wrote their congressmen and complained loudly to military sources. The movement quickly spread across the country.

In Southern California, the Navy had begun a program of personal notification to the next of kin of Navy servicemen killed within the United States. The Department of Defense ordered the program expanded to cover deaths in all services.

Today, the armed forces have permanent staff positions not only for notification, but for post-notification assistance in collecting back pay, death gratuities, Veterans' Administration and Social Security benefits. Men assigned to this duty also make funeral arrangements, settle legal problems and even lend moral support.

The assistance is available to a serviceman's family for as long as it's needed.

"I guess you might say it's the least we can do," said Capt. Dale J. Bickert, a survivor assistance officer at Ft. Benning.

The help that the widow receives from the armed forces is not all official.

Most Army posts in the United States have an Army Community Services program staffed by service wives ready to help a new widow.

"Sometimes the women break down or the kids are running around unattended," said Mrs. Robert L. Plotts, casualty chairman for ACS at Ft. Bragg. "I fix them orange juice or give them cookies and bring meals from the ACS emergency freezer so the women won't have to cook. I've washed dishes and mopped floors. We do a little bit of everything.

"Some of these women never paid a bill in their lives, never made a decision. It's like their whole world tumbled in on them. Sometimes we recommend a social worker. If necessary, he will assist her in getting psychiatric help."

There is no organization like ACS in the other services, but the women still manage to help each other.

"The gals who have gone through it before are a tremendous help," said Lt. M. F. Willard, a chaplain at the Naval Air Station at Miramar, Calif. "They probably do as much or more than we do. They seem to find one another. One whose husband was dead a week told me, 'if you need me to go with you on a notification, it will be hard, but I'll do it if I can help.'"

But in the final accounting, the widows of the Vietnam war have to help themselves.

"It takes courage, a lot of courage," said Ruth C. Roper, 34, of San Antonio, Tex. Her husband, Capt. John M. Roper, was killed Nov. 30, 1966, when his Air Force Skyraider was shot down during a search and rescue mission over South Vietnam. The couple had two young sons.

"I decided when he left that I would do everything just as when he was here," Mrs. Roper said. "Everything organized the same. Regular bedtimes. It gives you something to hold on to.

"But the first step in getting that routine back after it was torn up by his death was very, very hard. All I had to do was get up, go into the kitchen and set the table. The food was there by the ton. I didn't even have to cook.

"Setting that table took the greatest effort I ever made. But every little thing like that helps you come back."

But the horror keeps returning.

For WAC Pfc. Carol Schwellenbach, 26, it came back in mail.

Her husband, Army Pfc. Gary Schwellenbach, was killed on a mission with the 173rd Airborne Brigade last Dec. 28.

Hate literature came to her first at her inlaws' home in Chico, Calif. Then it came to her home in Fayetteville, N.C.

"A cannibal is a barbarian," it read. "He kills one of his kind to eat. The sin is in the killing, not in the eating. We self-styled civilized people kill thousands for no cause at all which makes us a thousand times the barbarian the cannibal is."

The horror also came to Carol Schwellenbach on the telephone.

"Your husband was a murderer who deserved to die," said one caller.

It is because of such harassment that the Pentagon last year ceased releasing the hometowns and next of kin of men missing in action or captured. Their families had been most susceptible to the anonymous, profane phone calls and letters.

In addition, the Defense Department instructed these families not to talk to anyone about their personal situations.

Don't say any more than your husband would tell the enemy, nothing beyond his name, rank, serial number and date of birth, the families were told.

The instructions also are intended to protect a captured serviceman.

"Anything personal about these women can be used against the men," Chaplain Willard said. "If one said she was having a hard time—boy, would the North Vietnamese love to get that."

The widows are not so well protected, however, and many move from their homes or have their phone numbers changed for protection against harassment.

Almost as hard on many of the women as the harassment are the antiwar demonstrations. They talk about them with uncharacteristic vehemence.

"This generation has never had to sacrifice," Mrs. Roper said.

"Not for anything. They had it too good. So they thought this was a bandwagon to hop on. I think they'll look back on it some day and feel that they were pretty foolish."

Mrs. Marlowe agreed: "My husband said he knew he should be over there," she recalled. "He said it was his place. Our boys are fighting for their lives and I wonder if they don't sometimes doubt that it's worth it."

After the initial shock and grief pass, there is for the Vietnam widow a void to be filled, a new purpose to be found.

Mary Hochmuth of San Diego is the widow of the only general killed in combat in Vietnam. Marine Maj. Gen. Bruno A. Hochmuth died last Nov. 14 in a helicopter crash at Thua Thien, near the demilitarized zone. The Hochmuths were married 32 years. The sudden end of that marriage left Mrs. Hochmuth unprepared.

An Anti-Chippie House

Specially Designed

Strictly for Birds

By Peter F. Daniels
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Pettis Countians, even if they aren't bird lovers, often go out of their way to provide the purple martin a comfortable place in which to live. Martin houses are bought, hand-made and exchanged as Christmas gifts. The martins repay the favor by devouring thousands of insects, including mosquitoes, every day.

The man who has a martin house in his back yard is reasonably free from bugs during his summer cook-outs.

Putting up a martin house doesn't automatically guarantee insect-clean air. The martins aren't to blame. Chippies, sparrows if you prefer, are excessively fond of martin houses. Chippies are here all year, but martins are not. Therefore, when the martins return and find their home occupied by a family of stubborn chippies, a battle ensues. The martins sometimes lose and leave.

Martins belong to the swallow family. The American purple martin is one of the largest birds of the species. It snares its insect-dinner while in full flight and will tackle birds as large as crows when provoked.

Martins and swallows are distinguished by their narrow, tapered wings, small weak legs and feet and their habit of grabbing food on the wing.

These pictures show typical martin houses. Some Pettis Countians have come up with quite exotic creations, however. The house at the upper right was hand-made. It's noteworthy that martin houses resemble actual homes in miniature. Maybe that's because the European house martin, cousin of the American bird, won't build a nest unless it's under the eaves of a home.

Although it looks like a high-rise apartment complete with television, the picture on the lower right is a bit deceptive. The house was occupied by chippies, however.

The owner of the martin house at the upper left made sure the same thing would't happen there. He boarded the place up until it's time for the martins to return.

Martins are not excessively noisy or dirty birds. That coupled with their liking for pesky insects may explain why owners of martin houses didn't complain about the time and expense that went into putting it up.

The purple martin's routine of life carries inbred benefits to man. And during the mosquito season, that's something to be grateful for.

'Sprawl' Answer

Russia Curbs Cities' Growth By Keeping the People Out

By MICHAEL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The bright lights of the Soviet city look pretty dim to a Westerner, but to the young people in Russia's backward villages they look magnificent.

The city—in Russia as in the rest of the world—is where the action is.

But due to strict government controls, many of these rural youngsters will never feel the excitement of living in a major city.

When Soviet planners spotted the cause of "urban sprawl" they solved the problem the easy way. They sealed off the biggest, most attractive and vibrant population centers.

Moving into Moscow from a farm, a village or another city requires more cunning and devious maneuvering than most Russians can muster. The picturesque old tsarist capital of Leningrad and the Ukrainian capital of Kiev are among the other "closed" cities.

The Soviet people, accustomed to restraints that Western countries would consider oppressive, have accepted the ban and have watched it tighten gradually since the early 1950s.

Great efforts are being made to keep the Moscow city limits fixed at their present boundaries and hold down the population to somewhere near its present 6.5 million. Natural growth of families and the gradual seepage of people into Moscow by the few legal means available have caused it to grow nonetheless.

The process of obtaining living space in Moscow is so complex that it discourages all but the most strongly determined.

Anyone wishing to move to a closed city must first obtain the official residence permit—the propeeska.

The quickest way to do this is to marry somebody who lives there.

A young man wanting to move to Moscow may enter the militia academy and become a Moscow cop. After serving a fixed period as a militiaman, he is free to start a legitimate job hunt.

For others, the most common alternative is to try to find a family of Muscovites who want to move out. An exchange of apartments—and resident permits—can sometimes be arranged.

Still another method of moving into these closed cities is to convince some factory or institute that it needs you.

There is abuse of the system, but usually only for short periods. Friends or relatives can provide living space for illegal residents, but it is impossible to get a job without a propeeska.

Each apartment, moreover, is strictly watched by the kommandant, a person roughly equivalent to the French concierge, only more official and authoritative. The kommandant registers all residents of a building and is responsible for keeping out squatters.

Migration away from the countryside continues, however, shifting from the major population centers to growing areas such as Saligorsk and Volograd, where local industry can use the labor.

One of the prime motivations for this migration is the rough and uncomfortable life of the collective farm or the village, compared with city standards. City pay is higher, hours are shorter and the entertainment is livelier.

The villages have changed little in a century. Most lack paved roads or running water.

Where the migration does occur, it often robs the farms of their strong young men as the boys get city jobs. The girls, naturally, follow them into town seeking husbands.

The Communist party and the government talk of efforts to make farm life better. Most farmers now receive a guaranteed annual wage, a step toward security but not enough to make farm life attractive to all.

The difference persists, and the glitter of the city continues to cause problems in population distribution.

Strike On Its Hands

PARIS (AP) — The French government has a strike on its hands on the desolite, unihabited Kerguelen islands, about 13,000 airline miles from Paris in the Indian Ocean's subantarctic zone. The strikers, members of a small mission sent to set up scientific rocket probes of the ionosphere, want higher living allowances. The main island in the group 1,400 miles off Antarctica and 2,300 miles off southeastern Africa is called Desolation. .

Enters Air Force

Marilyn Sue Stubinger, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Stubinger, 667 East 16th, was sworn into the Air Force on March 1, by Maj. Donald R. Ruthrauff in Kansas City. A 1967 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School, Marilyn Sue enlisted in the Air Force in June and received her call this past week. She will be stationed at Lackland Air Base, San Antonio, Tex.

Keeping in Touch Can Be Expensive

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Lucille Stewart enjoys keeping in touch with her son in Vietnam. Her February phone bill was $902.

"Golly," said Mrs. Stewart, "he must have talked close to three or four hours. He talked with me and the kids and we played the latest records over the telephone."

Her son, Pfc. Earl McClendon, 20, called her collect five times in three days while on leave in Malaysia.

Student Chosen For Sigma Epsilon Sigma

Miss Paula Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edwards, 1411 West Fourth, has been initiated into Sigma Epsilon Sigma, an honorary sorority at the University of Missouri, where she is a sophomore in the school of arts and sciences, majoring in mathematics.

To be eligible Miss Edwards had to have a 3.25 grade average or above from the time she entered the university as a freshman.

California Wives Form Jaycee Belles

Wives of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce have formed an auxiliary and chose Jaycee Belles as the name of the new organization.

Mrs. Larry Davis was elected president, Mrs. Rex Snodgrass, vice-president; Mrs. Harry Harris, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Scherff, treasurer. Mrs. Kenneth Mackey is program chairman and Mrs. Phillip Carruth is historian.

The by-laws were read and adopted and possible projects were discussed.

Mrs. Don Edmonds, Mrs. Darrell Kirchner and Mrs. Ron Eichholz of the Jaycee Jills of Jefferson City, were guests.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: One of the best things about your column is that it presents proof positive——every day——that it takes all kinds of people to make a world.

I refer to the letter from the woman who called her husband a jerk because he was always knocking himself out doing favors for people. It seems she was mad at him because he leaned money, let neighbors borrow his garden tools, fixed things that broke——the list was a long one.

I wish I could trade husbands with her. She would love Harold. He refuses to lend a neighbor a screwdriver. He won't let me drive my cousin to the hospital to see her father because "I am not running a taxi service." I can't befriend a young girl who had a baby out of wedlock because "she made her bed, now let her lie in it."

Harold is a good provider. We have all the necessities and many of the comforts, but he is unable to open his heart and do an act of kindness. How can I raise our children to be generous and considerate with a father who is so selfish and cold? — ICY WINDS

Dear Icy: By being twice as generous and considerate to make up for Harold's unfortunate limitations. Make certain your husband doesn't deny you the right to do the things YOU want to do. If he doesn't wish to lend a screwdriver to a neighbor that's up to him. But if you want to befrieend a young girl who had a baby out of wedlock (or anyone else, for that matter) that's up to you.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to address a few remarks to the college student whose roommate stood on his head a lot and made terrible crashing noises when he fell to the floor. The boy may be improving his thinking processes by allowing the blood to circulate through his brain, but he may wreck his spine.

Any serious student ot the Hindu philosophy of Yoga knows that holding a position is only part of the exercise. Getting into and out of a position is of the utmost importance.

Yoga means youth. Youth means agility and grace. No exercise is done properly if there is jerking, or falling. All moves must be graceful, as if in slow motion. These slow-motion moves protect the body against injury. So please don't suggest that the roommate surround himself with pillows to fall on. Tell him to learn the correct procedure for disengaging from a headstand. — MISSOURI YOGA

Dear Miss: YOU told him and I hope the kid reads this before he breaks his neck.

Dear Ann Landers: When my wife answers the telephone and I am at home, she always asks, "Who is this?" I've told her a dozen times it doesn't matter who it is, I will talk to anybody. Some people don't like to be asked "who is this?" Furthermore, when she asks, it creates the impression that she doesn't trust me.

My wife says it is no more than good manners to identify one's self on the phone and if people are so ignorant that they don't know enough to do this, she sees nothing wrong in asking them.

Thanks for refereeing this one. — HALF GAYNOR

Dear Half: Your wife is right. It IS good manners to identify one's self on the phone, but not all people know this, unfortunately.

There's more than one way to skin a cat, however. Acaller will respond much more kindly to "May I tell him who is calling, please?" than to 'Who is this?"

Smith-Cotton Students Are Given the Business

By Carla Quinn

Where are the future businessmen, the corporation presidents, and the private secretaries of tomorrow? Many are now receiving excellent training in the world of commerce within the public school systems that are taking more and more of an interest in this field of instruction.

The past year has brought great changes and improvements to the Business Education Department of Smith-Cotton High School. As a result of the Vocational Education Act of 1963, much new equipment has been purchased for the secretarial training and the bookkeeping-accounting courses which, along with typing and general business, compose the Business Education Department.

Heading this department is Mrs. Marjorie Uhr, who also teaches a course in first and second level typing. Though no new typewriters were acquired for this course, the local school board provides the equipment necessary for adequate instruction. There are presently 45 typewriters, four of which are electric, being used by the students enrolled in Mrs. Uhr's course. The Ditto copying machine is in this classroom which is also used by Mrs. Ruby Schondelmeyer, who teaches two classes of typing.

General Business

The beginning commercial course at Smith-Cotton, general business, is instructed by Mrs. Melba Van Vickle and Miss Salome Taylor. This class paves the way for those students who wish to go on to more advanced courses and perhaps make business a career. General business provides a basic background for the more specialized fields of study.

Bookkeeping and Accounting

A very important part of the business education department is the bookkeeping-accounting course under the instruction of T. P. Purcell. This unit introduces the student to business as a vocation, for as progress is made, each student completes an actual set of books for a representative corporation. Phases of data processing are also touched upon as this field is experiencing such tremendous growth in the world today.

"Equipment used in the bookkeeping-accounting course includes 13 ten-key adding machines, and an effective wall chart which shows selected data processing information," Purcell indicated.

As a bonus to the commerce-interested highschooler, a comprehensive unit on income taxes and returns is offered. Such instruction is beneficial to the student presently as well as being valuable for later reference.

Secretarial Training

Secretarial training is another branch of the business education department of Smith-Cotton which is of primary significance. Teaching this course, which includes shorthand, is Mrs. Irma G. Keyes. The ability to take rapid dictation accurately and the development of transcribing techniques are two primary objectives of the secretarial training classes. The automatic playback feature of the equipment is only one of the excellent devices which aids the student in progressing more steadily.

This branch of the commerce department has recently acquired much new equipment which makes possible more thorough and extensive instruction. Included are 24 new secretarial tables and chairs, 12 IBM selectric electric typewriters with key punch elements so students may learn correct key-punch fingering, two full keyboard electric adding machines, four ten-key calculators, and four ten-key adding machines.

"It is really a pleasure to work with all this new equipment," Mrs. Keyes said, "for it provides much better experience for the students who really plan to go into office work. I'm sure they will be much more at ease after being exposed to such a fine opportunity."

With increasing interest of today's young people and the emergence of new horizons in the world of commerce, the Business Education Department of Smith-Cotton is bound for great improvements in the future.

"In actuality, all courses offered are essentially aiding in the instruction of the pupil in his having a better understanding of the world, which is by and large composed of people engaged in some form of business," Purcell summarized.

The businessmen of tomorrow are in the classrooms of today; thus, business education can be rated as of the utmost importance to the modern youth.

Department Prepared

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's immigration minister, Jean Marchand, told the House of Commons his department is prepared to process any increase in entry applications from Asian-origin people unable to emigrate from East Africa to Britain because of new British quota restrictions. He told questioners there had not been "any real increase" thus far.

Ex-LaMonte Man Ends Navy Career

Warren S. Hintz, formerly of LaMonte, has retired after 24 years in the Navy.

Hintz was graduated from LaMonte High School in 1943, and joined the Navy that year with the rank of ensign. A Naval aviator, Hintz served during his career in both the Atlantic and Pacific in a variety of sea and shore posts.

After retiring with the rank of lieutenant commander, Hintz and his wife, the former Mae Cook of LaMonte, and their two children took a world tour. They now live in Carmel, Calif.

Ceremony at High Noon Unites Dolores Muenks, John Kemper

A nupital mass on Saturday, February 24, at high noon, united Miss Dolores Elizabeth Muenks, and Mr. John Kemper, at Saint Andrew's Church, Tipton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert G. Muenks Tipton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Kemper, Jefferson City.

The Rev. John Fischer of Saint Peter's Cathedral, Jefferson City, officiated at the double ring ceremony and the Rev. William Walter of Saint Andrew's, served as moderator. Fred and Mark Fischer were the mass servers. Ms. George Simon, organist, played traditional wedding music as the guests were seated, and accompanied Mr. David Wolf, woloist, as he sang the bride's selection of "Ave Maria," "The Lord's Prayer," "Now Joined By God," and "Where Charity and Love Prevail."

The main altar was banked with large white chrysanthemums and white stock arranged around glowing white cathedral candles. The side altars were decorated with matching arrangements. The opening of the altar railing was flanked with two white Grecian column topped with arrangements of chrysanthemums and stock, each illumined by a single cathedral candle. The family pews were reserved by clusters of emerald leaves.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of candlelight peau de soie, designed with a florentine neckline, brief sleeves, and an A-line skirt. The bodice and sleeves were enhanced with re-embroidered Alencon lace. The hem of the skirt also carried the lace motif. Her chapel length illusion veil cascaded from a candlelightdouble Dior bow of satin, encrusted with a crystal jewel. The bride carried a classic cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, lily of the valley, and ivy foliage. She presented a single white rose to her mother and the groom's mother after the ceremony. For the traditional something old the bride wore the gold wedding of her maternal grandmother; something new was a diamond pendant, the gift from the groom; something borrowed was a white lace handerchief from the maid of honor, something blue was her garter; and she had a sixpence for her shoe.

Gowned in floor length spring squa crepe, designed with elbow length sleeves, cowl-collared neckline, featuring a full wateau back, were Miss Mary Ellen Lutz, maid of honor, Mrs. Thomas Hughes, matron of honor, Kansas City, Miss Ruth Ann Claas, Jefferson City, Miss Bunny Dean, Columbia, bridesmaids. Flowers were gardenias and talisman roses on a background of snow white branches.

Mr. Jerry Kramer, Belleville, Ill., served as best man. Groomsmen were Mr. Thomas Hughes, Kansas City, Mr. Fred Raithel, Jefferson City, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Art Worth, Columbia. Guests were seated by Mr. James Kempf, Warrensburg, Mr. Kent Stonner, Columbia, Mr. Earl Day, Boonville, and Mr. Bill Knipp.

The mother of the bride chose a pink silk shantung suit dress. The sheath dress featured a neckline of pearl and crystal jewels. The bolero styled jacket of matching fabric was desinged with three quarter length sleeves. Her accessories were of matching color. At her shoulder she wore a lavendar cattleya orchid. Mother of the groom was attired in an aqua two piece double knit suite dress of dacron with ottoman rib. A demi-fit jacket covered the A-shaped dress. She wore bone accessories and a white cattleya orchid.

Mrs. Bertha Kemper and Mrs. Helen Doehla, grandmothers of the groom, wore corsages of white gardenias.

The reception table was centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums, stock, and lighted candles. A round table ringed with smilax roping, held in place by a large white velvet bow, featured the four tiered cake embellished with white roses.

Mrs. Gary McClure, Kansas City, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. B. A. Hainen and Mrs. William Yontz were in charge of the reception. Assisting generally were Mrs. James Kempf, Warrensburg, Mrs. Gerald McGuire, Boonvile, Mrs. Albert Rackers, Columbia, Miss Chris Lock, Jefferson City, Miss Janet Kuttenkuler, Columbia, and Miss Sue Stephens, Fayette.

A dinner was given for the relatives at five o'clock at the Country Club. The bride's table was centered with a low arrangement of white chrysanthemums and stock lighted by two silver candelbra, holding five candles each. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Mary Schoen assisted by Mrs. Amandus Schoen and Mrs. Harold Mathis.

For a wedding trip of undisclosed destination the bride wore a coat and dress ensemble of shocking pink. Black accessories and a corsage or phalaenopsis orchids completed her attire.

The couple will reside in Warner Robins, Ga., where the groom is stationed with the Air Force.

Miscellaneous Shower Given for Bride-Elect

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given for Miss Marilyn Garnett, California, by Mrs. James Renick and Miss Trudy Scott, at the home of Mrs. Renick, Jefferson City.

Card games were played with prizes going to Mrs. Roy Sparks, Mrs. Liz Schlup, Mrs. Amy Luebbert and Miss Anna Humphrey. Mrs. Gerogena Hays won the attendance prize.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in white and yellow, with yellow candles flanking the centerpiece.

Miss Garnett became the bride of Gary Sparks on March 2 at the Frist Christian Church, California.

Miss Marlys L. Dunham Marries Mr. Dale Richard Schulte

Mrs. Dale Richard Schulte

White chrysanthemums and red satin bows appointed the altar at the Annunciation Catholic Church, California, as Miss Marlys Lynn Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis E. Dunham, California, and Dale Richard Schulte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schulte, Henley, exchanged nuptial vows at a noon ceremony performed by the Rev. Blaise Scheffer.

Mrs. Jerry Jobe was organist and Mrs. David Jacobs sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," and "The Wedding Prayer." Mrs. David Jacobs, Miss Janet Baker, Gary Flippin and Mike Bolin sand "Ava Maria," and "Mother at Thy Feet We Are Kneeling."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length cage dress of Chantilly lace over peau de soie. Her bodice featured a scalloped sabrina neckline enhanced with seed pearls and long sleeves tapering to points over the wrists. The chapel length train appliqued with Chantilly lace floated gracefully from just below the shoulders. Her tiered bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was edged with Chantilly lace, secured by a Chantilly lace cap edged with seed pearls. The bridal flowers were a scented cascade of white spider mums.

Mrs. David Barbour, the sister of the bride, matron of honor, wore a full length empire styled gown of crimson red velvet featuring a square neckline, with sleeves closing at the wrists. The back was designed with a Dior bow and streamers of crimson red velvet ribbon. Her headpiece was a red velvet bow with a circlet matching veil. She carried a nosegay of white chrysanthemums and red carnations intwined with greenery. Miss Marilyn Garnett and Miss Rosanne Yowell Natchez, Miss. were bridesmaids and dressed identical to the matron of honor.

John Schulte, Eugene, brother of the groom, was best man. Bill Clarkston, and Raymond Bax, of Jefferson City, acted as groomsmen. The guests were seated by Michael Schulte, Eugene, and Danny Berendzen, Jefferson City.

Flower girl, Darla Kunze, Columbia, cousin of the bride dressed identical to the other attendants. David Flippin, California, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

A luncheon reception followed the ceremony. Mrs. Larry Flippin was in charge of the guest book, while Mrs. Ronald Deatherage, Miss Betty White and Mrs. Dennis Scolby presided at the gift table.

Mrs. Donald Roll, Mrs. Donnie Flippin and Mrs. Marie Goff were in charge of the reception.

Assisting generally were Mrs. Marion Flippin, Mrs. Paul Flippin, Mrs. James Kunze, Mrs. Oliver Sieckman and Mrs. Faye Simpson.

The mother of the bride selected a navy blue silk dress with navy accessories. The mother of the groom chose a tangerine knit suit with black accessories. White orchids were worn at the shoulders.

For a wedding trip of undisclosed destination, the bride was attired in a navy blue shift with coordinating navy plaid coat. Navy accessories and a white orchid completed her costume.

The bride is a graduate of the California High School, and is employed in the Production Planning office at Chesebrough-Ponds Inc.

The groom graduated from Eugene High School and is a mechanic at Chesebrough-Ponds Inc.

The couple will reside in Jefferson City.

Sorority Has Card Party For Rushees

Members of Xi Beta Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi entertained rushees with a Valentine card party on the evening of Feb. 19th, at the home of Mrs. Del Gann.

A red rose in milk glass bud vases centered the pink covered card tables. Numerous pink ballons with red streamers hung from the ceiling and red paper hearts adorned the walls. On each end of the serving table were bouquets of red roses in milk glass vases blending with the pink linen tablecloth. Party favors of red heart shaped boxes of candy were arranged as the center piece. A dessert of cherry filled heart shaped cakes were served on Valentine decorated plates to each guest and member, with coffee. The evening was spent playing "Court Whist," with prizes going to Mrs. Mick Joy and Mrs. Rosalie Wilson. Guests attending were: Mrs. Joanne Kabler, Mrs. Edmona Mathes, Mrs. Mick Joy, Mrs. Rosalie Wilson, Mrs. Sara Melvin, Mrs. Dorothy McCaskill, and Mrs. Gloria Withers.

A short business meeting was held prior to the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Del Gann and Mrs. Jack Newby were in charge of this event.

After paring parsnips, you can cook them whole or quartered in boiling salted water. Mashed, with lots of butter added, they're delicious to serve with meat or poultry. Popular in an earlier day, this good vegetable should be reinstated in menus.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ritzo

Sandra Muller, Joseph Ritzo Exchange Vows on February 17

Wedding vows were exchanged by Sandra Grace Muller, 310 West 5th, and Joseph Loren Ritzo, at 7 p.m. on Saturday, February 17, at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Cole Camp. The Rev. William F. Schultz read the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Muller, Cole Camp, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cochran, 312 E. Chestnut.

Two bouquets of white mums adorned the altar and Mrs. Orville Heimsoth, Cole Camp, organist, played the traditional wedding march. Mrs. Melvin Heimsoth, Cole Camp, sang, "The Lord's Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Glen Muller, Cole Camp, brother of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a street length acetate nylon lace over bridal satin ensemble, with long sleeves styled in lace. Her soft white veil was shoulder length and she wore white satin shoes. A bouquet of white mums were the bridal flowers and she wore a sterling silver necklace, a gift from the groom.

Edith Ann Muller, Cole Camp, sister of the bride, wore a street length dress of taffeta with lacy jacket featuring elbow length sleeves. A bow of lace over taffeta was worn in her hair, and she carried a fragrant colonial nosegay of white pompons.

Stanley Muller, Cole Camp, acted as best man. The ushers were Gerald Muller, Cole Camp, and Jerry Sanders, 1817 West 18th.

Mothers of the couple chose white mum corsages.

At 8 p.m. a reception was held in the church basement with approximately 100 guests in attendance.

A triple tiered wedding cake, baked and served by Mrs. Kirksick, Cole Camp, sat on a lace covered table cloth with blue underlay.

Sharon Ashbrook, 215 West Tenth, and Virginia Sanders, 1817 West 18th, served the cake, with Vernell Blumhorst, 310 West Fifth, in charge of the guest book. Mary Jo Henderson, 123 State Fair Blv., and Pat Bohlken, Route 2, opened the gifts.

A white knit three piece suit highlighted with red accessories was the bride's choice as the couple left on a wedding trip to Southern Missouri. She also wore a corsage of white mums.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of Cole Camp and is a claim typist for State Farm Claims Office, Sedalia. The groom is a 1955 graduate of Green Ridge High School and is a meter repairman for the Sedalia Water Dept.

The couple is at home at Route 2.

Soldier Is Honoree At Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brownfield and Barbara held a family dinner at their home, northwest of Knob Noster, in honor of their son, Gordon Brownfield, who is home on furlough from duty at Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver, Colo.

Guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Eckles, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Powell, Janet and Sherry, Route 3, Mrs. Monta Johnson, Sedalia, and Mrs. Merle Stevens, Warrensburg.

Pfc. Brownfield enlisted in the Army in January 1967, and after completing basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, was accepted for Medical Equipment Maintenance School at Fitzsimmons. After graduating from the school he was selected to remain at Fitzsimmons in the Medical Company.

Brownfield is a member of the Fitzsimmons post basketball team, which participated in the fifth army tournament held at Fort Leonard Wood in January.

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Thompson, 1020 South Barrett, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sylvia Leone, to Mr. William Joseph Shumake, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Shumake, Windsor. The wedding is planned for March 30 at the First Methodist Church, Sedalia.

Karolyn K. Lamb, Leo R. Spears Wed in Double Ring Ceremony

Mrs. Leo R. Spears

Miss Karolyn Kaye Lamb, 1300 South Ohio, daughter of Mr. Merle C. Lamb, 1404 South Kentucky, became the bride of Leo Robert (Bob) Spears, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo R. Spears, 400 East 14th, in a double ring ceremony read at 11 a.m. February 17 at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The Rev. Father Lawrence Growney performed the vows before an altar adorned with white mums and gladioli.

Mrs. Earl Paxton, organist, played traditional wedding selections and Mrs. Al Domique sang, "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother," "Avia Maria," and "Panis Angelicus."

Servers were Tony Lock and Mike Tray, Sedalia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length A-line gown of bridal satin. Alencon lace formed the scoop neckline and shaped the elbow length bell sleeves on the empire bodice, with a detachable chapel train. Her soft veil of silk illusion fell from a coronet of tiny pearls. Her flowers were a cascade of white carnations.

Miss Evelyn Stohr, maid of honor, wore a floor length empire gown of avacado green satin. The bodice featured a scoop neckline and elbow length bell sleeves, with matching avacado green satin shoes and gloves. She wore a crown of matching face length veil and carried a crescent bouquet of pale yellow carnations.

Mr. Russell Rayl, Sedalia, acted as best man, and Mr. David Dickman and Mr. Ron Ditzfeld, Sedalia, performed the ushering duties.

The grandmother of the bride wore a three piece aqua suit with coordinating black accessories. Mother of the groom chose a two piece ensemble of navy blue with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of fresh white carnations.

A reception was held at 12:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn with approximately 100 guests present. The bride's table, covered with a white lace cloth over pale yellow, centered a three tiered wedding cake with yellow roses and white bells, topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom figures.

Miss Teresa Barr, Miss Phyllis Lock, Miss Linda Pearson, and Mrs. Leona Trout, Sedalia, served at the bride's table. Mrs. Darlene Brooks and Miss Sandy Cox were in charge of the gifts while Mrs. Helen Young, Sedalia, was in charge of the guest book.

For her wedding trip to Springfield, the bride chose a peach A-line dress on bonded wool with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride attended Sacred Heart High School and is presently employed at Universal C.I.T. Credit Co. The groom attended Smith-Cotton High School and is working at Mike O'Conner's Chevrolet and Buick Dealers.

The couple is at home at 1300 South Ohio.

Evening Ceremony Unites Connie Hinken, Gene Kurtz

Mrs. Gene E. Kurtz (Fine Art Studio)

A double ring ceremony united in marriage Miss Connie Lee Hinken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson W. Hinken, 1404 South Madison, and Mr. Gene Edward Kurtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kurtz, 720 East 14th. The Rev. Philip Bowline, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church, performed the ceremony Saturday February 24 at 7 o'clock in the evening. Twin vases of tangerine carnations and white snapdragons decorated the altar.

Mr. Danny Eckles played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. D. I. Sevier, aunt of the bride, as she sang, "Always," and "If I Could Tell You." Mrs. Sevier wore a light green suit and a corsage of all white carnations.

Lighting the candles werre Miss Kathy Rusche, cousin of the bride, and Master Dale William Hinken, brother of the bride. Miss Rusche wore an orange A-line street length dress, designed with long bell sleeves as she was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. A fabric bow of chiffon veiling held her sheer veil, and she carried a nosegay bouquet of tangerine carnations.

Miss Judy Miller, Kansas City, attendant, wore a tangerine crepe A-line street length dress with matching bow as her headpiece. Her flowers were a nosegay bouquet of white carnations.

Dresses were made by a friend of the bride in dental school, and the veil by Mrs. Julia Riley.

Mrs. Virgil Kurtz, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Ushering duties were performed by Mr. Duane Hansen and Mr. Ron McCubbin.

Flower girl was Miss Lori Jo Glenn, cousin of the bride. She wore an orange A-line dress and carried a white lace basket from which she scattered tangerine petals.

Master John Steven Heineman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Heineman was ringbearer.

Mother of the bride wore a beige two piece dress with matching accessories. The mother of the groom wore an off white ensemble. White shoulder corsages of fresh carnations completed their attires.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Glenn, 1102 South Lamine, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kurtz, 817 East 14th, were grandparents. The grandmothers wore white carnation corsages.

Miss Twyla Wadleigh was in charge of the guest book.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall with Miss Kathi Greer and Nancy Craig serving the white three tiered wedding cake, adorned with orange flowers. An all white table held orange candles and orange punch. Mrs. Lloyd Knox and Mrs. Charles Hurtt assisted at the table. Mrs. Herman Kettle and Members of WSCS were in charge of arrangements. Gifts were placed on a table also covered in white.

Assisting generally were Miss Kathy Hinken and Miss Beth Sevier, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Philip Bowline.

The bride is a 1967 Smith-Cotton graduate and the groom graduated in 1965 from Lincoln High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kurtz entertained the immediate family at a buffet supper on Feb. 23.

Karan J. Roe, Dickie L. Long Wed in Afternoon Ceremony

White candles setting in twin seven branch candelabra illumined the altar at the marriage of Miss Karan Jean Roe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Rose, 923 East 15th, and Dickie L. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Long, 202 East Jackson, at half past two the afternoon of February 25. The Rev. Cleo Gray officiated at the double ring ceremony at East Broadway Christian Church. Other nuptial decorations included two palms, a standing basket of white gladioli and blue and white carnations.

Miss Catherine Garman, 1016 East Broadway, organist, played traditional wedding selections and Mrs. Deon Maggard, 1007 West Seventh, sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Debra Roe, sister of the bride, and Renae Long, sister of the groom, were candlelighters. They were clad in pale blue brocade taffeta floor length gowns designed with short sleeves. Blue and white carnations intwined in blue ribbon were their flowers and snow white gloves set off their ensembles. Their headpieces were circular tulle with matching taffeta bows.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of hand clipped French lace over taffeta. In a traditional design, the basque bodice was styled with a scalloped scoop neckline and long tapering sleeves. From the slightly lowered waist, gathered tiers of lace formed the bouffant skirt, with a Watteau train released at the shoulder and extending to chapel length.

A coronet of pearls held her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a trailing bouquet of white carnations with blue carnations scattered throughout the fragrant bouquet.

Miss Pamela Petree, 1728 East Seventh, was maid of honor. She was sheathed in a royal blue sleeveless brocaded taffeta ensemble cascading to floor length. A circular tulle headdress with matching taffeta bow completed her costume, and she carried a round bouquet of white carnations edged in blue.

Mr. Michael Keele, Route 3, served as best man and guests were seated by Mr. Dennis Long, brother of the groom, and Mr. Edmond Shipley.

Vickie Roe, sister of the bride and Karen Long, sister of the groom, flower girls, wore dresses and headpieces identical to the maid of honor and candlelighters. Their corsages were white carnations and they carried dainty white baskets ribboned in blue, brimming with white carnation petals.

Kevin Long, brother of the groom, carried the rings.

Both mothers selected navy blue and white suits with white accessories. Flowers were frost white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement with approximately 125 guests present.

A white lace tablecloth over blue covered the bridal table that held the three tier white wedding cake enriched with tiny blue roses. Blue and white tapers also decorated the bride's table.

Mrs. Clarence Roe, Salisbury, Mrs. Bill Vaughan, Kansas City, were servers, and Mrs. Gerald Lansing, 901 East 15th, was in charge of the guest book.

Pink and white were the colors of the lacy going away dress worn by the bride for their brief wedding trip to Kansas City.

The bride attended Smith-Cotton High School and is presently a laboratory technician at Owing's Laboratory. The groom also attended Smith-Cotton High School and is now serving in the Navy.

The couple is at home in New Jersey.

Couple Honored With Reception On 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. McMullin, 506 South Quincy, were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary by their family and friends at a reception Sunday, Feb. 4, in the Fellowship Hall at East Sedalia Baptist Church.

The couple was married in Olathe, Kan., Feb. 7, 1918, and have lived most of their life in Pettis County.

They are the parents of six children, Mrs. Clarence Price, Wills Point, Tex.; Mrs. Carl R. Yessen, Overland Park, Kan., Mrs. Virgil Wills, Sedalia, Mrs. Charles McMullin, Sedalia, Mr. Carl McMullin, Duncan, Okla., and Mrs. Glen Housworth, Versailles. They also have 19 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren.

The fellowship hall was decorated in yellow and gold, with bouquets of fresh yellow roses, mums, and gladioli.

The serving table was covered with gold net over white, and centered a tiered cake enriched with yellow frosting roses, topped with gold numerals, 50. On each side of the cake were gold candles burning in silver candelabra.

Gold toned punch, cake, and mints, were served to 200 guests. Serving at the table were granddaughters, Miss Cathy McMullin and Miss Judy McMullin. Another granddaughter, Miss Linda Housworth, was in charge of the guest book.

A short service was conducted before the reception line was formed. The Rev. Medford E. Speaker, pastor of the couple, conducted the service, followed by Miss June DeWitt singing, "Oh Perfect Love."

Anna Rowland, Hugo Kollmer Vows Solemnized in February

A prelude of nuptial music was played at the marriage of Mrs. Anna Rowland, Knob Noster, and Hugo Kollmer, Greenwich, Conn. at half past ten the morning of Saturday, February 24, at the Knob Noster Methodist Chruch. The Rev. Lloyd McKemey, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The altar was enhanced by two vases holding fragrant white gladioli, white carnations, and white chrysanthemums, with glowing white tapers in candelabra, set before a dossal background.

Mrs. Merle Matthews, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Robert Rodgers as he sang, "Oh Perfect Love."

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her son, Marvin Rowland of Phoenix, Ariz., wore a three piece alabaster knit suit. She wore an orchid corsage, and carried a white Bible topped with red rose buds and pink streamers.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dameron of Chilhowee. Mrs. Dameron, who was escorted down the aisle by Martin Rowland, Warrensburg, son of the bride, wore a green knit dress, and an orchid corsage.

Miss Jane Roland, Warrensburg, granddaughter of the bride, and Miss Lee Ann Dameron, Chilhowee, were candlelighters and wore pink ensembles.

Mrs. George Talley attended the guest book. William D. Covey of Kansas City and George Talley were the ushers.

Following the ceremony, a family dinner was held at Flat Creek Inn.

Digging Out Plane Is Difficult Job

STACEYVILLE, Maine (AP) —A team digging out a Royal Canadian Navy plane that crashed near here in 1950 abandoned its difficult recovery effort Friday for the time being.

Woodsmen found the wreckage of the Hawker Sea Fury in dense forest two weeks ago. No trace of the pilot has been found.

Deep snow and heavy frost have turned the search into a mining project, Lt. Cmdr. Leslie Rosenthal, head of the Canadian team, said.

Named To Position

LONDON (AP) — Rear Adm. Peter Maxwell Compston, commander of the British military staff in Washington and liaison officer with the Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic, has been named deputy Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic, the Defense Ministry announced. He takes the job in August as an acting vice admiral.

Missing Missiles Recovered by Navy

NORTHRIDGE, Calif. (AP)— The Navy is happy—its three missing missiles are back.

College pranksters made off with a Sidewinder, a 15-foot Sparrow which requires six persons to lift and a Bullpup. Both the Bullpup and Sidewinder are 10 feet long. None contained propellants or warheads.

The missiles were taken from a promotional display at San Fernando Valley State College last Saturday.

Officials said Friday the missiles were found near the campus and would be returned to Pt. Mugu Naval Base.

Prohibits An Airport

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Iraq's Premier Taher Yahya has declared the Baghdad international airport area a prohibited zone for reasons of national security "based on the requirements of public interest." Baghdad radio reported. No further reason was given but it was noted international flights will not be affected.

MACAROONS
Mrs. R. R. Prisendorf
1018 East 5th
Sedalia

1 egg, separated
1 3 c. sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. vanilla
¾ c. quick oats
½ c. coconut
1 tbsp. melted butter
(Candied cherries or nuts, optional)

Beat egg white until foaming white and double in volume in a small bowl. Beat in 3 tbsps. of the sugar, 1 tbsp. at a time until meringue stands in firm peaks. Beat egg yolk well in medium bowl, beat in remaining sugar until fluffy light. Stir in baking powder, salt, vanilla, oats, coconut and butter; fold in meringue. Drop by ½ tsps., 1 inch apart onto greased coookie sheets. Bake at 325 degrees for 15 minutes or until firm and lightly golden. Cool completely and store in tightly covered container.

OATMEAL PIE
Miss Kathryn Rumans
512 North Monroe, Versailles

3 eggs, well beaten
2 3 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 tbsps. butter, melted
3 tbsps. milk
2 3 cup quick cooking oats
2 3 cup coconut
1 tsp. vanilla
1 unbaked pie crust

Blend all ingredients and pour into unbaked pie crust. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. This pie tastes similar to a pecan pie but is not as rich. Serve with ice cream.

QUICK CUSTARD
Mrs. Robert E. Raines
Route 2, Nelson

2 cups scalded milk
¼ cup sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
3 eggs, well beaten
½ tbsp. butter
¾ tsp. vanilla
¼ tsp. nutmeg

Method: Butter baking dish. Turn oven to 325 degrees. Scald milk, beat eggs well in large bowl, add sugar, salt, vanilla and milk slowly. Pour into greased dish, sprinkle with nutmeg. Set into a pan of warm water and bake 40 minutes. Test for doneness by pressing easily with finger. Cool and serve.

GINGERBREAD
Charley Sands
Route 2, Clinton

½ cup sugar
3 tbsps. butter
1 egg
½ cup milk
½ cup molasses
1½ cups flour
⅛ tsp. salt
1 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. soda

Cream together butter and sugar. Add beaten egg. Then add alternately the dry ingredients which have been sifted together and the mixture of milk and molasses. Pour in a buttered shallow pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 30 to 45 minutes.

GO GO CANDY
Flora Whitley
303 E. Johnson, Sedalia

2 pkgs. (6 oz.) semi sweet butterscotch morsels
1 32 oz. jar peanut butter
1 3 can condensed milk

Combine peanut butter and butterscotch morsels in top of double boiler. Stir until melted and mixed well. Remove from heat and stir in milk, mix well.

Pour in 8 inch square pan lined with foil. Cool and cut into small pieces makes about 32 pieces.

RHUBARB DUMPLINGS
Mrs. Mary Lou Shanahan
311 N. Walnut, Maryville

2 cups flour
1½ cups rhubarb, cut fine
4 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. lard
1 cup sugar
Milk to make a soft dough

Mix dry ingredients; chop in lard and butter. Add milk little at a time, making a very soft dough. Knead slightly and divide in eight equal parts, and roll and pat into rounds. Sprinkle the rhubarb with the cup of sugar, and add one tablespoonful to each round of dough; dram dough up round the fruit and pinch well to keep in fruit and juice. Place in well-buttered pan or pudding-dish, with smooth side up, adding 1½ cups of water with two tablespoons of sugar dissolved in it. Place in hot oven and bake for 45 minutes. Serve with lemon sauce.

LEMON SAUCE

1 cup sugar
2 tbsps. cornstarch

Mix together, add 2 cups boiling water, stirring constantly. Boil for 5 minutes. Then remove from the fire and add the butter, lemon juice and salt.

NEVER FAIL JELLY ROLL
Betty Greer
Hughesville

4 eggs
2 3 cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
¾ cup sugar
½ tsp. vanilla
Powdered sugar
½ cup jelly (any flavor)

Separate eggs in two mixing bowls. Beat egg whites; gradually add ½ cup sugar until peaks. Beat egg yolks; gradually add ¼ cup sugar, vanilla, flour, baking powder and salt. Gently fold yolk mixture into whites. Pour into jelly roll pan that has been greased and lined with waxed paper and the paper extending up on the sides. Bake 12 to 15 minutes at 375 degrees. Loosen edges and immediately turn upside down on a towel that has been sprinkled with powdered sugar. Quickly and carefully pull off the waxed paper. Spread cake at once with soft jelly or jam and roll up, beginning at short end. Wrap in towel until cool, about ½ hour.

NEVER FAILS PIE CRUST
Mrs. Melvin Roe
Syracuse

Sift flour and measure 2 cups, 1 teaspoon salt, cut in with pastry blender two-thirds cup crisco or shortening. In a measuring cup blend in one beaten egg with ¼ cup water. Sprinkle over flour mixture and mix lightly with fork until all flour is moistened. Enough for two quick pie crusts.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE
Mrs. R. R. Prisendorf

Tenderly, Mephistopheles

Satan's having himself quite a time these horrendous days, according to Hazel's poem across this page.

The old demon is certainly breathing fire and poking his fork vigorously to stir things up all over the world. He's a sly old devil whose activities in this respect were called to mind by the poem and also a clipping from a Salvation Army bulletin sent long ago to me by Major Marjorie Weber, former commanding officer here. She said she borrowed it from D. Ferrill whoever he is, but the letter is one that could be addressed to any church in Sedalia. Let's read it:

Dear Member:

I visited your Sunday School last Sunday and I was overjoyed to see so many empty seats. I heard some lessons that were not too well prepared and some teachers and officers and group leaders who had made no visits or contacts through the week. This made my heart jump with joy. I was so thrilled when people walked away from Sunday School — taking with them wives, husbands, and children from the morning worship service. I always tremble when they attend the preaching service, because there is a possibility that they might bolt to action.

It is always helpful to me for members of the Church to dodge their responsibility This gives me just the time to get in my Sunday punch. I am writing you this personal letter begging you to stay away from the Sunday School and Worship Services for the remainder of the month. You know I hate those cursed "High Attendance Months." They give me a pain.

Hoping to have you with me sooner than you think, I remain,

Tenderly,

Your serpent friend,

Satan

We borrowed the pix of Mephistopheles from the advertising department so youngsters could have an idea what the mean old horny-headed boogeyman looks like. Adults already know him well.

The best way to keep this fellow where he belongs down below is to help pump up Sunday school and church attendance.

Speaking about the proprietor of the hot place, here's something to help neutralize the warmth — The Iceman Cometh! This suggests that those who worry about current world conditions, may now begin worrying about the future.

Mean summer temperatures in Antarctica have apparently risen nearly four degrees since 1912, according to Dr. John H. Merder of Ohio State University's Institute of Polar Studies.

Another nine degrees and we're in trouble. For at that point, he cautions, the unstable ice of the great shelves in the western part of the down-under continent would being to melt, raising sea levels and threatening low-lying areas of the world.

If the increasing pollution of the atmosphere by carbon dioxide has the "greenhouse" or warming effect many scientists believe it has, then the trouble could start "perhaps within a century or two."

If nothing else this ought to put out the Vietnam fire finally — 100 years from now.

Satan's Reign

What is wrong with the world today
As in the balance we watch it sway?
Is it the war where lives are lost,
War where we cannot count the cost,
Is it the war or is it more?
We have had many wars before
With never a one the problems solved
And always the question why we were involved.
War and rumors of war shall there be,
Shall never from war will we be free?
What is the Civil Rights we face?
Who said that white is a superior race?
Or the red man, black man, yellow or brown
Why should the white man ever look down?
It isn't the color but what's inside
That every man should have a pride.
What rocks the world? What causes jeers?
Satan must be in his last bad years.
Think of the things that have occurred,
Our dreams gigantic, our visions blurred,
Standing on an unsteady spot,
Reaching for — we know not what,
Going with tension, working with stress,
Striving for more but getting less,
Trying artificially to find
Something to quiet the mixed up mind,
Letting go morals that have long been set,
Waking up suddenly with regret,
Feeling that nobody understands,
Taking our lives out of God's hands,
Losing the beauty in art and song,
Letting the far out take us along,
Ugly and grotesque and vulgar we find,
Things that are beautiful we've left behind;
Riots, rebellions, hatred and crime,
Satan is having himself quite a time,
So God sends disasters—one after another
Trying to bring closer man to his brother,
Will the world crumble? This do I doubt,
One day we will wake up and kick Satan out
While now we are giving him every chance,
Very soon, I believe, he will dance his last dance,
Little by little things will come back in line
And erect man will stand, noble and fine,
And place on the altar his faith devout,
Then God will move in and Satan move out,
The questioning minds who now God's love spurn
Will again see His guidance and to Him return
For the time is at hand when we will attain
Peace at the end of Satan's long reign.

DAVID POLING

Churches React Strongly To the World's Problems

By DAVID POLING

It is possible to sample the national mood by reading the sermon titles listed on the church page of your local newspaper. This may seem unscientific to pollsters like George Gallup and Louis Harris and naive to sophisticated samplers like Nielsen ratings or other wizards of consumer sentiment. But for those of us who can't afford their scholarly services and want to know quickly and honestly what's going on in Des Moines and White Plains, N.Y., I highly recommend a weekly glance at the titles for Sunday's sermons.

They tell it like it is, what's going on in the world and how the church is reacting.

I was first aware of this church-page theory when the Russians launched Sputnik. I happened to be in New York City at the time and several days after the orbiting space shot, the New York Times church page was littered with sermon titles on science, theology, international competition and comforting relevance like "Outer Space and Inner Peace."

I don't recall any space-age anthems but there were plenty of Sunday sermons on "If I Ascend into the Heavens, Thou Art There." I can't vouch for the quality of these homilies, but the contemporary tone was throbbing with a rocket boost.

The death of President Kennedy was a national calamity. The people's sorrow was expressed in memorial services, pulpit pronouncements, and sermons eulogizing the young president. At least one volume of sermons has been collected from the thousands that were preached in that bleak November.

In this time of such travail in Vietnam and soul-searching in Washington, the sermon title index is again a surprising barometer of our national condition. The other day the New York Times listed these sermons to be preached in city churches: "When Things Don't Go So Well, What Then?" (by Norman Vincent Peale); in Brooklyn's historic Plymouth Pilgrims, "Keeping Steady in a Crazy World." The same theme was heard up on the West Side with "Where Is God in Such a World?" preached at Riverside Church.

Bryant Kirkland spoke on "God and Our Violence" while Park Avenue Methodists pondered "On Coping with Frustration." With New York's garbage strike just a whiff away, Rev. Herbert Ehrenstein was frightfully current with his sermon, "Let's Get Away From It All."

Dr. Harold Bosley preached on "Devils Love a Vacuum" with this cryptic line under the sermon title—(U.N. Tour Following the Service)!

The churches around me in Westchester had somewhat the same wavelength, with a special emphasis on youth in a troubled world. At Bedford, N.Y., it was "Youth Speaks Out." The Unitarians of northern Westchester heard "The Trip to Nowhere" (drugs). Another congregation heard "Can Anyone Over 30 Be Trusted?" while another sermon was entitled "In Defense of Student Protests."

There are, of course, some violent deviations from my sermon title theory: One Yogi Gupta had his topic, simply, "Grow Vitamins in Your Kitchen." Another pastor broke the mood with "If George Washington Were President Today."

If you can't hear the sermon, at least read the titles.

(The Rev. Poling is associate editor of the Christian Herald.)

Pierre Jais is the greatest bridge player in France and one of the greatest in the world. Unlike many great tournament players he prefers rubber bridge to duplicate.

He played today's hand some years ago in a rubber bridge game. He uses it to describe how a man who is alert to what is going on around the table can profit by it.

His own story is that when West opened a club East shrugged his shoulders a trifle as if to say, "What can you do with such a partner."

This didn't affect the early play. Jais took his ace of clubs and finessed hearts unsuccessfully. East returned a heart. Jais took dummy's ace and led a heart to his own hand to pull East's last trump.

At this point Jais went back to that shrug by East and also to East's double of six hearts. Obviously East wasn't doubling on his king of trumps. He must have been using a Lightner slam double to ask for an unusual lead. It might have been for a spade but a diamond lead would have been even more unusual. Of course, East had wanted a diamond lead.

There is a normal safety play with this diamond holding which is to lead the king first. Then if East did show out the double finesse would be marked. Jais started to lead the king, then noted that if he did that West could play the 10 of diamonds on the second lead of the suit and Jais would have to lead another trump to get back to his own hand. He could run diamonds and discard a spade but would be left with a losing club.

Desperate measures were necessary. Jais knew that he would look mighty silly if the play he intended to make went wrong but he wanted to make his slam. He took a deep breath and led a low diamond toward dummy. West did the best he could. He played his seven of diamonds but Jais finessed dummy's nine!

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Brain Diseases in Terms Layman Can Understand

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What are encephalopathy of the midbrain, cerebral arteriosclerosis and bilateral epididymitis?

A—Encephalopathy is any degenerative disease of the brain. The midbrain is the brain stem which lies between the cerebrum and the spinal cord. Cerebral arteriosclerosis is hardening of the arteries in the brain. Epididymitis is an inflammation of a part of the testicle. Bilateral means on both sides.

Q—I have cerebral arteriosclerosis and am very dizzy. Is there a drug that will help this condition? What is the prognosis?

A—Although there is no cure for this disease, in some victims the dizziness subsides in time. The outlook is uncertain because, although the natural progress of the disease is slow, complications may occur at any time.

Q—My daughter has acanthosis nigricans. What causes it? Is there any cure?

A—In this disease, patches of deep pigmentation are symmetrically located in such areas as the armpits, groin and under the breasts in women. About half of the cases are benign and half are associated with cancer in one of the internal organs. Most cases with the onset in childhood are benign. The malignant cases usually have their onset in adults who are past 50, but not all cases in such adults are malignant. Whether there is malignancy in your daughter's case is a matter your doctor must determine.

Benign cases may be caused by an imbalance in the glands of internal secretion. A few are caused by taking large doses of niacin or stilbestrol. There is no specific treatment. The doctor treats the cause if it can be identified.

Q—My son, 22, has had hemospermia for four years. What causes it and is there a cure?

A—Blood in the seminal fluid is usually associated with chronic inflammation of the seminal vesicles. What causes the inflammation should be determined by a urologist. He would treat the condition by trying to remove the cause but the longer the duration, the more difficult it is to effect a cure.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Deposed But Convincing War Lord

By JACK ANDERSON

PLEIKU — Of the four South Vietnamese war lords, the most controversial was Vinh Loc. I visited with him shortly before the Saigon government, under U.S. pressure, fired him as corps commander.

At six-feet-two, he is a giant among a race of small men. His appearance is as impressive as his height. He is handsome, dashing, debonair. From the blue silk scarf tucked in at the neck to his polished black paratrooper boots, he is the Douglas MacArthur of Vietnam.

Here in the central highlands, Vinh Loc has been supreme. His troops, among the best in the country, have enforced his will throughout the Second Corps area. It is still a question whether he will bow to Saigon's will.

His dismissal was ordered after repeated complaints from American authorities that he was siphoning off U.S. aid into his own pocket.

Vinh Loc candidly discussed with me his powers as a potentate and the charges of corruption against him. He spoke in English with a tantalizing, appealing accent, dramatizing each point with expressive gestures and facial contortions. Now and then, he leaped to his feet, strode to a wall map and struck some feature in his territory with a long, black pointer.

"I wear two hats," he explained. "My first hat is military commander. I have a second hat as governor of my corps area. That is why they call me war lord. It is better to call me overlord."

He explained that all the province and district chiefs were military officers.

"How to deal with these people if I am not military?" he asked with a shrug of his facial muscles.

—Exasperating Red Tape—

"If you wait until the wheels of government turn," he added, referring to the Saigon government, "it is so far, so long. Many decisions you must make right away instead of sending notes to Saigon and getting answers four or five weeks later."

He held his head in his hands and rolled his eyes to illustrate what he meant about the exasperations of bureaucracy.

In wartime, he said, "we need decisions right away. There is no time to wait for Saigon. I command; I hit the enemy; I solve the problems. So people will have confidence in me, so people will run to me."

He reconsidered his objection to being called a war lord.

"I think," he said, smiling engagingly, "war lord instead of bad nickname is good nickname. I like this very much, because we are making war."

He recognized that "democratic people are afraid of such powers," but recalled that Congress had granted President Roosevelt special wartime powers during World War II.

"It takes a dictator to run a war," Vinh Loc declared. "We need war lords who can deal right away with the problems. If the problems are not solved, the people will listen to the Communists."

First priority should be given, he said, to achieving results. Otherwise, "the Communists will solve the problems for us."

The 42-year-old Vinh Loc, whose name literally translated means Prince Loc, talked frankly about his royal heritage and inheritance. His father, a cousin of the Emperor Bao Dai, was a minister in the Imperial Court. In 1946, the Communists captured him, held him hostage for a year, then executed him. The widow, now 75, still draws a huge pension from the government, Vinh Loc said.

—"Corruption is Customary"—

He acknowledged that, despite his family wealth, the government had sent him to schools in Vietnam, France, Germany and the United States.

He also acknowledged that corruption is "a serious problem" in South Vietnam, but warned that the Communists had sought to destroy effective leaders by spreading stories that they were corrupt. He pointed out, too, that customs are different in Vietnam and the U.S.

It is customary for Vietnamese to give gifts, he said, to government officials who perform services for them.

"If you try to help people," he said, "they will send you gifts. Western people call this corruption. Here it is considered sentimentality."

He cited the case of his own mother, who kicks back 25 per cent of her pension to the treasury officials who prepare her monthly checks.

"This is a large amount of money," explained Vinh Loc. "I bring her this check from the government and I tell her, 'Why don't you keep this? It belongs to you. You don't have to give part of it back to the government officials.'

"But she always tells me, 'Aw, boy, you don't know. It was a lot of effort for these people to get this money.'"

The war lord lifted his eyebrows in an expression of hopelessness, to indicate how hard it is to change an old lady.

"We cannot rub out this habit right away," he said, and he quoted a Vietnamese proverb: "The laws from the Emperor must not be stronger than the habits of the villagers."

He agreed, however, that officials who extort payments from the people must be punished. On the question of reforms, however, Vinh Loc suggested that they should be tested on a small scale first.

Meanwhile, Vinh Loc made it clear he would brook no interference from Saigon in his domain. This may be one reason President Nguyen Van Thieu finally forced a showdown. It remains to be seen, however, whether South Vietnam's most spectacular war lord will step down without a fight.

Looking Backward

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Inventory of the estate of the late C.E. Ilgenfritz was completed and filed in probate court. Appraisers listed personal property, including stocks, bonds, cash deposits in various banks at $209,138. 70; real estate, $168,575; total, $377,713. 70. Herbert W. Mason, Charles R. Gentry and Herbert L. Zoernig were appraisers and William M. Ilgenfritz, a nephew, administrator.

Forty Years Ago

The commission-city manager form of government was highly commended by Eugene Brasfield, who recently came to Sedalia from West Plains to be the Pettis County farm extension agent. He said that West Plains had the city manager form of government and found it a decided success.

Ninety Years Ago

A gay Don Juan from Cole Camp pressed his attentions on a "fair blonde" in the classic precincts of Sedalia. She did not hide him in a cave but sent for her big brother to hide him with a cow skin whereupon he hied himself back to Cole Camp.

Why the Curtain Closed

Third-graders in an Ohio school were reading about the reopening of Ford's Theatre in Washington. They were asked why they thought plays were not shown there for so many years.

Submitted one little lad:

"After Lincoln was killed he could not come any more."

Well, that's true enough.

NAMED BY INDIANS

The Sioux Indians called the Black Hills of South Dakota by that name because the slopes were covered with thick pine forests, which made them appear black from the plains.

BERRY'S WORLD

"... So it goes with the war in Vietnam and the war on poverty, but Miss Furness says we're winning 'the battle for the consumer'!"

* * *

The unemployment rate for the nation in January was at a new low for recent years — and a contributing factor might be the number of those drawing pay checks while managing to escape doing anything productive.

Preachers' Plight, Too

It could happen, and many hope it won't, but the clergy of this country could emulate the striking teachers, the nurses, social workers and other professionals who have long been regarded as dedicated public servants in rebellion against their financial status.

According to the National Council of Churches, the ministerial median is under $7,000 a year. The problem of adequate subsistance is not confined to Protestant clergymen but extends also to rabbis and to a different degree to priests of the Roman Catholic Church and those of Eastern orthodoxy.

There has been considerable improvement in and for the clergy in the form of better salaries, new pension systems, medical programs and social security but the majority of men and women of the cloth remain grossly underpaid. Some church members are eager to sacrifice a little to supplement the minister's salary. Many of them contend that he gets a free manse, with maintenance, car allowance, discounts at various stores and hospital rates, so that he should be able to bring up his family with a good standard of living.

It has only been a generation or two ago when many of the clergy were "paid in kind" and relied upon "manna from heaven" or a Lady Bountiful to supplant their meager incomes. Salaries for city and urban areas have been increased but in many rural areas, an itinerant preacher must serve several congregations in order to make a living wage. He is often an underprivileged citizen unless he demands a decent standard of living for himself and his family. Many congregations are recognizing this and are willing to provide adequate compensation for the man who must not only be a good preacher, but a good administrator and minister to the spiritual and often physical needs of his flock.

18th Annual Lions Club Tourney To Get Underway

The 18th Annual Sedalia Lions Club Independent Basketball Tournament gets underway at 6:45 Tuesday at the Smith-Cotton high school gymnasium. The 16-team bracket has been completed, bringing to Sedalia some of the best independent teams in the western half of Missouri.

The 1967 Tournament Champions, the S & M Sporting Goods of Sedalia, are in, with some well-known college players on the roster. They include Bud Vallino, Ron Monney, Warre, Maurer, Frank Chipala, Bob Irwin, Marshall Bryan and Cozel Walker, all former Central Missouri State stars; Gary Richert of Lakeland, Wis.; Bob Marek, Maryville; and Frank Mavis, Bradley, an All-Missouri Valley star.

Empire Bank of Springfield, winner of the 1968 Warsaw Lions Invitational Tournament, has entered. This team is coached by Bob Van Natta, former coach at the University of Missouri and West Point. This team also has an array of cage stars.

Columbia's old faithfuls for the local tournament are coming back. The Stags, headed up by some former M.U. players including Gus Otto, a football star at M.U. now playing pro-football in California, heads up that team. The Heidelberg Inn—Hamm's, likewise have a list of M.U. Tigers including a former Smith-Cotton star and more recent with the M.U. Tigers, Jim Chapman and several other former M.U. players.

"Old" reliable M. D. "Ike" Isenhauer will be in action with his "K.C. Rimrockers." "Ike" has played in about every tournament the Lions have sponsored and has as much fun each year as he did at his first.

Also listed among the returnees is the Kansas City Raiders who placed third in the '67 tourney in Sedalia. This team beat the Stags. Their record for this season at entry time was 19-2.

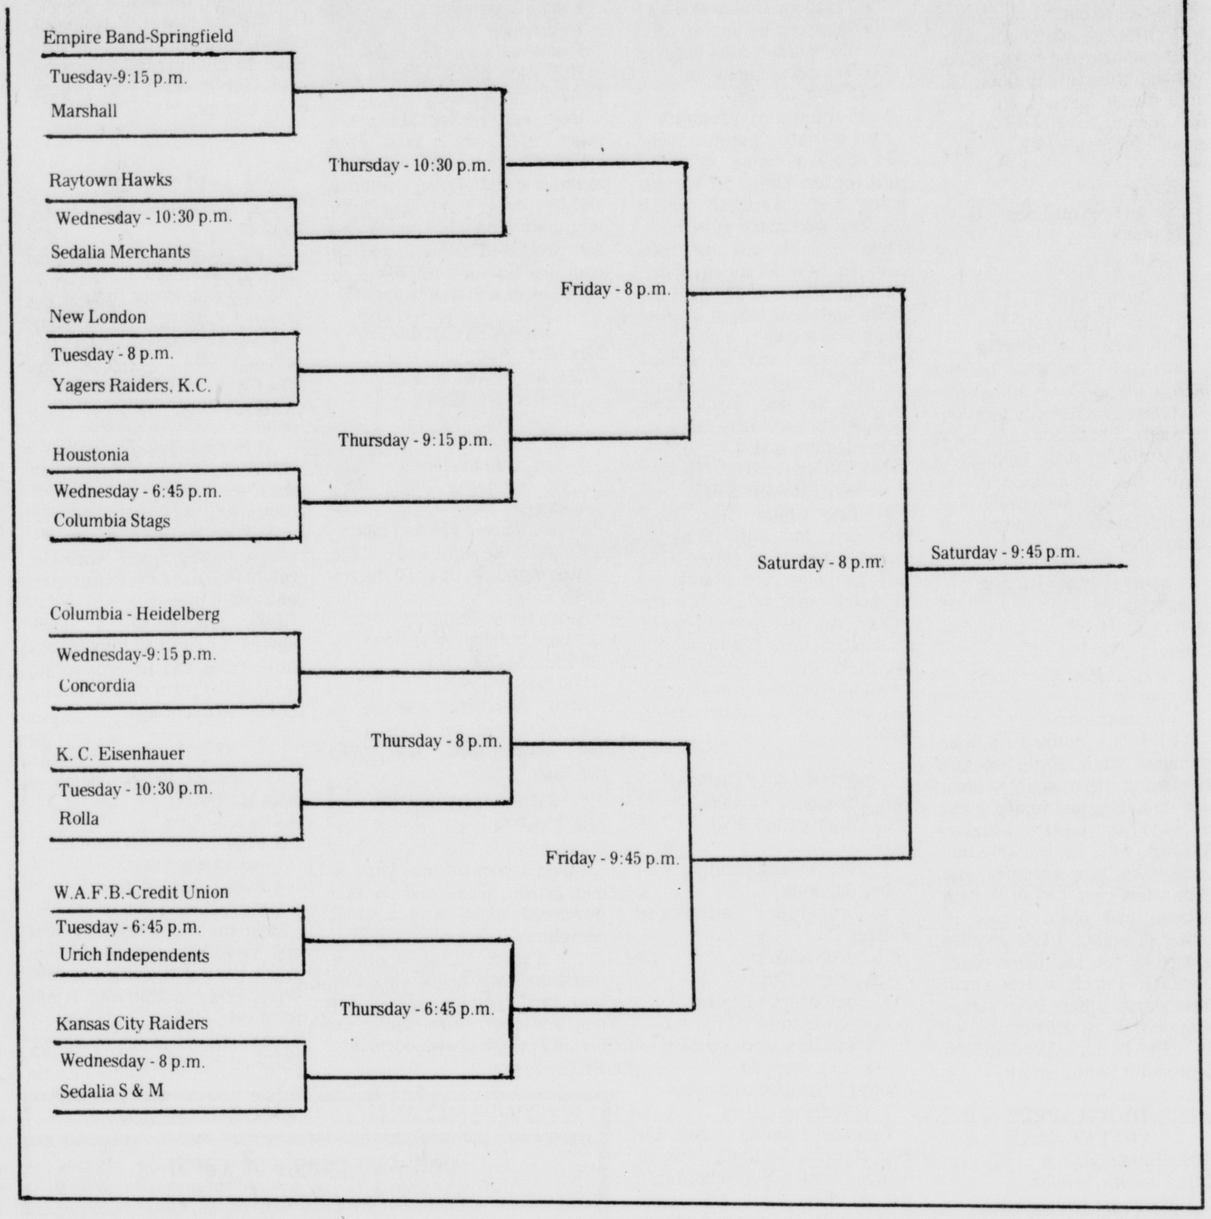
The Urick Independents have the Hills brothers on their roster, Marvin and Fred, and has a well-balanced team.

The Rolla Merchants, carrying a full roster, is invading the local tournament this year. The team is spearheaded by Marvin Reynolds, player-coach from St. James.

Probably one of the surprise teams on the bracket is that of the Parsons Construction Co., New London, Mo., which boasts a squad of former college stars and high school stars. All American Dewayne Bond, Curt Day, of Central College now Montgomery City is the coach.

Yager Raiders, another new entry, has a strong roster, boasting the support of Don Woodworth of Wichita State, who also played for the Kansas City Steers several years ago, Art Shelton, West Virginia Tech, named on the Little All-American in 1963, and numerous others.

Bob Nightwine, Marshall, is back with his Nightwine Body Shop, with some former Missouri Valley stars, headed up by Coach Yarbrough. The Valley players are Chuck Smith, Tom Malters, Don Malters and C. L. Henke. Wally Franks of Kansas State and later the Phillips 66 Oilers; and Coach Kugel.



Freshmen May Now Compete In Big Eight Conference

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Big Eight voted Saturday to permit freshmen to compete in all varsity sports except football and basketball, effective with the 1968-69 school year.

The vote of the faculty representatives was 6-2 with Missouri and Nebraska against. In the past, the faculty men had unanimously turned down frosh competition, but the NCAA at its national convention in January voted by a narrow 163-160 to permit freshmen to compete in NCAA championship meets.

Some major conferences have permitted frosh competition in Spring sports in recent years but their member schools had to leave the freshmen behind in NCAA meets.

In spite of the NCAA action, the Big Ten is holding the line against frosh competition. The Pacific Eight recently voted to stay with the Big Ten, but noted that it likely would change if the NCAA reaffirms the rule in January, 1969.

The Big Eight action might swing the pendulum nationally.

Rising costs of maintaining separate freshmen teams and transportation to play complete frosh schedules, plus the need to recruit against leagues allowing freshmen to play were the factors cited by those in favor of the new rule.

Those against believe first year men need time to get adjusted academically and feel the new rule will lead to reduced participation and even more emphasis on the few gifted athletes.

In another action, the Big Eight voted an extra year of eligibility for Don Pfrimmer, outstanding Oklahoma linebacker. As a first semester freshman in the fall of 1965, Pfrimmer took part in just five plays for Trinity University at San Antonio, Tex.

The NCAA rule is that a semester at a four-year schpp, with a male undergraduate enrollment of under 1,250 doesn't count for athletes competing in NCAA tourneys. Trinity is such a school.

The Big Eight had no such rule and Commissioner Wayne Duke had no choice in December but to deny Pfrimmer an extra year. The Big Eight at this meeting adopted a proposed rule similar to the NCAA's. It won't be formally adopted until May.

Duke said the athletic directors and football coaches voted unanimously to recommend Pfrimmer be an exception.

The commissioner also said the Big Eight is concerned about "deplorable trends in crowd behavior" at basketball and football games.

Duke has issued a memorandum directing that both teams be withdrawn from a court if debris halts the action. This is the same plan adopted as a result of orange throwing at Oklahoma during the Kansas game last fall.

The commissioner also believes the officials and coaches can do more to halt the trend. Asked how many technical fouls have been called this season, Duke replied: "Not enough."

Basketball coaches have been directed to come to the May meeting with some specific idea tn crowd control.

Duke said the Big Eight will distribute to member schools about $762,400 in football and basketball television revenue, and the profits from the league basketball and track meets. About $524,000 of this is football TV money.

Sport Scraps

By D. Kelly Scruton

TIME has arrived for the annual Sedalia Lions Club Invitational Basketball Tournament—the 18th to be exact—and the passing 12 months have been fast and furious. Actually it doesn't seem any longer than a month or so ago that the Tournament was held.

From information I have received from "Wink" Ream and John Mais on the tournament entries fans are in for some excellant basketball this year. The 16-team single elimination bracket has attracted some of the best in independent teams.

Yes, there will be many famliar faces on the court during these five nights starting Tuesday. One in particular is "Ike" Eisenhauer who is bringing to town the Kansas City Rimrockers. I may be wrong but I believe Ike has been in better than 90 percent of the local tournaments, and he is still playing, not as long in each game but just as hard. Of all the basketball coaches and players, Ike would be greatly missed if he didn't show up.

If the Empire Bank of Springfield, winner of the 1968 Warsaw Lions Tournament several weeks ago. and the S & M Sporting Co., teams last out to the finals, one can bet this will be a terrific game. The Bank is the top team in the upper half of the bracket and S & M is top on the lower half of the bracket and it could be possible they might meet, but both have three games each to play and win to reach the finals.

Gus Otto, former University of Missouri Tiger athlete now playing pro football in California, has made many friends in Sedalia in his appearance here in past tournaments. Gus is coming back with the Columbia Stags.

The Lions are hoping and working hard to make this their best and best attended. Monies derived from the tournament are used to promote their projects and activities for the blind and children.

As usual the tournament will be played in the Smith-Cotton high school gymnasium, east of the high school.

It is good to learn Sedalia is going to be represented at Central Missouri State in fottball the next few years. Lee Deal, it was learned has chosen CMSC to attend college. Two other Missouri boys with excellent high school reputations in football also will attend the college, in Steve Richardson, Mt. Vernon, and Larry Lewsader, Scotts City.

Lee 5' 11", 190-pound, played both offensive guard and defensive linebacker for the Smith-Cotton Tigers, and served as co-captain. Deal was All-Confernece, All-District, and on the third unit of the All-State. He plans to major in physical education.

Richardson and Lewsader are both Mt. Vernon High School football standouts. Richardson, 6', 210 pound, 18-year old offensive guard and defensive linebacker, was an All-Conference and All-District selection last year. He is also planning to major in physical education. Lewsader, 6'1", 190 pound, 18-years old, was an offensive fullback and defensive end and was an All-Conference, All-Ozark, and All-State selection last year and was votted the game's outstanding defensive player.

The trio are the latest to accept athletic scholarships at Central Missouri State.

K-State Continues Victorious

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — The front-running Kansas State Wildcats came from behind in the final eight minutes of their regionally televised Big Eight Conference basketball game and soundly beat Colorado 67-56 Saturday afternoon.

The victory kept K-State ahead of the pack in the Big weight with a 9-3 season record. Colorado has won only three conference games.

Nick Pino, Earl Seyfert and Steve Honeycutt lead K-State to pictory. The loss of Colorado's Kermit McMurray and Mike Rebich on fouls midway through the last half doomed the Buffaloes.

Pino and Honeycutt tied for scoring honors for K-State with 17 points apiece. Colorado's Pat Frink was high with 18 points.

Seyfert's follow shot with just a little over six minutes remaining pushed K-State ahead 55-51 but Colorado bounced back to a 55-55 tie on two quick field goals by Scoopy Smith and Frink.

Then Pino hit a jumping turn shot and moved K-State ahead 57-55. The Wildcats scored 10 more points in the final four minutes while Colorado added only a free throw.

K-State had a 44 per cent shooting average against Colorado's 38 percent.

Hayes Passes 1000 Mark For Season

HOUSTON (AP) — Player of the Year Elvin Hayes passed the 1,000-point mark for the season by pouring in 51 and leading unbeaten No. 1 Houston to its 28th straight victory, 120-79 over Virginia Tech Saturday.

The Cougars, 27-0 this season, fell behind 7-0 to trail the smaller Gobblers, but with Hayes scoring his team's first seven points they sooned gained the lead.

Once ahead, the Cougars dominated the game. Hayes not only dominated the scoring but controlled both boards.

Mantle Begins 18th Yank Season

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees couldn't keep Mickey Mantle down on the farm 18 years ago. And home cooking is still a cold weather luxury for the grown-up kid from Oklahoma.

Mantle, the Yankees' slugging senior citizen, begins his 18th major league season next month. He signed his sixth $100,000 contract last week at the club's spring camp and recalled how it all began—on a train trip to Washington.

"We were going down there to open the season after playing three exhibitions against Brooklyn," Mickey said. "I still didn't know where I was going to wind up. I hoped it'd be Beaumont, Tex., because it was close to home and Harry Craft was managing there."

The year was 1951, third year of Casey Stengel's reign as manager of baseball's dominant force. Dan Topping was the boss and George Weiss the general manager as the Yankees launched their drive for another pennant.

Mantle, then 19, had torn apart Class C pitching the previous year, batting .383 with 26 homers and 136 runs batted in for Craft's Joplin, Mo., club. But he'd been in professional baseball for just two years, and he expected to be shipped out before the start of the season.

"Then, on the train, Casey came over to me and said they were going to keep me," Mickey remembered. "A little later, I went into the dining car with Mr. Topping and Mr. Weiss and signed the contract.

"I got $7,500. The minimum was $5,000, but Casey talked them into giving me a little more. There was a retroactive clause where I'd get the full $7,500 if I stayed with the Yankees all season. I got sent down to Kansas City in the middle of the year, but I came back up and collected the $7,500."

Mike Burke, the current club president, was moviemaking in Italy when Mantle ambled aboard the Yankee express — a shy country boy with the wrists and shoulders of a dock walloper and blazing speed to burn. Ralph Houk, now the field pilot, was Stengel's third-string catcher and Lee MacPhail, the present general manager, was head of the Yanks' farm system.

Last Tuesday, after Burke, Houk and MacPhail rolled out the red carpet for their 36-year-old superstar, sole survivor of a fallen Yankee dynasty, the GM confessed he had Mantle ticketed for another season in the minors in 1951. "I was a little irritated when they kept him up," said MacPhail, tongue deep in cheek.

"This winter I just golfed and fished—not much of anything else," he said. "We opened a chain of eating places back home called the Mickey Mantle Country Kitchens. For one dollar, you get your choice of ham hocks and beans, chicken and dumplings, Irish stew — or pot luck.

Mantle also is in the real estate business in Texas. "We have a development called Mantle Manors at Cedar Lake, about an hour's ride outside Dallas," he said. "We started with 500 lots, but there's only about 150 left. You'd better hurry if you want one."

Despite his back-home business ventures, it appears likely that Mantle will remain in baseball — possibly as a Yankee radio-television commentator — when his playing days are over.

That time could be fast approaching, but Mickey is not looking forward to it. "I'd like to keep playing," he said. "When I do quit, it will be an awful hard thing to do."

Of immediate concern to the muscular switch-hitter is helping the Yankees climb back into contention from their ninth-place finish last fall. "I think we can move up," he said. "The main thing is the American League is so close."

The Great Experiment of 1967—Mantle's shift from the outfield to first base—proved successful beyond expectation for the Yankees. But the season ended in disappointment for Mickey, despite a relatively healthy summer, after so many injury-shortened campaigns.

He played in 144 games—tops on the club — but batted only .245—his career low — with 22 home runs and 55 RBI. "I can't do any worse," he said. "I was afraid to ask for a raise. I'm lucky to be getting the same thing as last year."

The 22 homers sent Mantle into fifth place on the all-time list with a career total of 518—behind Babe Ruth, Willie Mays, Jimmy Foxx and Ted Williams. He should pass Williams (521) and Foxx (534) this season.

Mantle will settle for 125 games and about 30 homers in 1968, he says. He admits, however, that it's getting harder to reach the seats—particularly in cavernous Yankee Stadium. "They might have to build a fence across center field," he quipped.

Confirm Jurgenson Pass Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins won his first passing championship in the National Football League in 1967, the final statistics confirmed Saturday.

The star quarterback ranked high in all four categories on which the title was based. He was first in touchdowns with 31, and lowest percentage of interceptions with 3.1, second in percentage of completions with 56.7 and seventh in average yards gained for each pass attempt, 7.38.

Jurgensen also set league records for attempts, 508; completions, 288, and yards gained, 3,747.

Baltimore's John Unitas led in percentage of completions with 58.5 while Green Bay's Bart Starr, the 1966 passing leader, was first in average gain with 8.68 last season. Unitas was the runner-up for the passing title.

Geneva—Peggy Fleming and her Italian coach, Carlo Fassi, react joyfully as judges announce she has won the women's figure skating championship here Saturday. The 19-year-old Olympic champion from Colorado Springs won by a wider margin than any girl ever before in capturing her third straight world championship. (UPI)

Peggy Fleming Tops Skaters

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Peggy Fleming, the United States' dazzling ice queen, added a third straight world championship to her Olympic figure skating gold medal Saturday, then announced a marriage is in the offing.

"Yes, there is a marriage in the making," the 19-year-old said after completing her international sweep. "But I can't tell you anything more about it."

She also admitted she has had offers to join professional ice shows. But she also said she has a chance for a four-year scholarship and didn't say which she would choose.

Miss Fleming's triumph came as no surprise. She had built up such a lead in the earlier compulsory figures that someone would have had to steal her skates to keep her from winning the crown again.

Following the compulsory figures, each of the nine judges rated her first, giving her a perfect ordinal score of 9.0. The 19-year-old ice ballerina also had an imposing bulge in total points, 1,209.7 to 1,134.8 for runner-up Gabriele Seifert of East Germany.

Peggy had done the same thing on the way to her gold medal at Grenoble, piling up an insurmountable lead in the compulsory figures and then outclassing the rest of the competitors in the free skating.

In Saturday's performance, she maintained her 9.0 ordinal score, finishing well ahead of Miss Seifert, who had a score of 19.0. In total points, Miss Fleming amassed 2,269.7 points for an 89.9-point triumph.

Never in a women's world championship has anyone finished so far ahead.

Weight Training In Gear At S-C

By Dee Ellison

With faces flushed and muscles bulging under the strain of weights, 55 Smith-Cotton male athletes are now engaged in a daily program of weight-lifting as off-season training for any boy not participating in a seasonal sport.

"S-C's weight-lifting program is basically an advanced physical fitness course," remarked Coach "Chuck" Shelton, head of the Tiger weight-lifting program. "We actually don't coach the boys whatsoever," explained Shelton, "because we feel that this course is primarily for personal physical improvement, and should not be forced."

This group of sophomores, juniors, and seniors meets in the locker room and old gym during sixth hour every day to train with both the weights and exercise. Because of the large number of boys out for this program, the athletes are divided into two sections which alternate activities.

On Mondays and Wednesdays one group works out with the weights in the boys' locker room, while the second division engages in agility drills and form running in the gymnasium. Then on Tuesdays and Thursdays the program is reversed, so that each boy gains equal experience in both areas.

As a final check-up and stimulus, the program winds up each Friday with a type of test on the number of repetitions each can do, and a "weigh-in" to record the weekly weight of the boys.

Noticeable Improvement

"I definitely agree that the boys have made a great deal of progress," exclaimed Shelton; "I would judge about 25 per cent improvement in overall strength on an average basis. We have yet to weigh our bulk, however."

The boys participate in six basic exercises which include lifting the following weights: Bench press, 185 lbs.; squats, 230 lbs.; rowing, 150 lbs.; toe lifts, 240 lbs.; curls, 90 lbs.; and neck isometrics which develop neck muscles as a result of the participant pressing his forehead against an immovable object for six seconds. Shelton commented that all boys lift the same weight which consists of three sets of 15 repetitions. Since the program was initiated, the increment weight lifting total by the 55 boys has increased 150 lbs. each night.

Smith-Cotton's weight lifting program began soon after the termination of football season, and will continue throughout May until the end of the school year.

Weight-lifting is not a competitive sport in Sedalia as such, for there is no contest between S-C and other schools; however, the boys sometimes have competition among themselves, which often acts as a spur for further advancement.

"Some of the boys get a big kick out of the fact that several can lift more than boys older and heavier than themselves, but it's all in fun," grinned Coach Shelton. "High school athletics is becoming a year-round program—when not involved in sports, certain conditioning must take place."

Participating in six main different types of exercise, these determined athletes are striving for the individual strength, weight, and quickness that can only be achieved in the off-season.

A Necessary Program

Coach Shelton described his views on the overall activity in this way: "In our program, we try to develop the muscles and agilities needed in competition athletics. At the same time, however, this fitness program serves a second purpose in affording the opportunity for an advanced physical fitness course for boys who are better prepared than non-athletes."

Coach Max Fields supervises as Ron Keyes assists Mike Herbst, both S - C juniors, in an exercise and drill involving rowing motion. It sure doesn't look as simple as the normal kind of rowing!

Tag Team Championship Up For Grabs Tuesday

The North American tag team wrestling championship will be on the line at Convention Hall when the uncrowned Kingpins—Ronnie Etchison and Klondike Bill—tackle Bob Geigel and Bob Brown.

The best-of-three falls event will headline a four-match program.

While Brown and Geigel are the official holders of the title, Etchison and his partner figure they have a let on the crown by virtue of being the only pair to defeat the two. That occurred several weeks ago in Kansas City, Kan.

Their reign was brief, however, as Geigel and Brown slugged their way to a return decision and took over once more. It was Etchison's contention that Geigel had used a heavy piece of metal to hit him with, but Referee Bob Blunt apparently failed to witness the incident and declared Geigel and Brown the winners.

Matchmaker Gust Karras said Etchison and Bill specifically requested the title match be held in Sedalia where the two have a large following. To get Geigel and Brown to agree, Karras said, he had to sweeten their guarantee.

Two referees will work Tuesday's action, thus assuring a closely watched match and cutting down any possibility of what Etchison claimed took place before.

Kentucky Wildcats Defeat Vanderbilt

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Six free throws in the final minute of play gave Kentucky an 85-80 victory over Vanderbilt Saturday in a lack luster Southeastern Conference Basketball game.

The NCAA-bound Wildcats blew the 10-point lead they held early in the first half as Vanderbilt took an 80-79 lead with 2:55 to go.

But two free throws by Dan Issel and four by senior Gary Gamble sewed it up for the fifth-ranked Wildcats.

Issel hit seven of 18 field goals to lead Kentucky with 23 points. Sophomore Mike Pratt and senior Tommy Porter added 16 each.

Vandy's Bob Warren, who scored on nine of 15 from the field, topped the Commodores with 23 while Kenny Campbell added 21.

The victory for the SEC champions ended their regular season at 21-4 over-all and 14-3 in the conference. Vandy now is 19-6 in all games and 11-6 in the SEC with one game to go.

Nominations For Derby Are Underway

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The most successful owner in Kentucky Derby history—and two of the most patient—head the list of nominators for the 94th running of the $125,000-added classic, set this year May 4.

Only five short of the all-time record, 191 names were dropped in the box at Churchill Downs for a shot at the path that leads to glory in the winner's circle of America's most famous horse race.

There can be no supplemental nomination.

With Wheatley Stable's Vitriolic apparently prone to ailments of various kinds and no other clear cut favorite in sight, every 3-year-old with even mediocre credentials wants to be eligible.

The 191 who paid the $100 nomination fee missed by only five the record set in 1928, when the Derby's largest field, 22, went to the post for the 1¼-mile event.

Brundage Acts In Olympic Crisis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Avery Brundage has changed his mind and taken the first step toward acting on the Olympics' South African problem, but the amateur athletic world is still at least two more steps and maybe almost six months away from bringing the issue to a head.

In agreeing to call a meeting of the nine-member executive board of the International Olympic Committee, President Brundage has given some ground on his original position that no further meetings would be held on the readmission of South Africa to the Mexican Games.

The readmission, approved by a mail vote of the 72-member IOC, touched off a wave of angry blasts and resulted in an announced boycott of the Games by 32 black African nations and, so far, seven other countries.

Latest country to join the boycott was Pakistan, which announced its decision Saturday. The other protesting nations, besides the black Africans, are India, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Malaysia, Syria and Cuba.

Russia has not made any decision on a boycott but has voiced strong protest against the re-entry of South Africa.

In fact, the leading Russian sports newspaper, Sovietsky Sport, while not openly threatening that the powerful athletic country would join the boycott, did imply Saturday that it might withdraw if the IOC does not repeal its decision.

Although South Africa has pledged itself to an integrated team for the Olympics, the protesting nations object to that country's participation in the Games because of its policy of racial segregation. South Africa was barred from the Games by IOC vote in 1963 and missed the 1964 Games in Tokyo.

After meeting with worried Mexican Olympic officials in Chicago Thursday and Friday, Brundage agreed to call a meeting of the IOC executive board but said it would take from 30 to 60 days to set up such a meeting.

The purpose of that session would be to decide whether to convene a special meeting of the entire IOC membership. That decision would be the next step.

Then, if the board calls such meeting, the IOC members would first have to decide whether to take another vote on South Africa's participation.

If the IOC would turn down another vote on the question, the matter would end there. Of course, the Olympics might, too, although the fiery, 80-year-old Brundage insists the Games will go on no matter what.

Meanwhile, a Negro part-time sociology professor at San Jose State College said Brundage lobbied for South Africa's readmission to the Games.

Harry Edwards said his Olympic Boycott Committee investigated and found that "Brundage personally sought to solidify support behind the move to readmit South Africa even though basically there has been no change in white South Africa's demeanor toward 14 million black people."

Joe Frazier Shooting For Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Hard-hitting Joe Frazier will be shooting for a record first and a title, and Madison Square Garden figures to set a fistic financial record with its spectacular doubleheader championship card Monday night.

Although seven Olympic boxing champions have gone on to win professional titles, no Olympic heavyweight champion has ever won the crown in that division.

Frazier, the winner of the heavyweight division's gold medal at Tokyo in 1964, can accomplish the feat—or a part of it—by beating Buster Mathis, the giant from Grand Rapids, Mich., for New York and Massachusetts recognition as world champion.

In the first half of the twin bill, and overshadowed by the young heavies, middleweight champion Emile Griffith of New York will risk his crown against Italy's Nino Benvenuti.

Griffith, loser and then winner in title fights with the handsome Italian, is rated a 7-5 favorite for the 15-rounder, scheduled for 9:30 p.m., EST.

Frazier, 24, of Philadelphia is a 2-1 favorite over the 6-foot-3, 245-pounder in a 15-round battle of unbeatens. Frazier, 5-foot-11½ and 205 pounds, has a 19-0 record, including 17 knockouts.

Finals See Howardsville, Bradleyville Winners

It was the 62nd straight victory for the defending Class S champions, and was Glasgow's first loss in 34 games.

Howardville overpowered Lathrop 65-43 behind the rebounding and scoring of Reuben Marsh and Lewis Little. The two Hawks, both 6-6, accounted for 27 points and 31 rebounds.

Love Is Not a Weapon To Whip Husband into Line

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Women columnists are always telling wives that they should make their husbands happy. But they never tell husbands that they should make their wives happy. My husband is making me very unhappy by a habit he has acquired which makes me so tense I've developed facial tics. He says he loves me but he will not break it. Don't you think that a husband who says he loves you should make you happy instead of making you miserable?

ANSWER: No, I'm afraid I don't.

I think that neither wives nor husbands are responsible for the other's happiness. Happiness, in my view, is our own responsibility. As to this "love" you speak of, it is not a gun but a delight in another person's existence. Thus, a husband's love is not a holdup weapon which entitles us to demand that he hand over all control of his actions to us as holdup men demand our purses. It is not a gift of membership in the American Rifle Association which permits us to level the cool bead on him to force him to deliver desirable behavior to us by gunpower we too often confuse with love.

Your facial tic (and the tension you feel over this "habit" of your husband's) is fury, friend—fury at your helplessness to direct his actions for him. And if you won't know this, that unacknowledged fury will begin to persecute you, not merely with facial tics but with anything from colitis to a nervous breakdown. Because these are the afflictions we ask for when we insist on the impossible—the direction of another person's conduct which he intends to direct himself.

The great Russian novelist, Leo Tolstoy, wrote a story about a woman who tried to do what you're trying to do. Like you, she objected to a habit of her husband's—his habit of cracking his knuckles. And she got so wild at her helplessness to make him break it that she ran away with another man. But in no time at all, she got wild at him, too, because he, like her husband, wouldn't let her tell him what to do. She was very beautiful but also very stupid. For instead of using this second experience of helplessness to know when she was licked. she killed herself. She thus arranged to forever torture the man she "loved" with self-reproach for his refusal to allow her to control him.

You might get this novel and read it. Its title is "Anna Karenina."

BUTLER STOR-N-FEED®

Systems for Forage and Grain

If all you get is "the blues" from shopping for a low moisture silage system, take a look at the big, white Butler Stor-N-Feed®

Here's up to 1128 tons of "oxygen-free" storage for corn silage, or 620 tons for low moisture silage—plus Butler's exclusive, maintenance-free breathing system. No breather bags to replace, no relief valves to let air in.

Efficient top unloader is easily serviced. Delivers more silage, faster, than bottom unloaders . . . and with only five horsepower. Bright, white finish reflects heat—minimizes gas expansion.

Price for the Butler Stor-N-Feed® system? You'll be amazed. Thousands of dollars less than some systems. There's an equally efficient and economical system for high moisture grain, too. And Butler offers low-cost deferred payment terms and lease plans.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR DR. JAMES L. GODDARD,

Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration

How often does the FDA make a check of food packages? Are many companies guilty of misbranding their products?—Mrs. R. L. Hornbuckle, Tyler, Texas

● We regularly inspect processing plants in interstate commerce for sanitation, wholesomeness of raw materials, etc. On those occasions, we check packages and labeling as well. From time to time we make studies of foods collected at retail sales points, checking for safety and labeling. Very few legal actions charging misbranding need to be instituted.

FOR ROONE ARLEDGE,

President, ABC TV Sports

How much did your network pay for the tv rights to the 1968 Winter Olympics?—D. N., Niagara Falls, N. Y.

● We paid $2 million and spent nearly $4 million in production and satellite transmission costs.

FOR MERCEDES BATES, Director, Betty Crocker Kitchens

Is Betty Crocker a real person? If not, how did you acquire the name as a symbol for your products?—Mrs. Letha Cremer, Jefferson City, Mo.

● In 1921 the Washburn Crosby Co., a forerunner of General Mills, developed the idea of a woman food authority to represent the company. For her signature, they chose the surname "Crocker" in honor of a recently retired director, William G. Crocker. The name, "Betty," just sounded right.

FOR U.S. REP. BOB MATHIAS

Which was more gratifying—winning the decathlon in the Olympics or winning a seat in Congress?—Eva F. Hurst, Bakersfield, Calif.

● Both were challenging and gratifying experiences but each in a different way. I will always look back fondly at my decathlon victories in the 1948 and 1952 Olympics. Each of us in Congress faces the challenge of dealing with the problems of individual constituents, the U.S., and, indeed, the whole world. It is satisfying to help solve them.

FOR PEE WEE REESE,

NBC Sportcaster

Is your real name Pee Wee? If not, what is it? —Carolyn Thomas, Myrtle Creek, Ore.

● Actually, my name is Harold. When I was in grade school, I was pretty good at marble shooting and once reached the state finals. In those days we used to call certain marbles "pee wees"—so my friends started calling me Pee Wee, and it stuck.

FOR PATTI PAGE

I recently read that your record sales have topped the 60-million mark. Of all your successes, which is your favorite? Did you ever turn down a song that became a hit?—D. R., Lancaster, Pa.

● Although "Tennessee Waltz" should be my favorite, as it sold six million records, my favorite is "Old Cape Cod." My biggest goof was "Moon River," which was written for me before it was included in "Breakfast at Tiffany's." My manager convinced me it would never sell in a "Top 40" market. I believed him. I'm still kicking myself and my manager.

FOR SEN. EVERETT DIRKSEN

Do you believe there should be a limit on spending in a political campaign?—Mrs. Kent Caldwell, Dix, Ill.

● There are many types of political campaigns at all levels, and I assume that every state does place a limitation on the amount that can be spent.

On the Daniel Boone show you act like a born woodsman. Are you, or is it a put-on?—Mrs. Ella Jean Hill, Ono, Cal.

● I'm glad I seem like a "born woodsman." I'm a born farm boy who was brought up on a ranch—for real.

FOR NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Why did you write "The Power of Positive Thinking"?—Mrs. Jean Bertola, Rochester, N. Y.

● I wrote "The Power of Positive Thinking" because I discovered that positive thinking could cure me of an inferiority complex, which I had been plagued with since childhood.

Fashion Poll The world's most talked-about and imitated woman, Jacqueline Kennedy, made the mini-skirt by being photographed in one. She's now doing the same for the midi or mid-calf style. Here's what the fashion world thinks of its leading citizen: St. Laurent: ". . . a very personal chic." Mary Quant: "She's smashing." Luba: "She needs a haircut." Don Simonelli: "A living star." Coco Chanel: "She dresses like her daughter. Is she trying to be a little girl?" Donald Brooks: "I am happy to note she isn't seen as much in public any more. It must mean there's something more interesting in her private life."

Explaining his new, more relaxed manner, Les says, "I found out that we're all hooked up together. We're all brothers, so there's nothing to be nervous about." To keep his calm, Les reads Oriental books, confers with swamis and gurus, and, he says, "I meditate and chant."

Fatal Mistake Patients frequently put off having an examination for fear the doctor will find cancer, reports Dr. Henry T. Lynch of the University of Texas. Others are mistakenly convinced that, "If I get cancer, it makes no difference. Everyone with cancer dies." They are wrong. So were some 95,000 people who might have been saved if they had sought care in time. They were stopped by fear and fatalism and died last year.

Eye on Children Watch your young children for these signs of possible eye defects, urges a Virginia Department of Health bulletin: blinking more than usual; rubbing eyes as though to wipe away blur; squinting at distant objects; red, swollen, or encrusted eyelids; recurring sties; inflamed or watery eyes; stumbling over small objects. Any one of these means a child should have an eye examination without delay. The earlier you spot eye troubles, the better.

Irish Bricksavers Notre Dame's basketball team played its last game in the university's old fieldhouse last night, and within days wreckers will be demolishing the building. Coach Johnny Dee will salvage 200 bricks, clean them, and have them monogrammed as mementoes for former Irish cagers. What will the old players do with monogrammed bricks? "I don't care," says Dee, "just as long as they don't throw them at me when we lose."

45 YEARS OF MEDICAL PRACTICE...AND 10,000 OVERWEIGHT PATIENTS PROVE YOU CAN Get That Weight Off Quickly!

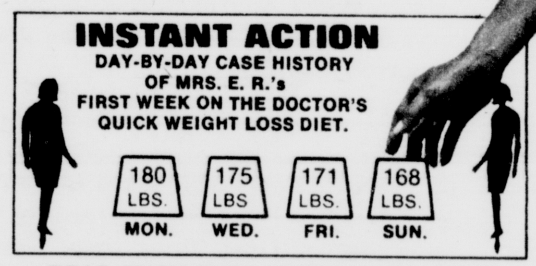
You can lose 5, 10, 15 or more pounds the first week! Dr. Irwin Stillman's Quick Weight Loss Diet debunks the myth that the only way to lose weight is to lose it gradually. He proves with facts not theory that rapid weight loss is the most effective reducing method.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you can see the weight on the scale drop rapidly, and the fat melt away. Dr. Stillman's records show that... patients averaged a loss of 6 to 7 pounds in the first 3 days on the Quick Weight Loss Diet.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you can get rid of the pounds suddenly gained from too much "good living." Sudden slimming is yours with the Quick Weight Loss Diet.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you will be delighted and impressed by your decided drop in weight. If you have failed with other diets, the big loss of weight the first week from the Quick Weight Loss Diet will give you the confidence you need to continue.



DR. IRWIN STILLMAN developed the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET in the course of his 45 years of medical practice. The diet has been tested and proved by over 10,000 patients. It works!

His first rule is: GET THAT WEIGHT OFF QUICKLY!

The diet helps you do that by burning up 275 extra calories of body fat a day! And that is a secret of its success. This diet requires no will power after the first week. As soon as you see that you've lost 5, 10, or even 15 pounds in just your first week, you'll have all the encouragement you need right from your scale.

EAT AS MUCH AS YOU WANT

The amazing thing about the Quick Weight Loss Diet is that you get all the nutrition you need...you do not count calories...and you eat as much as you want! Actually, by sticking to permitted foods, you put a "brake" on your appetite so that—without bothering to count calories—you eat far less than usual.

But should you suddenly feel the urge for a midnight snack, go ahead. You don't have to put up with hunger pangs. Nor do you have to feel guilty if you eat "a little bit extra." With permitted foods, you may eat as much as you want (but don't stuff yourself).

NOT JUST ONE DIET...BUT 60!

In addition to the basic QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET, there are 60 different quick-reducing diets that cover an array of emotional and medical needs. For example, there's an Anti-Acne Diet, Anti-Allergy Diet, 6-Meal-a-Day Nibbler Diet, Bread-Cheese-Wine Diet, High Fat/High Protein Diet, etc. And every one is a quick-reducing diet that slims you down in a hurry.

If you're the type who must have variety, you can switch from one Diversion Diet to another...lose weight...and never eat a boring meal!

HELPS PEOPLE WHO COULDN'T REDUCE BEFORE

Hundreds of Dr. Stillman's patients were "veteran dieters"—people who have tried to lose many times before, and failed. Here are a few case histories:

MRS. F. G.– Five years ago she weighed 194 and was only 5'1". She had tried to reduce 14 times before without success, losing a few pounds at first, then gaining them back. With the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET, she lost over 10 pounds the first week, was so encouraged she continued eagerly. In a year she got to her desired weight of 105 and has maintained it ever since.

MRS. E. F.– At 5'2" she weighed 155 instead of her ideal of under 110. She vowed to reduce after overhearing people call her "butterball." In just two months she was down to an attractive 115. Letting up too quickly, she gained nine pounds in a month, went back to the diet, dropped back to 115 in two weeks, then to 110. If her weight goes up again, she knows that a few days on the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET will bring it down again.

MR. D. E.– He was 5'11", weighed 243 pounds and said he felt like an old man. He was only 32. His blood pressure was a dangerous 210/135. In 14 weeks he went down to 183 and his blood pressure dropped to a safer 150/100. He says he feels like a "new man." After holding this interim weight for a while he will lose about 20 pounds more, then stabilize at his ideal weight of 165.

WHY THE DOCTOR'S QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET WORKS

You, too, can lose weight fast. No matter how many times you've tried other diets and failed, this program will work. Everything you need to know is in the book, THE DOCTOR'S QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET. Read it and you will learn:

- How to figure your ideal weight.
- What foods will start you losing at the amazing rate of 5, 10 or even 15 pounds a week.
- Dozens of hearty meat, fish, egg and cheese dishes which you may eat to your heart's content.
- Why this program works where gradual loss programs fail.
- Why calories count, but you don't have to count them.
- How to hold your ideal weight after reaching it.
- Gourmet foods that help you stay slim.
- Facts to help "scare" the fat off you.
- How to help children, teenagers and the elderly to lose weight, fast.
- Why overweight people must DIET OR DIE YOUNGER!

READ IT ON THIS "MUST-SLIM" BASIS

Send for the book...read it...put the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET to work for you. If you aren't 100% satisfied with your weight loss—and satisfied that the loss is permanent—return the book and get your money back. Give it a 10-day trial.

Mail the coupon today. You have everything to gain—better health, greater vitality, a slim, young-looking figure. And nothing to lose but fat!

HAILED BY REVIEWERS

For example, the medical reviewer for King Features Syndicate, himself a physician, writes:

"This is a no-nonsense approach to losing weight: it cannot help but work if you follow the [author's] directions...this book is probably the best medicine as well as the best friend a fat person could ever have...It also offers encouragement along with exercises. These two factors are as important as diet; the three together, written in such a pleasant style, set this particular book apart from being just another diet plan."

"This diet saved my life"

The author, Dr. Irwin Maxwell Stillman, was a "fatty" once himself when he suffered a severe heart attack. Realizing that his life depended on losing 50 pounds fast, he used the Quick Weight Loss Diet to do it. His reducing method saved his own life and has kept him slim and vigorous ever since.

Dr. Stillman is a Diplomate in Internal Medicine, has been Clinical Instructor in Medicine at LONG ISLAND COLLEGE HOSPITAL, and is a Fellow in both the American Geriatric College and the American College of Angiology.

World-famous authority Dr. Mary Calderone gives incisive answers to Parents' Questions About Sex

Dr. Mary Steichen Calderone

is the executive director of the Sex Information and Education Council of the U. S. (SIECUS). A voluntary health agency, its purpose is "to establish man's sexuality as a health entity." A former school physician, she is the daughter of the famed photographer Edward Steichen and the wife of Dr. Frank Calderone, who served with the World Health Organization. They have three daughters and two teen-age grandsons. Dr. Calderone's writings on family planning and sex education have appeared in professional journals and popular magazines, and her work in these fields has won her many awards and honorary degrees.

We didn't have sex education when I was a youngster, and we got along all right. Why do children need it now?

Our children are not living in the same world that we lived in. Students of our culture say that never before has a world existed where sex is so openly flaunted, not only in the behavior of adults but all over—on billboards, in advertising, tv, and movies, even in the "nice" magazines.

Our children are getting it smeared in their faces from the time they can see and hear. This is the first generation to grow up with tv, and the fact is that by the time a child is 18 he has spent more time in front of the tv set than he has in school. And anyone who takes a look at tv knows the sexual themes that prevail. So this is why we must have a sex education that has a positive approach and not the negative or distorted one they get from tv.

In an earlier age, say in the first 20 years of this century when I was growing up, the world was so small that outside influences did not come into the home, except through newspapers and highly selected magazines. Parents lived their sex education before their children, and the peaceful, happy relationship of a well-matched husband and wife was good sex education. The simple facts of reproduction—which are not sex education really—could be acquired later in good time. True, there were mistakes and errors, but parents did not then need the knowledge and the equipment they must have now if they are going to do a good job of preparing their children to live sexually in today's sexual world.

Sex education really begins at birth. Children come into the kindergarten with a lot of it already, mostly negative and distorted. Ideally, a school sex-education program in the broad sense—not just sex education about the reproductive act—should begin in kindergarten and should be integrated all the way through school at a pace that will be appropriate to the development of the children.

Will this stimulate their curiosity too early?

Believe me, you don't have to stimulate a child's curiosity! It's there, and it's there legitimately. People shouldn't be afraid of children's curiosity. It is a normal thing.

Obviously we don't want to encourage experimentation that's going to be damaging, but we have to recognize that a child explores his body. Frankly, I'll settle for a little experimentation provided it's experimentation in knowledge rather than in very dangerous ignorance.

When the child enters his teens, will he want to go out and test his new knowledge?

He's already doing that. What parents often don't understand is that it is dangerous to leave children stimulated as they are now and then not give them the knowledge, values, and moralities that will help them to learn how to manage their perfectly normal sexual needs.

Will sex education conflict with what I believe in?

It may. The child may learn something that it would benefit the parents to learn. This is why—in those communities where the most successful programs in sex education are operating—parents often request the school to give them evening courses so that they will learn the same things their children do. This allows the parents and children to communicate.

Now as to values and moralities, let me say this: nobody advocates sex education more than the churches. And nowhere have I seen any church—Roman Catholic especially—other than enthusiastic about this new approach to understanding human sexuality and people's sexual behavior.

Won't it be embarrassing for boys and girls to discuss these things together?

No, quite to the contrary. In grades 7 to 9, it may happen that there will be a time when the boys and girls would like to have several sessions apart. But by and large, the boys and girls learn more from one another in their reactions to new knowledge and new thoughts.

Will birth control be taught?

We don't teach birth-control techniques. I must confess that I have to warn communities not to teach anything about birth control that the children haven't already learned from the mass media. We recommend that the community get together to discuss all aspects of sex education. Don't worry: the educators will be very sensitive to the needs and desires of the community. If the community really doesn't want to have birth control discussed, it won't be. It is important, however, for girls to understand the dangers in the Pill that require its prescription by a good physician, so they won't buy bootleg pills, which can be really dangerous.

What should be taught in sex-education programs?

Sex education is not just explaining how babies are born or studying human anatomy, although that's part of it. Where appropriate, the children will acquire the physiology of reproduction. But they will spend far more time in discussing the art of relating to other people in responsible ways not only in sex but in parent-child relationships, marriage relationships, friendships, dating. Also, what it is to be a man and what it is to be a woman. This is sex education. We're not going to be talking about sex techniques.

Will the visual aids embarrass my daughter?

Not a bit—not as long as the teacher is comfortable and indicates that comfort is the way to approach these things. We're not embarrassed when we look at visual aids of the digestive system. We ought to understand these things and take them as calmly and objectively as any other parts of our lives.

If there is no sex education at my school, what should I do at home?

Hopefully, parents would begin to talk with their children early about the beauties of marriage, family life, and reproduction. There's a lovely little series of slides called "How Babies Are Made," just for parents to share with their children. There are a number of good books on the subject. The whole wonderful story of families and marriage should be shared early.

Education in the Classroom

By CLAIRE SAFRAN

Do we bring up sex or wait for our child to ask questions?

In the ideal situation, the child will feel free to ask questions. Parents should have indicated that sex is not a subject that is off limits but a worthy subject to discuss in the home. But if the parents have been tongue-tied up to now, they shouldn't leave it until the child is 10 or 12. Then it's too late, and they will not be able to establish communication.

How can we go about getting sex education in our school?

This has been a great concern of the PTAs for three years now. They have begun discussions in many communities, but they can't do it alone. They can't try to force unwilling school superintendents or principals to do something about it. It requires six months, maybe a year of discussions within the community, among all groups—the church, professional leaders, social workers, youth-organization workers, as well as teachers.

So much depends on the teacher; what makes her qualified?

Not academic courses necessarily, but the kind of person the teacher is. There's nothing so abstruse about human sexual behavior that any teacher could not teach it. But the teacher must relate honestly to young people and be a person whom young people trust. There are many workshops being set up now for training and orientation of teachers, whoever they might be. There are summer courses in the universities, and many opportunities are opening up for the training of these teachers.

How can I judge if our sex-education courses are good?

I'm afraid that parents cannot exercise judgments as to quality in terms of content because most parents are not qualified. Even many doctors are not qualified, except to judge the accuracy of the biology and physiological content. But the emotional and behavioral content requires a different kind of judgment.

One excellent way to judge, however, is through the reaction of the young people. If they are enthusiastic, if they talk—with parents especially—without the feeling that this is something to be ashamed of, then the program is good.

What about students who said recently that their sex-education program was "silly"?

Maybe they were right. I suspect that some of the courses given under the name of "sex education" today are silly. But I have never failed to see young people become deeply involved in sex education that was specifically geared to their needs at their stage of development, provided the teaching was given honestly.

What about the more controversial areas of sex education—such as abortion?

There are differences of opinion, and we live with these differences. The American Medical Association feels that abortion is a medical problem and should be handled by doctors. Now that's a fact. But do we want to hide this from our young people? Do we want to hide from them the fact that abortion in any form, even under medical circumstances, is not accepted as moral by a large segment of the population? To me, there is no controversial subject in sex. Anything that exists is here, and, therefore, we must explore it, understand it, and learn as much as we can about it.

Will venereal diseases be discussed in class?

No. Venereal diseases happen to be infectious diseases that are transmitted through sexual contact, but I don't think they are a part of sex education. It is, however, a most essential part of communicable-disease education.

In brief, we no longer have a choice as to whether or not we will teach sex education. It's being done, and we have to recognize it. Our only choice is what kind of sex education is best for our children. ◆

Sex education today is partly biology–but it also stresses human relationships.

2. Reserve some spinach leaves for lining the bowl. Tear spinach and lettuce into pieces and put into a large salad bowl with the onion slices, green beans, and cheese. Line edge of bowl with reserved spinach. Top with remaining vegetables and tuna (see photo).

8 servings

Tuna Salad Granada

- ½ cup strong beef broth (dissolve 1 beef bouillon cube in ½ cup boiling water)
- ½ cup cider vinegar
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained and separated into pieces
- 1 cup diced cooked potato
- Crisp lettuce
- ½ cup thinly sliced green pepper
- ¼ cup thinly sliced sweet red pepper
- ⅓ cup pimiento-stuffed olive slices
- 2 medium-sized tomatoes, quartered
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, cut lengthwise into halves

1. Mix first eight ingredients in a saucepan; heat to boiling. Cool.

2. Combine tuna, potato, and vinegar mixture; mix lightly. Cover and refrigerate about 2 hrs., tossing occasionally.

3. When ready to serve, drain tuna mixture. Arrange lettuce on a chilled serving plate. Mound tuna and potato in center; top with the pepper strips and the olive slices. Arrange tomatoes and hard-cooked egg halves alternately around the plate. Drizzle remaining marinade over vegetables, if desired.

8 servings

Skillet Tuna Supreme

- 2 tablespoons cooking or salad oil
- ⅔ cup chopped onion
- 1 green pepper, cut in slivers
- 1 can (10½ oz.) condensed tomato soup (undiluted)
- 2 teaspoons soy sauce
- 2 to 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained

1. Cook onion and green pepper until almost tender in hot oil in a large, heavy skillet; stir occasionally. Mix in the tomato soup and next four ingredients. Bring to boiling; simmer 5 minutes.

2. Mix in the tuna, separating it into small pieces. Heat thoroughly.

3. To serve, spoon over chow mein noodles. Accompany with bowl of lemon wedges, ripe olives, and salted mixed nuts.

Super Tuna Ring

- 8 oz. (1 pkg.) cream cheese
- 1 can (10½ oz.) condensed tomato soup (undiluted)
- 1 cup cold water
- 2 tablespoons (2 env.) unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon marjoram, crushed
- 4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1½ cups chopped celery
- ¼ cup chopped green onion
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained and flaked

1. Melt the cream cheese in the top of a double boiler over boiling water, stirring occasionally. Blend in the tomato soup until smooth. Remove from heat.

2. Soften gelatin in water in a small saucepan. Set over low heat and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Blend into cheese-tomato mixture. Stir in mayonnaise and next four ingredients until blended. Cover and chill until it becomes slightly thicker; stir occasionally.

3. Fold the celery, onion, and tuna into chilled gelatin mixture until well blended. Turn into a 1½-qt. ring mold. Chill until firm, at least 8 hrs. or overnight.

4. Unmold onto a chilled serving plate. Fill center and garnish edge with watercress.

Now, a world-famous physician, who treats some of America's leading celebrities, says forget about drugs and realize that

FOOD IS YOUR BEST MEDICINE

This is possibly the most controversial medical book for the general public ever written. We believe it may also be the most beneficial.

For in it, a leading physician (who cured himself of dangerous illnesses with food alone) asks you to:

1) stop taking dangerous drugs . . .

2) switch today to an enjoyable NEW way of eating that makes you glow-all-over with great energy—glorious vitality and above all, ROBUST HEALTH . . . even if you've spent the last forty years feeling "rotten"!

Look At The Photo Of Young-Looking Dr. Bieler Again. Then Realize That He Has Been A Hard-Working Physician For More Than 50 Years!

Dr. Bieler's message to you is quite simple: He wants you to know that, as a practising physician for the past fifty years, he has seen just about every illness and weakness that the human body can suffer. And he believes that the vast majority of ALL infirmities DO NOT HAVE TO EXIST AT ALL!

Let him tell you about this thrilling discovery, right now, in his own words:

". . . I have reached three basic conclusions as to the cause and cure of disease. This book is about those conclusions.

"The first is that the primary cause of disease is not germs. Rather, I believe disease is caused by a toxemia which results in cellular impairment and breakdown, thus paving the way for the multiplication and onslaught of germs.

"My second conclusion is that in almost all cases the use of drugs in treating patients is harmful. Drugs often cause serious side effects, and sometimes even create new diseases. The dubious benefits they afford the patient are at best temporary. Yet the number of drugs on the market increases geometrically every year as each chemical firm develops its own variation of the compounds. The physician is indeed rare who can be completely aware of the potential danger from the side effects of all these drugs.

"My third conclusion is that disease can be cured through the proper use of correct foods. This statement may sound deceptively simple, but I have arrived at it only after intensive study of a highly complex subject: colloid and endocrine chemistry.

"My conclusions are based on experimental and observational results, gathered through years of successfully treating patients. Occasionally I have resorted to the use of drugs in emergency situations, but those times have been rare. Instead, I have sought to prescribe for my patients' illnesses, antidotes which Nature has placed at their disposal.

"This book deals with what I consider to be the best food and the best medicine."

"If I'd always taken his advice, I'd never have had a sick day . . ."

Greta Garbo said:
"Having known Dr. Bieler for some years, I am sure . . . FOOD IS YOUR BEST MEDICINE . . ."

Mrs. Frank Lloyd said:
"I consider Dr. Bieler is as great as any living doctor . . . because of the many lives I have observed him prolonging after other medical prognosis was nil . . ."

Now See How This Method Has Worked —In Hundreds Of Case Histories From Every Walk Of Life, And With Almost Every Ailment You Can Imagine!

Once gain, Dr. Bieler's entire life has been devoted to the deep belief that you can often get rid of most miserable illnesses—health-wreckers like arthritis, asthma, edema, ulcers—even some tumors, kidney and liver ailments, premature aging, loss of glandular function—all with the diet given you in this book of nothing more than certain easy-to-obtain foods that HELP THE BODY FLUSH AWAY HEALTH-CORRODING TOXINS!

For example—

The case of the 55-year-old woman who was weak and ill with swollen, painful, arthritic joints; high blood pressure; insomnia and overweight. Now this woman says, "There is not a single twinge of pain any more," and she is in great good health and at her proper weight. (Read the way she did it—with FOOD as her major medicine—beginning on page 19.)

The same priceless principle, and "FOOD medicine," healed a dangerous discharging ulcer that kept a man bedridden. Don't miss this story (page 200) and the key paragraphs that follow it.

The same simple nutrition methods cured a man who was too weak to sit up, with a body temperature of only 93°, a highly irregular heart and other symptoms of advanced, deadly hypoadrenia. After 11 days of Dr. Bieler's food treatment, he felt fine. In 32 days he was strong and capable. (page 211).

And above all, on page 17, read Dr. Bieler's own story! Remember, he proved his methods on himself when he was ridden with kidney trouble and asthma, and grossly over-weight. In fact, when you get your approval copy of FOOD IS YOUR BEST MEDICINE, we think you'll want to turn to page 17 first and read his own personal story of his discovery of the "health magic" that waits in proper nutrition.

SPECIAL NOTE:
How To Use This Book To Your Greatest Advantage —

When you receive your no-risk approval copy, check the COMPLETE INDEX. Within a minute you may find some ailment or debility or misery that is bothering you.

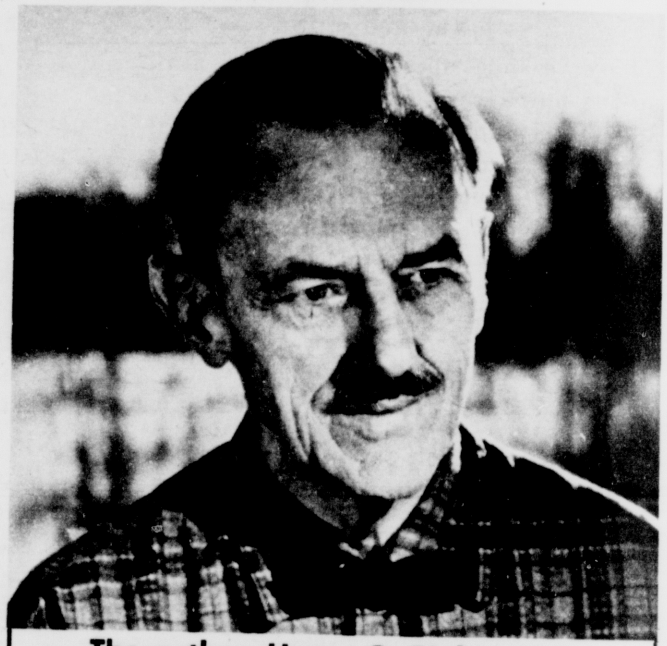
Flip to the page indicated and read—in five or ten more minutes—Dr. Bieler's way to treat that ailment. THOSE FIVE OR TEN MINUTES OF FASCINATING READING may be the greatest health break-through of your entire life.

Read It From Cover To Cover Entirely At Our Risk!

But Dr. Bieler wants you to prove to yourself, without risk, that good food—not drugs—is the best way to new life, new health, new vigor! Therefore, we allow you to read FOOD IS YOUR BEST MEDICINE for thirty full days—entirely at our risk. If at the end of that time, you are not convinced that Dr. Bieler's road to health is the RIGHT WAY, simply return the book for every cent of your purchase price back!

But, if you have thrilled (as we have) to this great break-through in health . . . and if you FEEL BETTER ALREADY because you have spent a few days following Dr. Bieler's nutrition methods—then simply keep the book as a lifetime, life-extending guide for yourself and all your loved ones.

Again, you read it from cover to cover AT OUR RISK! Why not send in the No-Risk Coupon—TODAY!



The author: Henry G. Bieler, M.D.

"I BELIEVE THAT NATURE, IF GIVEN THE RIGHT OPPORTUNITY, IS ALWAYS THE GREATEST HEALER . . . I often have been in disagreement with doctors who stuff the sick, exhausted patient with powerful drugs, and then are forced to 'remedy the remedy.'

"Early in my career, when my own health broke down, I investigated the dangers of drugs and the chemistry of foods. I came to the conclusion that I must give up drugs. It was not long until, after repeated, verifiable results, I discarded nearly all drugs in treating my patients.

You can save a great deal of the money you now spend on pills and doctors' bills, and spend it on good food and fun."

After half a century of practice, Dr. Bieler attempted to retire but found the world beating a path to his door. He still is treating movie stars and miners, professional men and Pasadena dowagers, farmers and government officials. Many and many a person blesses this wise physician for health restored after it had been given up for lost . . . for making life full of joy and well worth living.

Dr. Bieler holds the Tilden-Weger-Bieler chair of Dietetic Medicine, sponsored by Columbia University.

Sailor, Singer, Star: The Many Lives of Tommy Steele

WHEN YOU first meet Tommy Steele, he appears charming, witty, and outgoing—much the same as the characters he played in Walt Disney's "The Happiest Millionaire" and in Paramount's "Half a Sixpence," too.

But Tommy Steele is more than just a happy star—he is a serious, emotional young man who has learned about life's rough side, too. Tommy's rise to stardom has been meteoric since his smash success a scant three years ago in the London and Broadway stage version of "Half a Sixpence."

Tommy quit school at the age of 15 and left England, signing on as a seaman aboard a New York-bound ship. "That year at sea taught me more about life than 10 years of schooling," Tommy says. "I learned that life can be beautiful and ugly, generous and petty. It's all up to you."

After a siege of spinal meningitis, which almost took his life, Tommy went back to sea a far more mature person. During his illness, he felt the strong pull of God. "I still don't believe in formal religion, but I do believe in God, who has certain laws which we must obey."

Signing on the cruise ship Star of Bermuda, Tommy made his first contact with the then new American craze, rock 'n' roll. "One night I heard a recording of 'Dedicated,' a song in memory of Hank Williams. I had learned to play the guitar when I was younger, so I bought one for myself," Tommy says.

Back in London after a two-year tour at sea, Tommy, then 18, was signed by a recording-company agent who heard him sing in Soho. Tommy proceeded to record a satire of American rock 'n' roll, but amazingly the British kids took it seriously, and he became Britain's first rock-'n'-roll idol. It nearly drove him to despair. "I felt like the performer who can't sing, can't dance, can't act—but can't quit because he is a star."

His new found fame brought movie offers, which he accepted. "I made six films in England, four of them rock 'n' rollers, and all of them bad," he says. "I desperately wanted to be a part of show business, but I knew that to be a part I would have to give up the rock-'n'-roll image. So I cancelled my recording contracts and left for Australia."

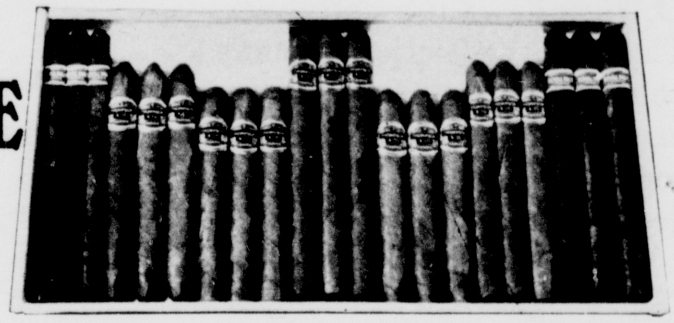
He spent four months there, four months he now refers to as his "wilderness period." Returning to England, he landed the juicy role of the humble draper's apprentice in "Half a Sixpence" and appeared in 1,500 performances of the play in London and New York.

Tommy and his wife of seven years, former actress Ann Donoughue, recently bought a home in Ocho Rios in Jamaica, where they plan to spend as much time as he can squeeze from his tight schedule. "Ann and I love the place," Tommy says. "That's where we found peace, tranquility, and friendship."

These are elements that don't seem to belong in the hectic life of Tommy Steele, but then nothing is too impossible for the young man who made the seemingly impossible transition from $6-a-week sailor to rock-'n'-roll singer to top-drawer movie star—all before he was 29.

—PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

Somewhere in the Free World, they're making cigars that Castro would have trouble telling from his own...and we can get them for you. Incredible? Try this 21-cigar sampler FREE and see for yourself!



YES, we can get you cigars just like the beauties you used to get B.C. (Before Castro). Technically I can't call them Havanas, though much of their tobacco was grown from seeds that came from Cuba and is now grown in Central America in specially selected fields where the soil, water and climate closely resemble Cuba's Pinar del Rio. These fields are tilled, fertilized and irrigated in the centuries-old Cuban manner, and the crop is protected by acres of cheesecloth canopy. The tobacco is then cured Cuban Style—slow and easy—all under the loving care of Cuban refugees who prefer to practice their native craft on foreign soil instead of living a foreign life on their native soil.

SMUGGLED THROUGH THE CASTRO CURTAIN
Actually, this Cuban seed had been smuggled through Castro's border guards at the peril of death. For several years, little has been known about this breakthrough. That's because it took three years for the first crop of Cuban-seed tobacco to cure. And, until now, the crops were too small to make a sizable number of cigars.

But now there is enough to provide an ample supply of superb cigars for discriminating smokers who appreciate the difference. AND THE THOMPSON BONUS BOX CLUB IS READY TO SEND THEM TO YOU AS OFTEN AS YOU NEED THEM.

Because all this must seem incredible to you, we have a special sampler box that you may try—and IT WON'T COST YOU A CENT! The sample will do two things:

1. It will prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that our cigars are as fine as any you've ever smoked.
2. It will enable you to choose the size and shape you like best when you subscribe to our service.

Just mail the coupon with a fully returnable good-will deposit of $4.00 and we will send you a box of 21 Fine Cigars—3 each of 7 different sizes in your choice of Natural (brown) or Candela (light green) wrappers. If you do not agree that our cigars are as wonderful as we claim, return the unsmoked cigars in your sampler, and your money will be refunded.

But if you are delighted, keep the sampler and your $4.00 deposit will be deducted from the first box you order through the Club.

All you'll have to tell us is which cigar style you want, and how often you want us to send you a box of 50 or 100. Your cost is only $6.00 to $11.00 per box, depending on size and shape. And you may switch your order around any time you want.

SPECIAL FREE GIFTS FOR MEMBERS

1. With your first regular Club shipment we will send you as an outright gift, the beautiful amber see-thru humidor pictured below. This humidor sells for $5.00 in stores. But you pay nothing. It is our way of saying "Welcome to the Bonus Box Cigar Club". 2. After buying 500 cigars, you get a box of 50 "on the house"...the equivalent of a 10% discount.

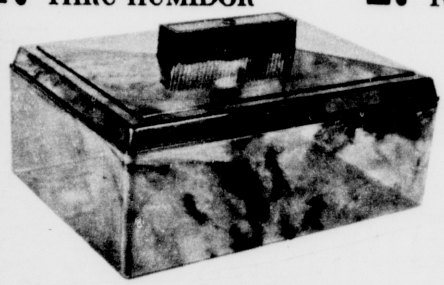
At this point, your trial membership is over. You can either cancel or become a regular member and enjoy the same fine smokes, low prices, factory-fresh deliveries, and more free bonus boxes on a continuing basis.

Right now there is a plentiful supply of tobacco grown in Central America in the Cuban manner. But should the response to this offer exceed our expectations, we may have to restrict membership. It would be wise, therefore, to send your application promptly. There is absolutely no risk, since your good-will deposit is refunded no matter what you decide.

MORE FREE GIFTS FOR CIGAR MEN

A $4 free 21 Cigar sampler (above) introduces you to the pleasures of the Thompson Bonus Box Club. If you join, you get these 2 additional gifts as well:

1. $5.00-VALUE AMBER SEE-THRU HUMIDOR



2. BONUS BOX OF 50 WITH EVERY 500 CIGARS YOU SMOKE.

THOMPSON BONUS BOX CIGAR CLUB, Box 1839,
200 North Edison Ave., Dept. 105, Tampa, Florida 33601

Please enroll me as a Trial Member and send me a $4-value sampler of 21 cigars. I enclose a fully-refundable goodwill deposit of $4.

If I am not 100% delighted with the sampler, I shall return the unsmoked cigars in 30 days and you will cancel my membership and refund my deposit in full. Otherwise, I shall tell you which is my favorite shape and how often I would like you to send me a box of 50 or 100 cigars—and I will deduct $4 from the price of my first box. Prices will vary from $6 to $11 per 50, depending on shape.

With my first Club shipment, I will get ABSOLUTELY FREE the $5.00-value amber humidor pictured in your ad. After ordering 500 cigars, you will send me a Bonus Box of 50 FREE.

I may then resign from the Club. Or I may continue, and you will send me additional FREE BONUS BOXES every time my total reaches 500. I may switch cigars or frequency of shipment anytime I want. All orders carry a money-back guarantee.

The Funny Business of Running for President

He who laughs last may not get elected! That's why there's a gag writer behind every candidate

By CLAIRE KELLER

THIS YEAR'S elections may be the funniest ever. That's the prediction of many political experts who have peeked into the smoky back rooms of the leading Presidential candidates.

What they see in every headquarters is a shirt-sleeved gag writer huddled with the shadowy, long-familiar figure of the speech writer. Together they are honing the campaign's most potent weapon—the custom-made political joke.

"It's the age of specialization," explains Robert Orben, author of "The Joke Teller's Handbook" and one of the most busily employed political gag writers. "In the past, one of the regular speech writers hopefully could work a laugh or two into the candidate's speech. Today that's not good enough. Now there's a humor specialist whose job it is to create image-building jokes for the candidate and image-destroying ones for the opposition."

Here are some one-liners used by leading politicians:

Gov. Ronald Reagan gets up and says: "I wonder what the 10 Commandments would have looked like if Moses had run them through a state legislature." President Johnson quips: "We're going to ask the Vietnamese to send observers to our election this year." Richard Nixon warms up an audience with: "This is going to be a hot five-man race between five noncandidates." George Wallace tells college hecklers: "I want to recommend a new book—'How to Behave in Public.' " New York's Mayor John Lindsay says: "Whereas LaGuardia read funnies to the children, I read tragedies to adults."

The other kind of joke aims at destroying a rival's image. No candidate would use these nasty remarks in his own speech—but he doesn't mind if his aides make them up and circulate them. Here are a few:

"LBJ is an underachiever." "Bob Kennedy is really Bugs Bunny." "Remember Thomas Dewey? He's a Nixon who knew when to quit."

There are compelling reasons why politicians have turned to the professional humorists for "ad libs" at airport press conferences or for campaign literature. As political commentator Walter Cronkite says, "One of the qualities of leadership in the modern world is a sense of humor. In John Kennedy's case, it was an integral part of his inspiration, his establishment of a national mood—which is a problem today."

In the age of tv politics, there is another reason. As Dr. Henry Ostberg, who heads one of the country's largest research and image-making organizations, explains, "Something humorous has a better chance of being picked up for the 11 o'clock news."

A third reason is the knowledge of how cruelly devastating humor can be. As Walter Cronkite says: "There is nothing more harmful than being laughed at rather than laughed with. The joke can be about anything. Even that Nixon line (the one in the 1960 Presidential campaign which many felt influenced the election, "Would you buy a used car from this man?") was not 'dirty politics.' A candidate is fair game and has to be able to rise above the jokes they tell about him."

Some politicians, for example, can take a joke aimed at them and hurl it back with equal devastation. Barry Goldwater was the butt of many 1964 jokes about his slogan: "In your heart, you know he's right." As the Vietnam war progressed, Goldwater turned the slogan joke against LBJ: "In his heart, he knows I was right." And Nixon has adapted a self-deprecating attitude in jokes to enhance his image: "They call me a dropout from the Electoral College—flunked debating, you know."

Although a candidate needs humor, it can be a double-edged sword. "It can be overdone," warns Dr. Ostberg. "Take the case of Adlai Stevenson. His wit became an end in itself. He got so much satisfaction out of people's reactions to his humor that he sometimes forgot the objective of wit, which should be to get the point across." There is another danger. "No one joke appeals to everyone," warns Dr. Ostberg, "so humor can splinter your audience."

Here is how a noted tv commentator and political analyst rates some of the potential candidates on their use of this political weapon.

Ronald Reagan: "He overdoes it. On his recent swing through the country, he told too many jokes like, 'The hippies wear a button saying make love, not war. They don't look as though they could do either.' "

Eugene McCarthy: "He is solemn. He has wit, but he hasn't used it."

George Romney: "He is a cheerful man and doesn't need jokes."

Lyndon Johnson: "It's hard to say about him. One day he is Bert Lahr; the day after that, he's Woodrow Wilson. But he does have a hearty sense of humor."

George Wallace: "Too serious."

Nelson Rockefeller: "Right now he's playing it coy, but he knows how to make people laugh."

The more serious candidates remember Adlai Stevenson, who was humorous and lost, and Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was humorless and won. They can tell themselves quite rightly that it is not wise to try to be a political Bob Hope. "There's an inverse relationship between humor and the job you're running for," says Dr. Ostberg. "People will accept a jovial, joke-telling alderman—but not a President."

Still, the gag writers are busily at work. They know it is not the joke the candidate tells that matters so much. It is the jokes that are told about him—and his opponents—that can change an election.

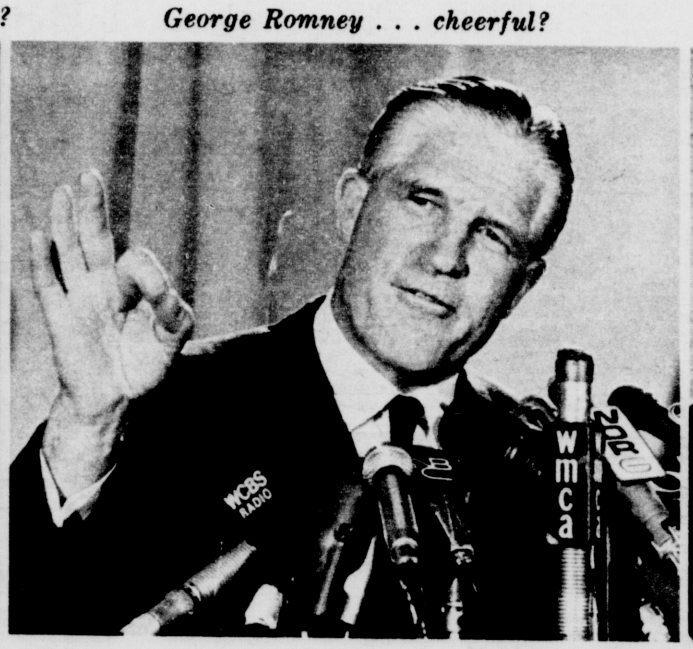
No candidate may have openly asked his writer for it, but surely each is hoping unconsciously that the humorist in the back room will come up with a line as devastating as the used-car one that helped deflate Nixon's hopes in 1960.

"If you stop to think about your own views of a political candidate," says Orben, "you may realize that it's not arrived at from newspaper stories and speeches. Instead, you may well be judging him by the jokes you've heard." ◆

Ronald Reagan . . . too funny?

Richard Nixon . . . self-deprecating?

George Romney . . . cheerful?



Nelson Rockefeller . . . coy?

Now, Instant Knits

533

Create a charming seed-stitch jacket or coat in 12 hours with five strands of knitting worsted used at a time.

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RITA PAUL

In an age when the word "instant," from soups to safaris, has become a byword, who would be surprised at being able to knit a dress or coat in six to 12 hours—instead of weeks or months?

How? With a pair of attractive outsize knitting needles such as "Jumbo Jets" pioneered by Reynolds Yarn.

Here's what makes the fast knits possible: you work with three to six strands of yarn at one time; the stitches, which come out large and loopy, are mainly stockinette or knit and purl—simple even for the novice knitter. The designs pictured here are made in two pieces, front and back, requiring seams only up the sides. Sleeves are knit all in one. No blocking or steaming is required.

To get your patterns and the jumbo knitting needles you need for these lovely knits, fill out the coupon below.

Havens to Fit Your Retirement Funds

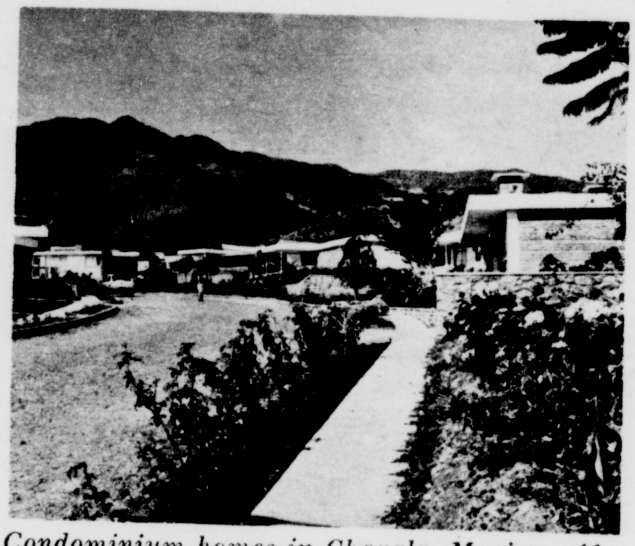
Sunny skies and inexpensive living are luring retirees to Mexico, Guatemala, and island paradises By JULIE SMITH

A RETIRED engineer who had left Chicago to settle in Puerto Vallarta was asked why he picked Mexico to live.

"Simple," he replied. "Puerto Vallarta has the greatest climate of all the places I've been. But Mexico has even more appeal: the low cost of living. My savings and pension checks stretch like rubber here. I rent a villa for $60 a month, and we have a live-in maid for $25. Food is plentiful and cheap."

An estimated 75,000 retired citizens of the U.S. now have taken up residence in Mexico. They range from the affluent who haunt the sands at Acapulco to the adventurous who rough it in the jungles of Yucatan. The majority, however, are Americans of modest means who shun the big cities and sleek resorts. Instead, they seek out the mountain villages and fishing towns, where living is easy, and the family food bill can be measured in pennies per day.

Typical is the American colony which has grown up around Lake Chapala, 30 miles south of Guadalajara. Here, most Americans have the official status of "immigrant retired," granted by the Mexican government to those of 55 and over who have incomes of at least $240 a month per man (and $80 for his wife and every child of 15 and over). These retirees can bring household effects and car into Mexico duty-free.



Condominium homes in Chapala, Mexico, offer U.S. retirees luxury living for as little as $8,000.

A retired schoolteacher from Hartford, Conn., built a home on the shores of Lake Chapala seven years ago at a cost of $14,000. Skilled artisans, working for $15 a week, completed the job in 11 months. The result is a show place.

While Mexico leads the way, there are other places in Central America where the retired American has found a home. Most popular are the shores of Lake Atitlan and the old capital of Antigua in Guatemala. The cost of living there is even less than in Mexico, and the income tax on invested capital is low.

Anyone who seeks to live in a totally tax-free society can try such Caribbean islands as Nassau, the Bahamas, and the Caymans. Taxes in many of the other scenic islands are small, and there are incentives galore for investments. If you choose to build a guest house in Grenada or St. Vincent, for example, the government lets you operate free of income tax for five years.

Puerto Rico lures retirees in the Caribbean just as Mexico lures them south of the border. A condominium apartment in San Juan is a bargain, but the best buys in real estate are out on the island. Purchase prices for American-type housing with gleaming kitchens and a view of the sea begin as low as $8,000.

Americans who seek something still cheaper than Mexico or the Caribbean might make their way to the Canary Islands, off the northwest coast of Africa. Spotless boardinghouses in Las Palmas and Santa Cruz accommodate guests at $5 a day with all meals. Away from the towns at places like La Orotava on Tenerife, Brenabaja on Las Palmas, and Arrecife on Lanzarote, room and board run as little as $3 a day. Beautifully furnished houses with large airy rooms and flower-filled patios rent for $50 a month.

Anyone who really wants to cut corners can always retire to the isles of Greece. A fisherman's cottage on Hydra, for example, rents for $35 a month. Better still, you can buy a cottage of your own for less than $500.

But remember, it's wise to live in a place before you buy or rent. Sample the social life, climate, and cost of living—preferably out of season, when prices are low and tourists are few. Check out details: Is the water pure? What about medical care? Is milk pasteurized? Do servants speak English? What is the duty on household effects? Will American appliances work on local current? How much red tape to acquire residency status? What about taxes?

Settling abroad often requires infinitely more patience and flexibility than settling in Miami Beach or Palm Springs. But people who have done it say that there's no better way to develop a new interest in life and get some real living out of your retirement funds. ◆

QUIPS AND QUOTES

Instant Facts of Life

Time was when Papa painfully
Told fables of the bird and bee
And hemmed and hawed and filled the void
With quotes from Darwin and from Freud.
But that was in the long ago,
When sons and fathers both were slow.
These days it's simpler; modern dads
Just let 'em read the movie ads.

Some secrets are not worth keeping, and the rest are far too good to keep. —Jack Herbert

A tourist in the Haight-Ashbury section of San Francisco noticed a hippie lazing in the doorway of an aging building. "Young man," he remonstrated, "why don't you get yourself a job?"

"Well, you could earn some money that way."

"Why, man?" the lazing hippie asked again.

"If you worked hard and earned money, pretty soon you'd have a bank account. Now, wouldn't you like that?"

"Why?"

"For goodness sake!" the exasperated tourist shouted. "With a hefty bank account, you could retire, and then you wouldn't have to work any more."

"Crazy, man," the hippie said. "But I'm not working now."

A psychologist believes a man shouldn't keep too much to himself. And so, too, does Uncle Sam's tax collector. —Dorothea Kent

The artist kissed his model passionately, then told her, "You're the first model I've ever kissed."

"Really?" she asked. "How many models have you painted before I came along?"

"Six," he told her. "A tree, an apple, an orange, and three vases filled with flowers." —Flora Rand

Y'KNOW SOMETHING, EEK?

THE GOVERNMENT OUGHT TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT!

MONEY ISN'T EVERYTHING, Y'KNOW?

INSTEAD OF A 'SOCIAL' WELFARE PROGRAM WE COULD HAVE AN 'EMOTIONAL' WELFARE PROGRAM!

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY---When ink refuses to feed down into a pen, soak the point of the pen in vinegar and it will soon write like a new one.---A. A. H.

DEAR POLLY—Want to keep from having a stiff neck and back after cleaning the oven? The top is the hardest part so I hold a small mirror in the oven so I can see the top without craning my neck while I clean.—JULIA

DEAR POLLY---When I defrost the refrigerator I put a thick newspaper in the freezer. It absorbs a great deal of the water and saves emptying the drip pan so often.---MONA

DEAR POLLY—I find it is easier to wash a dust mop cover than to wash a mop. To make one, seam together the two long sides and one short side of two of the smallest size terry towels. Insert the mop in this and pin the top together with two safety pins.—LELIA

Polly pays a dollar for every idea used. Send them to her, care of this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY—When draining canned fruits and vegetables instead of using a mesh strainer which might leave a metallic taste or discoloration I find a piece of nylon net fastened on a bowl with clip clothespins makes an ideal strainer. The net washes and dries in a jiffy and I keep mine rolled inside an elastic band and stored in a convenient kitchen drawer to be ready for the next time.—BARBARA

DEAR POLLY---When wrapping a parcel, wet the string to be used and you will find that the string shrinks as it dries, holding the parcel securely tied. Your column is great.---JOCELYNE

DEAR POLLY—We have four small sons and it was a problem to know what to do with all those clip-on ties. I tacked some nylon net to the inside of a closet door and cut a small slit in it so the plastic clips on the ties fit into it. The slit is outlined with a marking pencil so it is easily seen. The ties do not flip out of these slits and the net can be matched to the color of the door so as not to be conspicuous.—WANDA

DEAR POLLY---When your daughter's shifts become too short they can be turned into pretty, inexpensive tops to go with shorts and slacks and with little trouble. Cut the shift off about four inches below the waistline and allow one inch for the hem. The bottom piece can be used to make a matching kerchief.---MRS. J. P.
